Crippled Moonship Heads For Earth

Mission Control Retains Its Cool

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Glynn Lunney ran fingers through close-cropped hair, adjusted the headset clamped to his head and flashed a smile down the console.

"All right, everybody," he said. "We've got a number of things to do."

His voice was smooth, calm. No bark. No steely edge. He could have been on an outing with a Cub Scout pack.

Apollo 13 In Trouble

But the lives of three American astronauts 202,000 miles from home and nearing the moon hung in the balance. Apollo 13 was in trouble, moon landing aborted, and the astronauts' lives threatened.

And it was up to Lunney and his Black team of flight controllers at Mission Control to make order of the chaos.

Behind Lunney, in executive row, sat some of the top brass of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, drawn there in the wee hours of the night by word that the Apollo flight was in trouble.

Problems Noted

The problems, crowding in, demanded attention. But they had to be taken one at a time, the most pressing first.

"We'll set up the roll and let them watch it like they did on Apollo 8," he said about a procedure to keep the sun from overheating the spacecraft.

A controller disagreed.

"I don't see the point in the new procedure." Voice calm, he might have been discussing buying groceries with his wife.

"We keep stalling around. I don't see the point. Somebody tell me what the point is and I'll buy it."

Activation Begins

The astronauts, James Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert, began going through a checklist on activating the lunar module electrical system.

"OK, everybody, quiet in the room while we go through this activation."

A controller suggested telling the astronauts to skip part of the list to save time.

"Let's just let them go through it." Slight irritation, a father admonishing children to be quiet.

"We're just getting there. Let them go through the items one at a time."

Scene Looks Dull

A stranger entering Mission Control unaware of the crisis in space would have labeled the scene dull. But the little things told the story.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, sat slumped at a console, tieless, sleeves rolled up.

Several astronauts milled about, discussing problems with Lunney, making suggestions.

The viewing room, isolated by a glass wall behind the consoles, was packed, the plush, red theater chairs filled with tense, worried spectators.

Black Team At Work

Lunney and his Black team came to work about an hour after the Apollo 13 emergency arose, bringing fresh faces, straight ties and wrinkleless shirts.

But as the night wore on and dawn creeped up on Houston, faces grew long and haggard. The keen, adrenalin-fed edge of excitement began wearing off. The long, tedious wait began

The wait continues at least until Friday, with two other equally competent teams of flight controllers sharing the suspense.

"Will they have enough," one of the controllers asked about the life-giving electrical supply in the lunar lander.

"They'll have enough, but just barely," someone murmured.

U.S. Reports Soviet Nuclear Sub Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

Hunter-Killer Sub

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday tnd Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

Surface Ships Out

"Late yesterday the Soviet surface ships were still in the area where the submarine was first sighted and were apparently conducting a search," the Pentagon said Monday. "It is possible that the Soviet nuclear submarine may have sunk."

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

No Russian Report

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

Space Officials Consider Risky 'Superfast' Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's imperiled astronauts battled to bring their crippled spaceship back to earth today as Mission Control Center considered a risky "superfast" return that would propel them home a day early and perhaps save their lives.

"Yes, barely," flight controller Glynn Lunney said when asked whether the three spacemen would make it back from their aborted moon landing mission, suddenly cut short Monday night when a violent rupture of unknown origin ripped through pressurized fuel tanks.

Officials are considering the quick return to bring Apollo 13 back to earth Thursday because they are concerned about oxygen and water supplies aboard the lunar module from which the astronauts are drawing life support.

Race Around Moon

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. conserved these vital consumables as they raced farther from earth, toward a loop around the moon tonight before starting the quarter-million-mile homeward journey.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target when the accident happened and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts don't have with their big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

Trigger Engine

The only powerplant available is the lunar module descent engine, the one intended to lower Lovell and Haise to the moon's surface. The spacemen triggered the engine 30 seconds early today to adjust their course slightly to a path that would take them around the moon and bring them back to earth late Friday if they made no other maneuver.

If that engine had failed to ignite, Apollo 13 would have swung back toward earth but would have missed by some 20,000 miles and would have been lost forever in space.

To speed the homeward trip by 10 hours, Lovell, Haise and late substitute Swigert plan at 9:40 p.m. EST tonight to trigger the engine again to increase their 2,600 m.p.h. speed by 558 miles an hour. That would land them in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand at 1 p.m. EST Friday.

Cite Drawbacks

Mission Control said at midmorning it still favored this plan. But officials huddled for a long time to consider a "superfast" return which would mean a longer burn of the lunar module engine. The result would be an earth landing about 1 p.m. Thursday.

Officials listed two drawbacks:

—The service compartment at the base of the command ship would have to be jettisoned and this could create a heat protection problem.

—The maneuver requires almost perfect alignment of the inertial guidance platform, something that may not be possible with the lunar module system. Normally, the command ship system would be used for such a firing.

"We will continue to study this option several hours," the control center said.

Water Critical

With about 80 hours to go before splashdown Friday, the astronauts had a 130-hour supply of oxygen. The water supply used for drinking and to cool electronics was more critical, but was listed as sufficient.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr., and late-substitute John L. Swigert Jr. drew life from the systems of the lunar landing craft Aquarius as they still streaked toward the moon. They plan to swing around the moon tonight before heading back to earth. It's the easiest and fastest way home.

At 9:40 p.m. EST, about two hours after passing 156 miles above the moon's backside, they will trigger Aquarius' engine to speed up their return trip home by 10 hours. They may salvage a small something from the $375 million flight by taking scientific photos of the lunar surface.

Normally, the engine of the command ship Odyssey would be used to start the return trip. It has plenty of fuel, but the dead command vessel has no electricity to fire the power plant.

Activate Systems

Following the tank rupture, the astronauts activated the systems of the attached lunar module, or LM. They opened the connecting tunnel between the two craft so oxygen would flow into the command ship and make it livable.

The cramped LM is difficult

Lovell's Wife Saving Words Until Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'm not saying another word until Jim gets back home," Marilyn Lovell said today as her astronaut-husband aboard Apollo 13 fought a historic space battle to return to earth.

The wife of Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. stayed close to her space center monitor and a big color television set in her home as the space crisis unfolded 200,000 miles away.

At her side, in the small study used by Lovell in prepping for the mission, was Charles Conrad Jr., Apollo 12 moon explorer.

"She's pretty calm but tense," said Conrad as he left the Lovell home in the early morning hours, astride his red motorcycle.

"Sure they'll make it," Conrad said with enthusiasm, but added: "Of course it's always a shame to give up a mission."

"The atmosphere is tense, everyone listening to the squawk box and watching television," said space agency official Bob McMurrey in describing the activity in the homes of Lovell and astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr.

Before the trouble developed in space, Mrs. Lovell and Mary Haise were cheerful as they watched their husbands on Monday night's television show from space. They had gone to Mission Control to see the telecast.

In Denver, Swigert's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Swigert, said they were "very worried, just stunned" upon hearing of the Apollo trouble.

Dr. Swigert, a 67-year-old Denver ophthalmologist, was reported not feeling well. Mrs. Swigert, 63, said her husband's arthritis in his legs was bothering him.

Swigert's parents followed the events on television at home. With them were their two daughters, Mrs. Philip Spinelli and Mrs. Marcell Edwards, and three grandchildren, all Spinellis.

Air Controllers Return; Drivers, Teachers Don't

By The Associated Press

A 20-day-old strike by air traffic controllers appeared to be ending today, but some teachers and truck drivers remained on strike.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said 250 controllers returned to work today in New York. He said there were no absentees in Boston or Cleveland on the first shift. Washington, D.C., reported only one controller absent.

The back-to-work trend followed increasing court pressure on the controllers around the country, including a temporary injunction issued Monday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Orin G. Judd in New York.

Teachers in Los Angeles and Minneapolis remained on strike. But in Butte, Mont., teachers ended a four-day strike.

The 450 Butte teachers returned to work after school officials agreed to a change in contract wording of an administrator-hiring clause.

About half of Los Angeles' 25,000 teachers are striking for higher wages and smaller classes. In Minneapolis, the teachers struck on April 9 for similar demands.

Wildcat trucking strikes in various cities have caused thousands of layoffs in some parts-short industries. Cities affected included St. Louis, Buffalo, Milwaukee, and Kenosha, Wis.

The truck drivers are protesting a tentative nationwide contract that provides wage increases of $1.10 over three years. The Teamsters union is setting up a referendum on the contract.

Kopechne Documents Prepared For Release

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge had under consideration today a petition to stop publication of the secret record of the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. But the state went ahead printing copies of the documents set for release Wednesday morning.

Judge Andrew J. Caffrey Monday night delayed a decision on the claim of free lance court stenographer Sidney R. Lipman that he had the sole right to reproduce and sell copies of the 764-page document containing the testimony of inquest witnesses and the presiding judge's report.

Caffrey ordered lawyers for Lipman and Superior Court Clerk Edward V. Keating to file a memorandum of law with him by 1 p.m. today.

Keating, as custodian of the documents, arranged for copies to be made in advance of the scheduled release at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Caffrey called the unusual Monday night session to hear testimony from Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis on the terms of the contract he made with Lipman to transcribe the inquest proceedings last January.

It was Dinis who requested the inquest into the death of Miss Kopechne, a 28-year-old Washington secretary found dead in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car after it plunged off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island last July 18.

Dinis said he told Lipman that he believed copies of the record could be distributed for a fee when the court ordered the papers released.

Integration On 'Go' In Florida

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — With Gov. Claude Kirk on the sidelines, public school integration got the green light today in Manatee County.

Yellow buses were ordered to trundle 2,600 of the county's 17,000 pupils to new schools to provide an 80-20 balance of Caucasians and Negroes. The court-ordered desegregation plan also moved 107 teachers.

Kirk, who abandoned control of the county's schools in the face of a threatened fine of $10,000 a day for contempt of court, turned from defiance of a U.S. District Court judge to pleading with a Court of Appeals.

"We didn't throw in the towel," Kirk said in New Orleans Monday as he filed two briefs with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. "We are in court. We are working within the system."

Kirk had suspended the local school officials in this Gulf Coast county south of Tampa last week to block the desegregation plan.

Kirk flew to New Orleans Monday to file his briefs personally "to give physical evidence of my conviction that we always must stay within the system."

The Justice Department followed Kirk into court with the assertion that the desegregation plan should be upheld for the time being.

Ford Prepares For Douglas' Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggonner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggonner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

Trucker Dispute Forces Layoffs

By The Associated Press

Layoffs in parts-short industries put additional thousands out of work today as a contract dispute between the nation's trucking companies and the Teamsters union moved toward a ballot-box showdown.

A company-imposed lockout and an all-out strike by Teamster locals and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers union idled as many as 40,000 drivers and dock workers in the Chicago area.

Wildcat walkouts by drivers dissatisfied over terms of a tentative national contract continued in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit and in Buffalo, N.Y., and Cherryville, N.C.,

Interruption of parts shipments forced American Motors Corp. to shut down operations in Milwaukee; Kenosha, Wis., and Brampton, Ont., putting some 9,000 employes out of work.

Parts shortages also caused General Motors Corp. to lay off workers at two of its four plants in the Buffalo area Monday.

Millage Hike

INDIAN CITY (AP)—Inland Lakes School District voters Monday approved a two and one-half mill increase for two years. The increase is earmarked for bus transportation and recreational facilities in the school district.

North Vietnamese Hit Border Post

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven off the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

New York Paper Strike Called Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A scheduled 6 a.m. strike by the New York Newspaper Guild against the New York Post was postponed indefinitely early today to allow mediators more time to try and resolve a contract dispute.

Labor mediator Theodore W. Kheel announced the move at 3:20 a.m. after a day and night of intensive mediation efforts. There was no new management offer to break what he had called the "total impasse" in the talks.

U.S. Reports Soviet Nuclear Sub Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

Hunter-Killer Sub

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday tnd Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

Space Officials Consider Risky 'Superfast' Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's imperiled astronauts battled to bring their crippled spaceship back to earth today as Mission Control Center considered a risky "superfast" return that would propel them home a day early and perhaps save their lives.

"Yes, barely," flight controller Glynn Lunney said when asked whether the three spacemen would make it back from their aborted moon landing mission, suddenly cut short Monday night when a violent rupture of unknown origin ripped through pressurized fuel tanks.

Officials are considering the quick return to bring Apollo 13 back to earth Thursday because they are concerned about oxygen and water supplies aboard the lunar module from which the astronauts are drawing life support.

Race Around Moon

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. conserved these vital consumables as they raced farther from earth, toward a loop around the moon tonight before starting the quarter-million-mile homeward journey.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target when the accident happened and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts don't have with their big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

If that engine had failed to ignite, Apollo 13 would have swung back toward earth but would have missed by some 20,000 miles and would have been lost forever in space.

To speed the homeward trip by 10 hours, Lovell, Haise and late substitute Swigert plan at 9:40 p.m. EST tonight to trigger the engine again to increase their 2,600 m.p.h. speed by 558 miles an hour. That would land them in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand at 1 p.m. EST Friday.

Mission Control said at midmorning it still favored this plan. But officials huddled for a long time to consider a "superfast" return which would mean a longer burn of the lunar module engine. The result would be an earth landing about 1 p.m. Thursday.

Judge Andrew J. Caffrey Monday night delayed a decision on the claim of free lance court stenographer Sidney R. Lipman that he had the sole right to reproduce and sell copies of the 764-page document containing the testimony of inquest witnesses and the presiding judge's report.

Caffrey ordered lawyers for Lipman and Superior Court Clerk Edward V. Keating to file a memorandum of law with him by 1 p.m. today.

Keating, as custodian of the documents, arranged for copies to be made in advance of the scheduled release at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Caffrey called the unusual Monday night session to hear testimony from Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis on the terms of the contract he made with Lipman to transcribe the inquest proceedings last January.

It was Dinis who requested the inquest into the death of Miss Kopechne, a 28-year-old Washington secretary found dead in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car after it plunged off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island last July 18.

Dinis said he told Lipman that he believed copies of the record could be distributed for a fee when the court ordered the papers released.

Integration On 'Go' In Florida

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — With Gov. Claude Kirk on the sidelines, public school integration got the green light today in Manatee County.

Yellow buses were ordered to trundle 2,600 of the county's 17,000 pupils to new schools to provide an 80-20 balance of Caucasians and Negroes. The court-ordered desegregation plan also moved 107 teachers.

Kirk, who abandoned control of the county's schools in the face of a threatened fine of $10,000 a day for contempt of court, turned from defiance of a U.S District Court judge to pleading with a Court of Appeals.

"We didn't throw in the towel," Kirk said in New Orleans Monday as he filed two briefs with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. "We are in court. We are working within the system."

Kirk had suspended the local school officials in this Gulf Coast county south of Tampa last week to block the desegregation plan.

Kirk flew to New Orleans Monday to file his briefs personally "to give physical evidence of my conviction that we always must stay within the system."

The Justice Department followed Kirk into court with the assertion that the desegregation plan should be upheld for the time being.

Trucker Dispute Forces Layoffs

By The Associated Press

Layoffs in parts-short industries put additional thousands out of work today as a contract dispute between the nation's trucking companies and the Teamsters union moved toward a ballot-box showdown.

A company-imposed lockout and an all-out strike by Teamster locals and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers union idled as many as 40,000 drivers and dock workers in the Chicago area.

Wildcat walkouts by drivers dissatisfied over terms of a tentative national contract continued in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit and in Buffalo, N.Y., and Cherryville, N.C.,

Interruption of parts shipments forced American Motors Corp. to shut down operations in Milwaukee; Kenosha, Wis., and Brampton, Ont., putting some 9,000 employes out of work.

Parts shortages also caused General Motors Corp. to lay off workers at two of its four plants in the Buffalo area Monday.

Ford Prepares For Douglas' Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggonner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggonner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

Millage Hike

INDIAN CITY (AP)—Inland Lakes School District voters Monday approved a two and one-half mill increase for two years. The increase is earmarked for bus transportation and recreational facilities in the school district.

North Vietnamese Hit Border Post

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven off the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

New York Paper Strike Called Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A scheduled 6 a.m. strike by the New York Newspaper Guild against the New York Post was postponed indefinitely early today to allow mediators more time to try and resolve a contract dispute.

Labor mediator Theodore W. Kheel announced the move at 3:20 a.m. after a day and night of intensive mediation efforts. There was no new management offer to break what he had called the "total impasse' in the talks.

DeVos Is Mayor Of 'New' City Council

Ronald F. DeVos, bank officer, is Escanaba's new mayor, elected to that two-year office by his fellow City Council members at an organization meeting at the Civic Center Monday night.

DeVos received the highest vote in the recent municipal election and the Council, following a custom of many years, elected him mayor. Councilman Robert Bink, who has served as mayor pro-tem, continued in that office.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase turned the gavel over to his successor and wished him well, and DeVos responded with an expression of confidence in his fellow councilmen and declared the Council will work to the best interests of the people of the community.

The New Members

Three newly-elected members were sworn into office by City Clerk Guindon. They are:

Mayor DeVos, who resides at 2515 Lake Shore Drive, is assistant cashier of the First National Bank and Trust Co., and has resided in Escanaba for the past five years. He was born in Chicago in 1931.

Councilman Albin S. Pearson Jr. 2525 1st Ave. S., is a native of Escanaba, and is president of the Pearson Supply Co. He and DeVos were elected for terms of four years.

Councilman Richard J. Pryal of 204 N. 14th St. has served on the Council by appointment for the past 15 months. He is proprietor of the Goodman Drug Store and was born in Escanaba in 1931.

Retiring from the Council and not candidates for reelection were Edward J. Cox and Miles Dupuie.

After the brief organization meeting required by city charter the Council met at the City Hall with City Manager George Harvey to begin budget deliberations.

Budget Study

Harvey briefed the Council on problems facing the city and on projects and programs and their relationship to the 1970-71 budget Major considerations are the city's salary schedule and capital outlay program.

The budget study will continue with the manager responsible for placing a tentative budget before the Council by May 1, and the Council placing the budget before the people for public hearing at its meeting on May 21, with adoption to follow in June.

The next regular meeting of the "new" Council will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 16, at the Civic Center.

Approval of a preliminary plat of Goulais Subdivision No. 2, a portion of which is set aside for multi-family development, is the first item on the agenda for Thursday.

First Meeting

The proposed area to be platted is west of the present Goulais residential development.

The Planning Commission gave the preliminary plat unanimous approval after several meetings in which provisions for control of multi-family development discussed.

When the developer spelled out specific controls to be exercised, setting up requirements which would be incorporated as deed restrictions and would keep the multi-family area in harmony with existing single family development, the Commission approved the plat.

Building heights are not to exceed 2½ stories or 30 feet; each living unit with one bedroom is to have not less than 750 square feet, two bedroom units 1,000 square feet; setbacks from the street must be 35 feet; paved off-street parking is to be provided; and building design must be consistent with living units now in the neighborhood.

Annual Audit

The Council on Thursday night will also have before it:

The matter of authorizing purchase of July 4 fireworks; first reading of an ordinance to establish fire zones in the city; and the authorizing of certified public accountants for the annual city audit.

Request for authorization to write off certain delinquent accounts; report and recommendation on bids to supply the city with asphalt and asphalt emulsion; report and recommendation on bids for the sale by the city of a residential lot at 12th Ave. S. and 22nd St.

Request for authorization to demolish a condemned garage building in the 100 block of N. 5th St. and the cost to be spread on the tax roll; adoption of a resoltuion commending Student Councils of the local high schools for their city park cleanup program; and adoption of a proclamation designating Bicycle Safety Week and Bicycle Rodeo Day.

Win Place In State Finals

Two students from Escanaba Area Public High School have qualified to compete in the state forensic finals to be held at Ann Arbor on May 2.

They are Jody Bisdee, whose dramatic dialogue won a first place in that category in the regional forensic finals at Marquette on Saturday; and Karen Wigand, who placed third at Marquette in original oratory.

Other Area High School students who participated at Marquette are Mark Olson, with a humorous reading, and Sue Nicholson, dramatic monologue. Both received certificates of excellence.

Merriman Smith, Top Newsman, Takes Own Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Merriman Smith, White House correspondent for United Press International for 28 years, is dead at age 57, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Smith received the Pulitzer Prize in 1963 for his coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

He suffered a severe illness in December 1968, but recovered. Ten days ago he entered a District of Columbia hospital. He told his office Monday he had a severe cold and would not be in to work.

When Smith's wife checked on him after he did not anwer her call in their Alexandria, Va., home, she found him in a bathroom, with a bullet wound through his head and a .357 magnum revolver nearby.

In a statement, President Nixon praised Smith, saying "Smitty was a reporter I knew and respected for many years and so tonight, I feel a real sense of personal loss. Mrs. Nixon joins me in expressing our deepest sympathy to his family."

Sam Martilla Dies Today In Marquette

Samuel Martilla, 90, formerly of Rte. 1 Rock, died at 9:25 a.m. Monday at the Morgan Heights Nursing Home in Marquette. He was born Feb. 25, 1880 in Finland and was a retired farmer.

Kiwanis Hears About New Kidney Therapy

Probably a lesser known disease but equally as serious as both cancer and heart trouble, was the topic of David St. Clair, field director for the Michigan Kidney Foundation, at the noon meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club.

In his discussion, St. Clair said that more than 300 families in Michigan will hear this year that one of their loved ones is suffering from a kidney disease.

St. Clair stated that there is a definite lag between what has to be done and what is being done to try and curb kidney disease. However, up to 10 years ago, there was little that could be done, but now transplantation of kidneys from donors and the dialysis machine have entered the picture, offering new hope.

The most successful kidney transplantations have been made with blood relatives, he stated, especially identical twins.

The artificial kidney machines are now perfected so that a patient can use them right in his own home after proper training. There are 10 training centers located in the State of Michigan and it takes from 8 to 13 weeks to train a person.

The kidney machines can be purchased outright, or can be procured through the Veteran's Administration, Michigan Crippled Children's Foundation, Vocational Rehabilitation, Medicaid, to name some. When all else fails, the Kidney Foundation of Michigan will make a machine available to a patient at no charge, regardless of the length of time it is needed. The only stipulation is that the machine must be returned to the foundation when it is no longer needed.

The Kidney Foundation receives these machines from donations from churches, fraternal organizations and also from a very active kidney association throughout the state. A very large amount of machines have been purchased through an agreement with Betty Crocker on a coupon collection.

To emphasize his talk, St. Clair presented a 20 minute film entitled "Everybody's Problem," which portrayed the care available to kidney patients. He also passed out booklets entitled the "5 Warning Signs of Kidney Disease."

These warning signs include:

1. Puffiness around the eyes, particularly in children.
2. Swelling of parts of the body.
3. Lower back (flank) pain just below the ribs.
4. Visibly bloody, or coffee colored urine. Changes in the pattern of urination, increased frequency, urination at night.
5. Burning or any abnormal sensation on urination.

As in most other diseases, early detection of the disease is very important.

Census To End In About Week

The 1970 Census is nearing completion in the Upper Peninsula, according to Mrs. Robert Hansley of Escanaba, district manager.

"In about another week, census takers should have visited every residence on their lists," she said.

Census takers began visiting households on April 1. Mrs. Hensley asked that householders hold their questionnaires, which were delivered prior to April 1, and have them filled out, ready for the census taker to pick up. This will save time for both the householder and the census taker and speed up the completion of the census, she said.

For every fifth household, the census taker will have a longer questionnaire which she fill fill out by interviewing a member of the household.

Most of the census takers are women. Each wears a red, white and blue identification badge which is her official credential. It bears her signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a Census Enumerator, and has sworn to keep confidential all census information given her.

DeVos Is Mayor Of 'New' City Council

Ronald F. DeVos, bank officer, is Escanaba's new mayor, elected to that two-year office by his fellow City Council members at an organization meeting at the Civic Center Monday night.

DeVos received the highest vote in the recent municipal election and the Council, following a custom of many years, elected him mayor. Councilman Robert Bink, who has served as mayor pro-tem, continued in that office.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase turned the gavel over to his successor and wished him well, and DeVos responded with an expression of confidence in his fellow councilmen and declared the Council will work to the best interests of the people of the community.

The New Members

Three newly-elected members were sworn into office by City Clerk Guindon. They are:

Mayor DeVos, who resides at 2515 Lake Shore Drive, is assistant cashier of the First National Bank and Trust Co., and has resided in Escanaba for the past five years. He was born in Chicago in 1931.

Councilman Albin S. Pearson Jr. 2525 Ist Ave. S., is a native of Escanaba, and is president of the Pearson Supply Co. He and DeVos were elected for terms of four years.

Councilman Richard J. Pryal of 204 N. 14th St. has served on the Council by appointment for the past 15 months. He is proprietor of the Goodman Drug Store and was born in Esctnaba in 1931.

Retiring from the Council and not candidates for reelection were Edward J. Cox and Miles Dupuie.

After the brief organization meeting required by city charter the Council met at the City Hall with City Manager George Harvey to begin budget deliberations.

Budget Study

Harvey briefed the Council on problems facing the city and on projects and programs and their relationship to the 1970-71 budget Major considerations are the city's salary schedule and capital outlay program.

The budget study will continue with the manager responsible for placing a tentative budget before the Council by May 1, and the Council placing the budget before the people for public hearing at its meeting on May 21, with adoption to follow in June.

The next regular meeting of the "new" Council will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 16, at the Civic Center.

Approval of a preliminary plat of Goulais Subdivision No. 2, a portion of which is set aside for multi-family development, is the first item on the agenda for Thursday.

First Meeting

The proposed area to be platted is west of the present Goulais residential development.

The Planning Commission gave the preliminary plat unanimous approval after several meetings in which provisions for control of multi-family development discussed.

When the developer spelled out specific controls to be exercised, setting up requirements which would be incorporated as deed restrictions and would keep the multi-family area in harmony with existing single family development, the Commission approved the plat.

Building heights are not to exceed 2½ stories or 30 feet; each living unit with one bedroom is to have not less than 750 square feet, two bedroom units 1,000 square feet; setbacks from the street must be 35 feet; paved off-street parking is to be provided; and building design must be consistent with living units now in the neighborhood.

Annual Audit

The Council on Thursday night will also have before it:

The matter of authorizing purchase of July 4 fireworks; first reading of an ordinance to establish fire zones in the city; and the authorizing of certified public accountants for the annual city audit.

Request for authorization to write off certain delinquent accounts; report and recommendation on bids to supply the city with asphalt and asphalt emulsion; report and recommendation on bids for the sale by the city of a residential lot at 12th Ave. S. and 22nd St.

Request for authorization to demolish a condemned garage building in the 100 block of N. 5th St. and the cost to be spread on the tax roll; adoption of a resoltuion commending Student Councils of the local high schools for their city park cleanup program; and adoption of a proclamation designating Bicycle Safety Week and Bicycle Rodeo Day.

Jaycees from throughout the Upper Peninsula will be in Marquette Saturday to attend the spring District-Regional meeting, hosted by the Marquette chapter at the Northwoods Supper Club.

Special guests will include Patrick M. Novak, Farmington, president of the Michigan Jaycees; Donn Wrench, Port Huron, and Larry Wine, Charlotte, executive vice presidents, and State Representative David M. Serotkin, Republican, Mt. Clemens.

Delegations from 12 Upper Peninsula chapters will attend the meeting. These include Sault Ste. Marie, Manistique, Munising, Escanaba, Ishpeming-Negaunee, Norway-Vulcan, Iron River, Iron Mountain-Kingsford, Menominee, Ontonagon, Ironwood and Marquette.

Kiwanis Hears About New Kidney Therapy

Probably a lesser known disease but equally as serious as both cancer and heart trouble, was the topic of David St. Clair, field director for the Michigan Kidney Foundation, at the noon meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club.

In his discussion, St. Clair said that more than 300 families in Michigan will hear this year that one of their loved ones is suffering from a kidney disease.

St. Clair stated that there is a definite lag between what has to be done and what is being done to try and curb kidney disease. However, up to 10 years ago, there was little that could be done, but now transplantation of kidneys from donors and the dialysis machine have entered the picture, offering new hope.

The most successful kidney transplantations have been made with blood relatives, he stated, especially identical twins.

The artificial kidney machines are now perfected so that a patient can use them right in his own home after proper training. There are 10 training centers located in the State of Michigan and it takes from 8 to 13 weeks to train a person.

The kidney machines can be purchased outright, or can be procured through the Veteran's Administration, Michigan Crippled Children's Foundation, Vocational Rehabilitation, Medicaid, to name some. When all else fails, the Kidney Foundation of Michigan will make a machine available to a patient at no charge, regardless of the length of time it is needed. The only stipulation is that the machine must be returned to the foundation when it is no longer needed.

The Kidney Foundation receives these machines from donations from churches, fraternal organizations and also from a very active kidney association throughout the state. A very large amount of machines have been purchased through an agreement with Betty Crocker on a coupon collection.

To emphasize his talk, St. Clair presented a 20 minute film entitled "Everybody's Problem," which portrayed the care available to kidney patients. He also passed out booklets entitled the "5 Warning Signs of Kidney Disease."

These warning signs include:

1. Puffiness around the eyes, particularly in children.
2. Swelling of parts of the body.
3. Lower back (flank) pain just below the ribs.
4. Visibly bloody, or coffee colored urine. Changes in the pattern of urination, increased frequency, urination at night.
5. Burning or any abnormal sensation on urination.

As in most other diseases, early detection of the disease is very important.

Census To End In About Week

The 1970 Census is nearing completion in the Upper Peninsula, according to Mrs. Robert Hansley of Escanaba, district manager.

"In about another week, census takers should have visited every residence on their lists," she said.

Census takers began visiting households on April 1. Mrs. Hensley asked that householders hold their questionnaires, which were delivered prior to April 1, and have them filled out, ready for the census taker to pick up. This will save time for both the householder and the census taker and speed up the completion of the census, she said.

For every fifth household, the census taker will have a longer questionnaire which she fill fill out by interviewing a member of the household.

Most of the census takers are women. Each wears a red, white and blue identification badge which is her official credential. It bears her signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a Census Enumerator, and has sworn to keep confidential all census information given her.

Mail Carriers Go Mechanized

Postmaster James E. Pryal announced that Escanaba Post Office has taken delivery on 13 new 1968-69 ¼-ton right-hand drive vehicles manufactured by Kaiser, making the Escanaba Post Office the first in the Upper Peninsula to mechanize its carriers.

Pryal listed three objectives to this program:

1. To improve service by advancing delivery, when possible. Also to deliver parcel post with the letter mail, eliminating misdelivered parcels having forwarding information available and better utilize the carrier's knowledge of his patrons.

2. To improve working conditions for carriers by reducing the load to be carried, reducing walking and providing some protection from the weather.

3. Reduce costs by eliminating parcel post deliveries and the vehicle involved, eliminating transportation costs, reducing street time and removing relay boxes with their maintenance costs.

The routes at the present time are undergoing evaluations to come up with the best possible adjustments to conserve time and use of the vehicles.

U-M Officials, Milliken Reject Agnew Charges

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Officials of the University of Michigan reacted swiftly and angrily Monday night to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's charge that they had engaged in a "callow retreat from reality" by agreeing to up the black student enrollment to 10 per cent by 1973.

In a speech delivered before a Rapublicar gathering in Des Moines, Iowa, the vice president said the action could cheapen the University of Michigan's diploma by allowing unqualified students to enter.

Says Misinformed

"The vice president is badly misinformed about the commitment the university's regents, faculty and administration have made to provide educational opportunity to disadvantaged young people, particularly blacks," said University President Robben W. Fleming in a statement issued Monday night.

The university's regents and administration agreed earlier this month to aim for a 10 per cent black enrollment and to provide financial aid for the minority group students by the 1973-74 school year. The action came after a two - week boycott led by the Black Action movement.

At its peak, the strike cut class attendance by nearly a half. Currently, about three per cent of Michigan's 35,000 students are black. The agreement which ended the strike was negotiated by Fleming.

Milliken Defends U-M

In Lansing, Gov. William Milliken, a Republican who faces reelection this fall, came to the defense of the university.

"I believe Vice President Agnew was wrong in his attack on the Univesrity of Michigan," the governor said in a statement. "In making his judgment, the vice president did not have as much information as did the elected board of regents in making its decision.

"By admitting more black students, the university will not be lowering its standards but meeting its constitutional obligation to provide equal access to educational opportunities.

"The University of Michigan has been one of the nation's outstanding universities. It will continue to be," he said.

Members of the school's board of regents also came to Fleming's defense.

First For School

"I'm sick and tired of Fleming being referred to as spineless," said Regent Gertrude Hubner, a Republican from Bloomfield Hills. "It takes more guts to negotiate than to call in the National Guard. I'm very proud of how he handled it."

Fleming and several regents said the university, for some time, has been recruiting black students under its opportunity awards program and has accepted a number of students under the program who might ordinarily not have qualified for admittance.

"The University of Michigan is the first major public university noted for its academic excellence to set as a top priority the enrollment of at least 10 per cent black students by 1973-74," Fleming said.

Prof. Gardner Ackley, former chairman of the Council of economic Advisers and ambassador to Italy under President Lyndon Johnson was also unhappy about the vice president's speech.

In the speech, Agnew quoted from an account in the Ann Arbor News, of a speech which Ackley, now Henry Carter Adams professor of economics at Michigan, gave at a faculty meeting during the turmoil over the Black Action Movements demands.

" 'This has been a very tragic year...which has seen the beginning of the destruction of this university...,' " Agnew quoted Ackley as saying. " 'It is being destroyed by its own faculty and administration.

" 'The university's administration,' he (Ackley) said, is 'unwilling or unable to resist the destroyer. However ridiculous or worthy the cause, it will win in proportion to the willingness of its supporters to disrupt the life of the university.' "

Some of the quotes "are very badly out of context," said Ackley, who said he resented Agnew's use of his speech.

OK Millage

MONROE (AP) — The voters in two Monroe County school districts Monday approved four millage levies and rejected one.

The Jefferson Schools District voters approved renewal of a five - mill operating levy and a new two - mill operating levy. The two levies will yield $315,000 for the district.

Voters in the Mason Consolidated Schools District approved renewal of a two - mill operating levy, rejected a new four-mill levy, and approved a new two-mill levy. The approval of the two issues will net the district $160,000 in operating funds.

Timber Meeting Set At Gaylord

The first Forest Industry Conference in Michigan to bring both mill operator and woods producers together April 17-18 in Gaylord is an approach by Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., to find practical recommendations from the industry itself for solution of some of its problems.

Timber, Inc., was organized through the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and worked its own stand of timber as a pilot study to gain what cost determinations it could. The program came up with many figures but officials realized this approach had no great meaning or purpose for the average producer.

Too many problems the average producer faced were not considered in the pilot study and too many findings were not applicable to individual situations, said Timber Inc., spokesmen.

Reorganization was immediately started. Two graduate foresters were engaged and they began working with the producer on his own grounds, finding his problems and ascertaining what areas could be used as the scene of practical efforts to assist him.

As a result, the conference was scheduled in Gaylord. Mill operators and producers will work with findings by Timber, Inc., and their own observations to develop practical recommendations for further action.

Prof. Gardner Ackley, former chairman of the Council of economic Advisers and ambassador to Italy under President Lyndon Johnson was also unhappy about the vice president's speech.

In the speech, Agnew quoted from an account in the Ann Arbor News, of a speech which Ackley, now Henry Carter Adams professor of economics at Michigan, gave at a faculty meeting during the turmoil over the Black Action Movements demands.

" 'This has been a very tragic year...which has seen the beginning of the destruction of this university...,' " Agnew quoted Ackley as saying. " 'It is being destroyed by its own faculty and administration.

" 'The university's administration,' he (Ackley) said, is 'unwilling or unable to resist the destroyer. However ridiculous or worthy the cause, it will win in proportion to the willingness of its supporters to disrupt the life of the university."

Some of the quotes "are very badly out of context," said Ackley, who said he resented Agnew's use of his speech.

OK Millage

MONROE (AP) — The voters in two Monroe County school districts Monday approved four millage levies and rejected one.

The Jefferson Schools District voters approved renewal of a five - mill operating levy and a new two - mill operating levy. The two levies will yield $315,000 for the district.

Voters in the Mason Consolidated Schools District approved renewal of a two - mill operating levy, rejected a new four-mill levy, and approved a new two-mill levy. The approval of the two issues will net the district $160,000 in operating funds.

Timber Meeting Set At Gaylord

The first Forest Industry Conference in Michigan to bring both mill operator and woods producers together April 17-18 in Gaylord is an approach by Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., to find practical recommendations from the industry itself for solution of some of its problems.

Timber, Inc., was organized through the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and worked its own stand of timber as a pilot study to gain what cost determinations it could. The program came up with many figures but officials realized this approach had no great meaning or purpose for the average producer.

Too many problems the average producer faced were not considered in the pilot study and too many findings were not applicable to individual situations, said Timber Inc., spokesmen.

Reorganization was immediately started. Two graduate foresters were engaged and they began working with the producer on his own grounds, finding his problems and ascertaining what areas could be used as the scene of practical efforts to assist him.

As a result, the conference was scheduled in Gaylord. Mill operators and producers will work with findings by Timber, Inc., and their own observations to develop practical recommendations for further action.

The Ford River Lions Club will sponsor a smelt fry on Friday at the clubrooms. The public is invited to attend the annual affair which will take place from 5 to 9 p.m. Tickets can be purchased from club members or at the door, officers said.

Moby, the Menominee County Library's bookmobile will make the following tours next week: Monday—Powers-Spalding Village; Tuesday and Wednesday — Powers School; Thursday — East Stephenson, Cedar River School and Cedar River homes; Friday — Wallace Schools.

The Delta County Chapter of the Michigan Diabetes Association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center tonight at 7:30. Mary Shaw, a 20-year old student nurse from Northern Michigan University who has been a diabetic since the age of 6, will speak on "Relaxing With Diabetes." The public is invited.

Menard Elected Sportsmen Head

HERMANSVILLE — Robert J. Menard was elected president of the William Anderson Sportsmen Club at a recent dinner party held at the Four Corners Bar in Carney. He had been treasurer of the organization for three years.

Other officers elected were Frank Nowack, vice-president; Donald J. Raiche, treasurer; Robert J. Whitens, secretary; and Bernard LeBeouf, sergeant at arms.

At the meeting following the dinner, outgoing President Edward Arnold thanked the group for its hard work during the successful Snowmobile Derby and for its excellent cooperation during the past year. The club has 59 members.

Doctor Shortage

The Michigan Health Council, which among other things keeps an eye on the health of the medical profession in Michigan, reported the other day that Michigan is losing ground in its efforts to provide medical doctors for the two areas that need doctors most — inner-city metropolitan areas and outstate rural communities.

"Only 17 more doctors are registered to practice medicine in Michigan as of March 20, 1970, than on the same day in 1969," reported John A. Doherty of East Lansing, executive director of the Health Council. "There are 8,759 licensed today compared with 8,742 last year."

But if Michigan, as a whole, isn't keeping pace with the growing population, the Upper Peninsula is at least holding its own.

According to Health Council statistics, the U. P. as of March 20 had a total of 226 medical doctors in its 15 counties. That was one less than a year ago, but 16 more than in 1961 and if projections showing a slight decline in overall population for the Upper Peninsula hold up in the 1970 census the ratio of doctors per person has improved.

Since 1961, seven counties in the Upper Peninsula — Gogebic, Iron, Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, Menominee and Ontonagon — have lost doctors. In that same period, Alger, Baraga, Chippewa, Dickinson, Houghton, Marquette and Schoolcraft counties have registered gains. Delta County, although the number of doctors has gone as high as 26, has exactly the same number today, 21, as in 1961.

* * *

Marquette County, which has become a center of medical activity for the Upper Peninsula, has the greatest number of doctors, 65, and also has shown the greatest increase in the statistical period, jumping from 48 to 65. The greatest loss has been in Menominee County, where the number of practicing physicians declined from 16 in 1961 to 10 last month.

Doherty points out that the Vietnam War has caused a drain on the medical manpower of the state as in 1962 there were 277 doctors in service compared with 615 today, a gain of 338, and also that Michigan has more doctors serving in the Peace Corps, medical missions and on the S. S. Hope this year. But he also says that in recent years Michigan has been educating only half of the number of doctors needed to meet the needs of its citizens.

"Over 142 communities are seeking 600 or more family doctors," the Health Council reports. "Seventy-five communities are seeking 1,400 or more medical specialists. Several hospitals could be forced to close for lack of sufficient doctors unless improvement in medical manpower is forthcoming."

The problem of specialists is readily apparent in Delta County. With a few exceptions, most residents of the county in need of specialized attention must go to Marquette, Green Bay or elsewhere for attention.

* * *

The Michigan Health Council makes several suggestions about what might be done in the state to improve the medical manpower situation, including an amendment to the Basic Science Law eliminating the need for graduates of approved medical schools in the United States and Canada to take extensive, time-consuming examinations and a strong recommendation that the Legislature appropriate more money to medical schools to train doctors.

Nearly 4,000 students who will graduate from colleges in Michigan this year have applied for medical school training and unless additional funds are available to expand enrollments only 387 will be admitted, the Health Council says.

Doherty said "it is imperative that we up our enrollment to 500 to 600 medical students annually."

While there must have been a sound reason behind the Basic Science Law, like guaranteeing standards, and the legislature probably would have questions about retention of doctors trained to serve the state if funds for increased enrollments are considered, the two proposals seem to make sense. But they should come together.

Increasing enrollments in state medical schools would provide more doctors for Michigan, but it would also make more available to neighboring states who apparently accept Michigan graduates without the red tape doctors encounter coming to Michigan. To avoid exporting doctors, aside from legislation requiring Michigan graduates to remain in Michigan to practice for a specified number of years, is practically impossible. But if the state is going to lose a number of doctors, it should make it possible to import doctors under equal terms.

Not quite as regularly as the swallows of Capistrano, deer in the Grand Marais area nevertheless return each spring. Like tame pets, they're wandering the streets of this picturesque little community on the shores of Lake Superior, feeding on the shoots of young trees and occasionally munching morsels of food put out by townspeople. One resident said he counted 70 deer in the Coast Guard Point area, between Canal St. and Lake Superior. Fifty more were back there the next day. Nobody molests the animals, which sometimes will permit people to get close enough to pet them.

Republicans Sputter About Goof On Clips

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Tommy Farrell is going to try to forget the goof that handed Democratic State Sen. Sander M. Levin a bit of campaign fodder and he wishes everyone else would, too.

Right now Farrell is up to his ears in explanations and could use a vacation.

Crunch.

Farrell, as Whitmer's public information chief, collected the clippings on Milliken's announcement of a 10-point program last December to breathe new life into the Upper Peninsula economy.

Plan Unraveled

Farrell splashed headlines across a cover and published 100 copies of a 16-page booklet to show state officials what a grand job the Department of Commerce is doing.

From that point, everything unraveled.

Republican State Chairman William L. McLaughlin asked for 500 copies. So Farrell said the price would be $80, he'd send a bill. That was to be the end of it.

The 500 copies for McLaughlin got lost in the Commerce Department's printing operation. Another 500 was ordered. Then part of the original 500 showed up.

"Look, I'm an old firehorse newspaperman," said Farrell. "I'm for information and I want to get as much of it in circulation as I can."

Farrell decided it would be a waste to let the extra copies gather dust, so he sent them to newspapers with some other departmental releases.

Levin Cries Foul

Levin's people got a copy and cried foul — still unaware that the Republican State Central Committee had finally got its 500 copies.

"It was a good campaign thing," said a GOP staffer here.

Levin, getting an early foot in the governor's race, made a whole speech out of it at a Grand Rapids campaign meeting. He said Farrell's enterprise using tax money was more political than service.

"It's bad enough that the Commerce Department is wasting time, money and effort on this silly campaign document, but what is worse is that they have obviously spent more time on publicizing their plans to help the desperately troubled Upper Peninsula, than they have spent on implementing those plans," he said.

"There can be no valid purpose served by wasting pages and pages of printing, running copies of the same story over and over again. In fact, I see no valid public purpose at all.

"There is no followup, no action, only slick public relations and drift.

"This is the kind of government by press release and slick pamphlet which has characterized the whole Milliken administration. The motto might well be, 'Milliken published while problem solving perishes.' "

Farrell Aghast

Farrell was aghast.

"I didn't want to be a bureaucrat about this," he said. "It was information and I wanted to get it out. Sure the headlines were favorable to Milliken.

"But I can't tell a deskman on a newspaper what to write in his headlines even if I wanted to."

Farrell started his adult life as a newspaperman in Grand Rapids, later going to United Press International in Detroit and Lansing, then to state government, then to the Michigan Catholic Conference, now back to state government again.

That's what gave Farrell his yen for information.

Maybe he's overtrained, but it's his very own yen.

Ecological Pioneers Merit Recognition

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The rumbles about the plans for "Earth Day" on April 22 are, in one sense, disturbing.

Veterans of the "ecological struggle," who have been working for years to promote what they call the "science of survival," have been ignored by the high school and college crowd that is trying to make the anti-pollution crusade "their thing."

On the other hand, there are the science teachers in the 4,000 schools that intend to participate in "Earth Day" exercises — and these represent a stable element in promoting an awareness of the need to clean up the environment. They will be there next year after this year's crusade, which threatens to become a shortsighted anti-capitalist binge, has given way to something else.

It disturbed me to learn that my friend, Devin Garrity, who, as the head of the Devin Adair Publishing Co., has been publishing ecological books for years and is now promoting an Ecological Book Club, has not been asked to do a blessed thing in connection with the "Earth Day" program. Nor has Mrs. Joy Lee, who started the conservation group known as PYE (Protect Your Environment) at the Thomas School in Rowayton, Conn.

Either the young don't know who their natural allies are, or they are not sincere about working with individuals or groups which have shown some success in pushing the conservation cause within the framework of the only political and economic system that we have, or are likely to have for years to come.

* * *

The saga of Mrs. Lee ought to get top billing April 22. It wasn't so very long ago that that there was only one PYE club, the one formed at the Thomas School to preserve Connecticut costal wetlands from the indiscriminate dumping of old tires and rusty iron. The Thomas School club did yeoman work in persuading the Connecticut Legislature to pass a law calling for a survey and preservation of Connecticut's salt marshes, which are important spawning grounds for fish.

This is a local story, but the subsequent adventures of the PYE clubs is national. Almost within the space of a year the number of PYE groups has jumped from a solitary one to a busy 60. And 77,000 PYE buttons have been sold to the clubs' supporters.

Mrs. Lee has since transferred her efforts to Georgia, where she has persuaded Governor Lester Maddox to support new legislation designed to save the famous Glynn marshes, which make Connecticut salt meadows look pygmy-size by comparison.

* * *

Mrs. Lee, in a telephone conversation, said she felt sad that she hadn't been asked to do anything in connection with "Earth Day." But she refuses to be downcast about the long-term chances for a sound anti-pollution movement.

The young people, she said, would ultimately learn that you don't spread a gospel very efficiently by "backing people into corners."

Her Thomas School girls in Connecticut moved through existing community channels to pressure the State Legislature into doing something about preserving the tidelands. They deluged the legislators with some 800 personal handwritten letters. They got the commuters, many of whom are fishing and sailing fanatics, interested in something that would be good for their own hobbies, which depend on a clean Long Island Sound.

She would like to drive it home to the Students for a Democratic Society crowd that they are dependent on capitalistic industry for the technological information and methods that will, some day, get pollution out of our air and streams. And, even more important, there are those teachers of the "Earth Sciences," who will be the backbone of any continuing interest in the conservation movement.

* * *

As for Garrity and his publishing company, which, because it is conservatively oriented, has struggled ever since the Thirties without getting much help from our liberal review media, they aren't surprised that the "Earth Day" organizers haven't asked them for help in promoting the "ecological view."

They are used to a lonely fight. But it could be of interest that one of the Devin Adair ecological books, "The Web of Life" by John Storer, has sold more than a million copies in paperback. Or that Marjory Bartlett Sanger's "World of the Great White Heron," a study of the ecology of the Florida keys, has been one factor in the success of the movement to save the Everglades, which are just to the north of the keys.

The fight for a clean environment wasn't born yesterday, and the "Earth Day" demonstrators owe it to themselves to learn something about the pioneers who have made their movement possible.

Opening lead—two of clubs.

As the play progresses, declarer learns more and more about the makeup of the adverse hands, and quite often he can put this knowledge to effective use.

Consider this deal where South (Harold Ogust, well-known New York expert) became declarer at five spades—due to excessive exuberance by his partner.

You would think that South would go down after East won the club lead with the ace and returned a diamond to the ace, but Ogust managed the affair so well that he made the contract despite East's formidable holding of the K-J-10 of trumps.

He cashed the A-K of hearts and continued with a heart, ruffing with the eight—which won the trick as West discarded a diamond. It was not difficult for Ogust to deduce from West's failure to overruff that East had the K-J-10 of spades, and the only problem was how to go about eliminating one of East's two natural trump tricks.

This did not prove to be impossible after Ogust cashed the king of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy, ruffed a diamond, ruffed another heart with the nine, cashed dummy's king of clubs and ruffed the ten of clubs in his hand to produce this three-card position:

North
♠ A Q
♥ 8

West ♠ 6 ♦ Q — East ♠ K J 10

South
♠ 5 2
♦ J

Ogust now led the jack of diamonds and discarded the eight of hearts from dummy. East had to ruff and lead back a spade, and the outcome was that East's magnificent holding of the K-J-10 of trumps over the A-Q lost much of its luster.

Parent Asking Fair Share In Home Life

Dear Ann Landers: I am a parent who is sick and tired of reading articles on "How To Get Along With Your Teen-Ager." I wish someone would write an article on "How To Get Along With Your Parents." Here are a few suggestions for openers:

If Mom and Dad are short tempered and unpleasant, try using a few obsolete phrases such as, "What can I do to help?" "Yes, I'd be happy to." Another one is, "Thank you."

When the phone rings or there is a knock at the door, don't play like you are deaf. Get off your duff and see who it is — even though an able-bodied adult is right in the same room.

Offer to do a favor for your old beat-up mother — like hang up your clothes, clean the bathtub after you've used it or straighten up your room.

Be polite. When your parents turn on a Glenn Miller record and start to dance don't fall on the floor laughing. Show some respect. After all, folks in their 40's and 50's don't know better. It's the way they used to dance in the olden days.

This is a plea for tolerance and understanding, kids. Give us old fogies a break. We need it. — 1918

Dear 1918: That's my year, too. Thanks for speaking in behalf of us museum pieces. It's high time somebody gave us an assist.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: You have stated many times that you don't believe in lonely hearts clubs and computer matching—and for good reason. But you, Ann Landers, could perform a wonderful service if you would help the lonesome people in this world to find each other.

You could run a very high-type bureau. Each applicant's letter would be carefully considered. They would be required to send character references supplied by employers and clergymen. You might also agree to interview the finalists in your home.

The applicants could be matched according to age, religious affiliations, educational backgrounds, interests, hobbies and so on. For example, a widow with three small children could be matched with a widower with two small children. Get it? Please give this idea serious consideration, Ann. — Seattle

Dear Seattle: All I need is to open a matchmaking bureau in my home and I would be a divorcee with no small children. No husband in his right mind would stand for it.

I'm sure there are many decent people in the world who are lonely and would appreciate an introduction to other decent people who are also lonely, but playing Cupid can be dangerous and I want no part of it.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: A certain girl in our crowd thinks she is you. All of a sudden she remembered her middle name is Ann and she wants everyone to call her that. She gives advice to everybody whether they ask for it or not. She even tries to talk like you but it doesn't come off. She sounds ridiculous. Last week she started to comb her hair like yours. How do you feel about this? P. S. She is 14 years old. — Port Huron

Dear Port: Flattered.

COHO POLLUTION

The coho salmon is considered a trash fish in the ocean, but the Department of Natural Resources planted them in the Great Lakes and they go up our rivers and streams to spawn or lay their eggs then die.

Cliff Long, DNR Fish Biologist, says that the spring rains and melting snow will wash them down the streams and rivers and that is probably right, but where do they go? Into our bays and lakes, where walleyes, northern pike, perch and other game fish feed. They pollute the water where people swim along the shores.

At Thompson, west of Manistique, the shore is lined with dead coho.

The DNR is planting 100,000 coho's in the Haymeadow Creek which flows into the Whitefish Rover and into Little Bay de Noc. We will say that about half or 50,000 of them survive, stay in the bay and Lake Michigan for a year and a half and feed on every fish that swims in the Great Lakes. Muskrats and ducks also have been found in their stomachs.

Then they go up the Haymeadow Creek to spawn or lay their eggs after eating about "ten times" their weight during their cycle. They will die and about 3,000 will be snagged by sport fishermen because then they can't open their mouths to eat. That leaves about 47,000 fish that average about 10 to 15 pounds each to die and that's about a half million pounds or better of dead fish to wash down our streams and rivers to pollute the waters.

If the DNR would plant walleye, northern pike, perch and trout that are native fish to these waters they wouldn't have to plant every year because these fish produce by themselves where coho, they say, don't reproduce (and thank heaven they don't because in 5 or 6 years you wouldn't be able to catch anything but coho).

You can go over by Manistique and the mouth of the Thompson Creek and see dead salmon on the beach by the hundreds, lining our beaches about a quarter mile from the swimming beach and by now right on the beach where people swim.

Lloyd Ranguette
Fayette

(Editor's Note: According to Cliff Long, district fish biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, about 20,000 adult salmon from 1968 plantings returned to the Whitefish Rover system in 1969. About 5,000 were caught by sports fishermen, leaving about 15,000 to spawn and die, not 47,000. The DNR is monitoring affects of the dieoff at 17 locations to determine what impact, if any, it has on the habitat.)

That was one less than a year ago, but 16 more than in 1961 and if projections showing a slight decline in overall population for the Upper Peninsula hold up in the 1970 census the ratio of doctors per person has improved.

Since 1961, seven counties in the Upper Peninsula — Gogebic, Iron, Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, Menominee and Ontonagon — have lost doctors. In that same period, Alger, Baraga, Chippewa, Dickinson, Houghton, Marquette and Schoolcraft counties have registered gains. Delta County, although the number of doctors has gone as high as 26, has exactly the same number today, 21, as in 1961.

Marquette County, which has become a center of medical activity for the Upper Peninsula, has the greatest number of doctors, 65, and also has shown the greatest increase in the statistical period, jumping from 48 to 65. The greatest loss has been in Menominee County, where the number of practicing physicians declined from 16 in 1961 to 10 last month.

Doherty points out that the Vietnam War has caused a drain on the medical manpower of the state as in 1962 there were 277 doctors in service compared with 615 today, a gain of 338, and also that Michigan has more doctors serving in the Peace Corps, medical missions and on the S. S. Hope this year. But he also says that in recent years Michigan has been educating only half of the number of doctors needed to meet the needs of its citizens.

"Over 142 communities are seeking 600 or more family doctors," the Health Council reports. "Seventy-five communities are seeking 1,400 or more medical specialists. Several hospitals could be forced to close for lack of sufficient doctors unless improvement in medical manpower is forthcoming."

The problem of specialists is readily apparent in Delta County. With a few exceptions, most residents of the county in need of specialized attention must go to Marquette, Green Bay or elsewhere for attention.

The Michigan Health Council makes several suggestions about what might be done in the state to improve the medical manpower situation, including an amendment to the Basic Science Law eliminating the need for graduates of approved medical schools in the United States and Canada to take extensive, time-consuming examinations and a strong recommendation that the Legislature appropriate more money to medical schools to train doctors.

Nearly 4,000 students who will graduate from colleges in Michigan this year have applied for medical school training and unless additional funds are available to expand enrollments only 387 will be admitted, the Health Council says.

Doherty said "it is imperative that we up our enrollment to 500 to 600 medical students annually."

While there must have been a sound reason behind the Basic Science Law, like guaranteeing standards, and the legislature probably would have questions about retention of doctors trained to serve the state if funds for increased enrollments are considered, the two proposals seem to make sense. But they should come together.

Increasing enrollments in state medical schools would provide more doctors for Michigan, but it would also make more available to neighboring states who apparently accept Michigan graduates without the red tape doctors encounter coming to Michigan. To avoid exporting doctors, aside from legislation requiring Michigan graduates to remain in Michigan to practice for a specified number of years, is practically impossible. But if the state is going to lose a number of doctors, it should make it possible to import doctors under equal terms.

Not quite as regularly as the swallows of Capistrano, deer in the Grand Marais area nevertheless return each spring. Like tame pets, they're wandering the streets of this picturesque little community on the shores of Lake Superior, feeding on the shoots of young trees and occasionally munching morsels of food put out by townspeople. One resident said he counted 70 deer in the Coast Guard Point area, between Canal St. and Lake Superior. Fifty more were back there the next day. Nobody molests the animals, which sometimes will permit people to get close enough to pet them.

Republicans Sputter About Goof On Clips

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Tommy Farrell is going to try to forget the goof that handed Democratic State Sen. Sander M. Levin a bit of campaign fodder and he wishes everyone else would, too.

Right now Farrell is up to his ears in explanations and could use a vacation.

Crunch.

Farrell, as Whitmer's public information chief, collected the clippings on Milliken's announcement of a 10-point program last December to breathe new life into the Upper Peninsula economy.

Plan Unraveled

Farrell splashed headlines across a cover and published 100 copies of a 16-page booklet to show state officials what a grand job the Department of Commerce is doing.

From that point, everything unraveled.

Republican State Chairman William L. McLaughlin asked for 500 copies. So Farrell said the price would be $80, he'd send a bill. That was to be the end of it.

The 500 copies for McLaughlin got lost in the Commerce Department's printing operation. Another 500 was ordered. Then part of the original 500 showed up.

"Look, I'm an old firehorse newspaperman," said Farrell. "I'm for information and I want to get as much of it in circulation as I can."

Farrell decided it would be a waste to let the extra copies gather dust, so he sent them to newspapers with some other departmental releases.

Levin Cries Foul

Levin's people got a copy and cried foul — still unaware that the Republican State Central Committee had finally got its 500 copies.

"It was a good campaign thing," said a GOP staffer here.

Levin, getting an early foot in the governor's race, made a whole speech out of it at a Grand Rapids campaign meeting. He said Farrell's enterprise using tax money was more political than service.

"It's bad enough that the Commerce Department is wasting time, money and effort on this silly campaign document, but what is worse is that they have obviously spent more time on publicizing their plans to help the desperately troubled Upper Peninsula, than they have spent on implementing those plans," he said.

"There can be no valid purpose served by wasting pages and pages of printing, running copies of the same story over and over again. In fact, I see no valid public purpose at all.

"There is no followup, no action, only slick public relations and drift.

"This is the kind of government by press release and slick pamphlet which has characterized the whole Milliken administration. The motto might well be, 'Milliken published while problem solving perishes.' "

Farrell Aghast

Farrell was aghast.

"I didn't want to be a bureaucrat about this," he said. "It was information and I wanted to get it out. Sure the headlines were favorable to Milliken.

"But I can't tell a deskman on a newspaper what to write in his headlines even if I wanted to."

Farrell started his adult life as a newspaperman in Grand Rapids, later going to United Press International in Detroit and Lansing, then to state government, then to the Michigan Catholic Conference, now back to state government again.

That's what gave Farrell his yen for information.

Maybe he's overtrained, but it's his very own yen.

Ecological Pioneers Merit Recognition

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The rumbles about the plans for "Earth Day" on April 22 are, in one sense, disturbing.

Veterans of the "ecological struggle," who have been working for years to promote what they call the "science of survival," have been ignored by the high school and college crowd that is trying to make the anti-pollution crusade "their thing."

On the other hand, there are the science teachers in the 4,000 schools that intend to participate in "Earth Day" exercises — and these represent a stable element in promoting an awareness of the need to clean up the environment. They will be there next year after this year's crusade, which threatens to become a shortsighted anti-capitalist binge, has given way to something else.

It disturbed me to learn that my friend, Devin Garrity, who, as the head of the Devin Adair Publishing Co., has been publishing ecological books for years and is now promoting an Ecological Book Club, has not been asked to do a blessed thing in connection with the "Earth Day" program. Nor has Mrs. Joy Lee, who started the conservation group known as PYE (Protect Your Environment) at the Thomas School in Rowayton, Conn.

Either the young don't know who their natural allies are, or they are not sincere about working with individuals or groups which have shown some success in pushing the conservation cause within the framework of the only political and economic system that we have, or are likely to have for years to come.

The saga of Mrs. Lee ought to get top billing April 22. It wasn't so very long ago that that there was only one PYE club, the one formed at the Thomas School to preserve Connecticut costal wetlands from the indiscriminate dumping of old tires and rusty iron. The Thomas School club did yeoman work in persuading the Connecticut Legislature to pass a law calling for a survey and preservation of Connecticut's salt marshes, which are important spawning grounds for fish.

This is a local story, but the subsequent adventures of the PYE clubs is national. Almost within the space of a year the number of PYE groups has jumped from a solitary one to a busy 60. And 77,000 PYE buttons have been sold to the clubs' supporters.

Mrs. Lee has since transferred her efforts to Georgia, where she has persuaded Governor Lester Maddox to support new legislation designed to save the famous Glynn marshes, which make Connecticut salt meadows look pygmy-size by comparison.

Mrs. Lee, in a telephone conversation, said she felt sad that she hadn't been asked to do anything in connection with "Earth Day." But she refuses to be downcast about the long-term chances for a sound anti-pollution movement.

The young people, she said, would ultimately learn that you don't spread a gospel very efficiently by "backing people into corners."

Her Thomas School girls in Connecticut moved through existing community channels to pressure the State Legislature into doing something about preserving the tidelands. They deluged the legislators with some 800 personal handwritten letters. They got the commuters, many of whom are fishing and sailing fanatics, interested in something that would be good for their own hobbies, which depend on a clean Long Island Sound.

She would like to drive it home to the Students for a Democratic Society crowd that they are dependent on capitalistic industry for the technological information and methods that will, some day, get pollution out of our air and streams. And, even more important, there are those teachers of the "Earth Sciences," who will be the backbone of any continuing interest in the conservation movement.

As for Garrity and his publishing company, which, because it is conservatively oriented, has struggled ever since the Thirties without getting much help from our liberal review media, they aren't surprised that the "Earth Day" organizers haven't asked them for help in promoting the "ecological view."

They are used to a lonely fight. But it could be of interest that one of the Devin Adair ecological books, "The Web of Life" by John Storer, has sold more than a million copies in paperback. Or that Marjory Bartlett Sanger's "World of the Great White Heron," a study of the ecology of the Florida keys, has been one factor in the success of the movement to save the Everglades, which are just to the north of the keys.

The fight for a clean environment wasn't born yesterday, and the "Earth Day" demonstrators owe it to themselves to learn something about the pioneers who have made their movement possible.

Opening lead—two of clubs.

As the play progresses, declarer learns more and more about the makeup of the adverse hands, and quite often he can put this knowledge to effective use.

Consider this deal where South (Harold Ogust, well-known New York expert) became declarer at five spades—due to excessive exuberance by his partner.

You would think that South would go down after East won the club lead with the ace and returned a diamond to the ace, but Ogust managed the affair so well that he made the contract despite East's formidable holding of the K-J-10 of trumps.

He cashed the A-K of hearts and continued with a heart, ruffing with the eight—which won the trick as West discarded a diamond. It was not difficult for Ogust to deduce from West's failure to overruff that East had the K-J-10 of spades, and the only problem was how to go about eliminating one of East's two natural trump tricks.

This did not prove to be impossible after Ogust cashed the king of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy, ruffed a diamond, ruffed another heart with the nine, cashed dummy's king of clubs and ruffed the ten of clubs in his hand to produce this three-card position:

North
♠ A Q
♥ 8

West ♠ 6 ♦ Q

East ♠ K J 10

South
♠ 5 2
♦ J

Ogust now led the jack of diamonds and discarded the eight of hearts from dummy. East had to ruff and lead back a spade, and the outcome was that East's magnificent holding of the K-J-10 of trumps over the A-Q lost much of its luster.

Parent Asking Fair Share In Home Life

Dear Ann Landers: I am a parent who is sick and tired of reading articles on "How To Get Along With Your Teen-Ager." I wish someone would write an article on "How To Get Along With Your Parents." Here are a few suggestions for openers:

If Mom and Dad are short tempered and unpleasant, try using a few obsolete phrases such as, "What can I do to help?" "Yes, I'd be happy to." Another one is, "Thank you."

When the phone rings or there is a knock at the door, don't play like you are deaf. Get off your duff and see who it is — even though an able-bodied adult is right in the same room.

Offer to do a favor for your old beat-up mother — like hang up your clothes, clean the bathtub after you've used it or straighten up your room.

Be polite. When your parents turn on a Glenn Miller record and start to dance don't fall on the floor laughing. Show some respect. After all, folks in their 40's and 50's don't know better. It's the way they used to dance in the olden days.

This is a plea for tolerance and understanding, kids. Give us old fogies a break. We need it. — 1918

Dear 1918: That's my year, too. Thanks for speaking in behalf of us museum pieces. It's high time somebody gave us an assist.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: You have stated many times that you don't believe in lonely hearts clubs and computer matching—and for good reason. But you, Ann Landers, could perform a wonderful service if you would help the lonesome people in this world to find each other.

You could run a very high-type bureau. Each applicant's letter would be carefully considered. They would be required to send character references supplied by employers and clergymen. You might also agree to interview the finalists in your home.

The applicants could be matched according to age, religious affiliations, educational backgrounds, interests, hobbies and so on. For example, a widow with three small children could be matched with a widower with two small children. Get it? Please give this idea serious consideration, Ann. — Seattle

Dear Seattle: All I need is to open a matchmaking bureau in my home and I would be a divorcee with no small children. No husband in his right mind would stand for it.

I'm sure there are many decent people in the world who are lonely and would appreciate an introduction to other decent people who are also lonely, but playing Cupid can be dangerous and I want no part of it.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: A certain girl in our crowd thinks she is you. All of a sudden she remembered her middle name is Ann and she wants everyone to call her that. She gives advice to everybody whether they ask for it or not. She even tries to talk like you but it doesn't come off. She sounds ridiculous. Last week she started to comb her hair like yours. How do you feel about this? P. S. She is 14 years old. — Port Huron

Dear Port: Flattered.

COHO POLLUTION

The coho salmon is considered a trash fish in the ocean, but the Department of Natural Resources planted them in the Great Lakes and they go up our rivers and streams to spawn or lay their eggs then die.

Cliff Long, DNR Fish Biologist, says that the spring rains and melting snow will wash them down the streams and rivers and that is probably right, but where do they go? Into our bays and lakes, where walleyes, northern pike, perch and other game fish feed. They pollute the water where people swim along the shores.

At Thompson, west of Manistique, the shore is lined with dead coho.

The DNR is planting 100,000 coho's in the Haymeadow Creek which flows into the Whitefish Rover and into Little Bay de Noc. We will say that about half or 50,000 of them survive, stay in the bay and Lake Michigan for a year and a half and feed on every fish that swims in the Great Lakes. Muskrats and ducks also have been found in their stomachs.

Then they go up the Haymeadow Creek to spawn or lay their eggs after eating about "ten times" their weight during their cycle. They will die and about 3,000 will be snagged by sport fishermen because then they can't open their mouths to eat. That leaves about 47,000 fish that average about 10 to 15 pounds each to die and that's about a half million pounds or better of dead fish to wash down our streams and rivers to pollute the waters.

If the DNR would plant walleye, northern pike, perch and trout that are native fish to these waters they wouldn't have to plant every year because these fish produce by themselves where coho, they say, don't reproduce (and thank heaven they don't because in 5 or 6 years you wouldn't be able to catch anything but coho).

You can go over by Manistique and the mouth of the Thompson Creek and see dead salmon on the beach by the hundreds, lining our beaches about a quarter mile from the swimming beach and by now right on the beach where people swim.

Lloyd Ranguette
Fayette

(Editor's Note: According to Cliff Long, district fish biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, about 20,000 adult salmon from 1968 plantings returned to the Whitefish Rover system in 1969. About 5,000 were caught by sports fishermen, leaving about 15,000 to spawn and die, not 47,000. The DNR is monitoring affects of the dieoff at 17 locations to determine what impact, if any, it has on the habitat.)

State Legislature Faces Important Working Role

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Legislature enters mid-April faced with its annual threat of being s'oppered behind a bottleneck of controversial and demanding bills.

With the Senate expected to concentrate this week on committee meetings these are the major issues in the House:

—Whether to block decentralization of the Detroit school system: and how to consolidate local school districts elsewhere in the state.

—Whether to recommend that Michigan voters grant 18-year-olds access to the ballot box; and whether local civil ssrvice employes should have greater participation in party politics.

—Adoption of a proposed "Environmental Protection" Act that allows individual citizens to sue governmental agencies as well as business or industry for air, land and water pollution or other destruction of state natural resources.

Meanwhile, the $1.22 - billion Spencer - Ryan school aid bill and a companion, $350 - million tax bill face further delay.

Co-authors Of Plan

House Speaker William Ryan, D - Detroit, and Roy Spencer, R - Attica, coauthors of the plan, will take their case to more than a dozen meetings with educators, businessmen and interested citizens around the state. They will attempt to persuade their audiences to encourage legislators in Lansing to vote for the package which includes such controversial elements as a $22-million parochiaid fund and an unprecedented $40 million in state support of local classroom construction.

The package also envisions raising some $350 million in taxes by boosting the state personal rate from 2.6 to 3.5 per cent, while eliminating local property taxes as the basic source of revenue for school operation.

School Issue Pending

As those meetings go on across the state for two weeks, the House begins work in Lansing tonight faced with a second vote on a bill to delay reorganization of the Detroit school system.

Sponsored by Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D - Detroit, the measure would ask the city's voters to pass judgment on remapping attendance areas at the 22 high schools in the city.

The Detroit Board of Education, after much delay and uncertainly, recently moved to increase racial integration by busing students out of their normal areas.

A second measure, passed by the Senate last Friday, calls for repeal of the Act under which the Detroit board is operating.

School Consolidation

The O'Brien bill won a more than 2-1 House passage last week, but is being held up after Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R - Grosse Pointe, said he made a "gross error" in deciding to vote for it and asked the House to reconsider the issue.

Further down the calendar, but expected to be brought up this week is a variation of the same issue: a committee-drafted substitute for Gov. Wm. Milliken's plan to consolidate school districts across the state and eliminate those which do not operate a full range of grades from kindergarten through high school.

The House is scheduled to begin debate Thursday on Rep. Thomas Anderson's proposed "Environmental Protection" Act. Supported by Milliken after some revision, the bill proposes what lawyers say would be a new "common law" for pollution control.

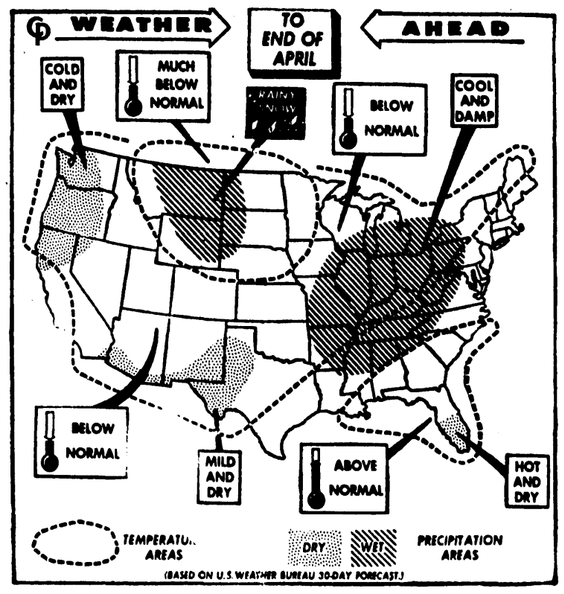
The House also is expected to take final action either Wednesday or Thursday on a proposal to amend the State Constitution so 18-year-olds may vote.

Voting Issue

If passed by both the House and Senate, the proposal could be placed on the ballot as a referendum issue of the November general election. Each house must muster two - thirds majorities to pass it.

Local civil service employes also could win permission for expanded action in political affairs under a bill facing action in the House. It would allow local civil service employes to be delegates to county or state party conventions and run for local offices.

It would not apply to State Civil Service employes, however.



Legislative Mercury Investigation Eyed

LANSING (AP) — A call for a legislative investigation of the mercury contamination in the Great Lakes was made by some Michigan Senators Monday night.

"There's no excuse for industry to thumb its nose" at the people," said Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, who earlier demanded a Senate Conservation Committee probe of the matter.

Meanwhile Monday, Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said his state would sue two chemical companies because of mercury pollution of Lake Erie. He named the Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Ont., and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit.

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes also said that his ban on commercial fishing in Ohio waters of Lake Erie would be indefinite. He also said Ohio may start checking fish imported from Canada.

Also, the Michigan Department of Agriculture said its tests showed traces of mercury in fish taken from Lake St. Clair, Lake Erie, and the St. Clair River.

In the Michigan Senate, Conservation Chairman Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, pointed out that he, House Conservation Chairman Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, and several other state officials had traveled to Toronto last week with Gov. William Millikn to check the situation with Ontario Authorities.

"I don't believe we could have found out about it as fast any other way," said Rockwell, who added that he would be attending a Washington meeting today.

"There is action being taken," he told colleagues.

Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, touched off the contamination discussion on the Senate floor by describing a film he had seen over the weekend on television.

"It showed some people who had had mercury poisoning," said Bowman, indicating the film did not involve the current situation.

"The people affected lost all control of themselves—like they had palsy...And it showed animals who'd eaten the fish, crawling down the streets, pulling themselves along with their front paws."

Bowman said he had asked the television station for permission to show the film to the Legislature, but still was awaiting their reply.

Sen. Brown says he is "demanding" that the Senate Conservation Committee begin public hearings on mercury pollution this week if possible.

Brown says the hearings should be in Detroit and Macomb Counties and in Canada if necessary. Fishing closures have been announced in some common waters of Michigan and Canada because of mercury contamination.

"I will not permit the fishing or other recreational activities of these public waters to be ruined by a handful of greedy industrialists," he said.

Brown also said "as a last resort fishing ought to be permitted in these waters for those persons who want to enjoy fishing and return their catches to the water without consuming them."

George Whitehead, deputy director of the State Bureau of Consumer Protection, said Monday the tests showed concentrations as high as 1.4 parts per million in a pickerel from Lake St. Clair. Of five fish taken from that lake, two showed only small traces of mercury.

The other two fish from Lake St. Clair contained .5 and .3 parts per million respectively.

A pickerel taken from the St. Clair river contained .7 parts per million of mercury.

Ten fish were tested from Lake Erie. One white bass contained .8 parts per million of mercury while the others showed mercury concentrations .2 parts per million or less.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration forbids the interstate shipment of any fish containing more than .5 parts per million of mercury.

State Legislature Faces Important Working Role

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Legislature enters mid-April faced with its annual threat of being stoppered behind a bottleneck of controversial and demanding bills.

With the Senate expected to concentrate this week on committee meetings these are the major issues in the House:

—Whether to block decentralization of the Detroit school system: and how to consolidate local school districts elsewhere in the state.

—Whether to recommend that Michigan voters grant 18-year-olds access to the ballot box; and whether local civil ssrvice employes should have greater participation in party politics.

—Adoption of a proposed "Environmental Protection" Act that allows individual citizens to sue governmental agencies as well as business or industry for air, land and water pollution or other destruction of state natural resources.

Meanwhile, the $1.22 - billion Spencer - Ryan school aid bill and a companion, $350 - million tax bill face further delay.

Co-authors Of Plan

House Speaker William Ryan, D - Detroit, and Roy Spencer, R - Attica, coauthors of the plan, will take their case to more than a dozen meetings with educators, businessmen and interested citizens around the state. They will attempt to persuade their audiences to encourage legislators in Lansing to vote for the package which includes such controversial elements as a $22-million parochiaid fund and an unprecedented $40 million in state support of local classroom construction.

The package also envisions raising some $350 million in taxes by boosting the state personal rate from 2.6 to 3.5 per cent, while eliminating local property taxes as the basic source of revenue for school operation.

School Issue Pending

As those meetings go on across the state for two weeks, the House begins work in Lansing tonight faced with a second vote on a bill to delay reorganization of the Detroit school system.

Sponsored by Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D - Detroit, the measure would ask the city's voters to pass judgment on remapping attendance areas at the 22 high schools in the city.

The Detroit Board of Education, after much delay and uncertainly, recently moved to increase racial integration by busing students out of their normal areas.

A second measure, passed by the Senate last Friday, calls for repeal of the Act under which the Detroit board is operating.

School Consolidation

The O'Brien bill won a more than 2-1 House passage last week, but is being held up after Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R - Grosse Pointe, said he made a "gross error" in deciding to vote for it and asked the House to reconsider the issue.

Further down the calendar, but expected to be brought up this week is a variation of the same issue: a committee-drafted substitute for Gov. Wm. Milliken's plan to consolidate school districts across the state and eliminate those which do not operate a full range of grades from kindergarten through high school.

The House is scheduled to begin debate Thursday on Rep. Thomas Anderson's proposed "Environmental Protection" Act. Supported by Milliken after some revision, the bill proposes what lawyers say would be a new "common law" for pollution control.

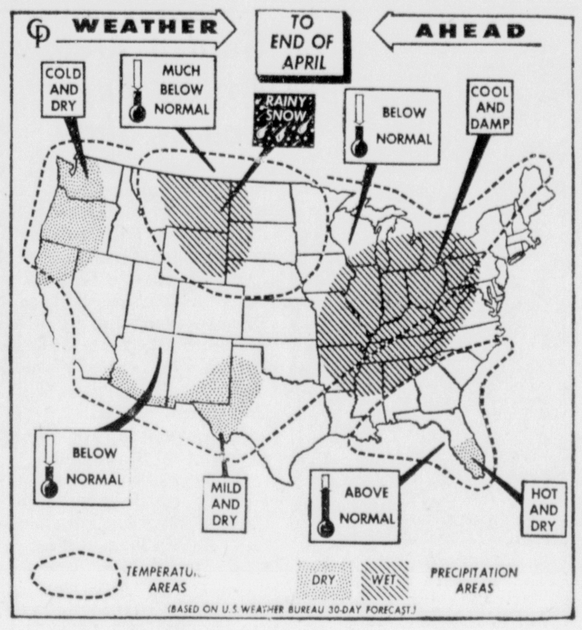
The House also is expected to take final action either Wednesday or Thursday on a proposal to amend the State Constitution so 18-year-olds may vote.

Voting Issue

If passed by both the House and Senate, the proposal could be placed on the ballot as a referendum issue of the November general election. Each house must muster two - thirds majorities to pass it.

Local civil service employes also could win permission for expanded action in political affairs under a bill facing action in the House. It would allow local civil service employes to be delegates to county or state party conventions and run for local offices.

It would not apply to State Civil Service employes, however.



Legislative Mercury Investigation Eyed

LANSING (AP) — A call for a legislative investigation of the mercury contamination in the Great Lakes was made by some Michigan Senators Monday night.

"There's no excuse for industry to thumb its nose" at the people," said Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, who earlier demanded a Senate Conservation Committee probe of the matter.

Meanwhile Monday, Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said his state would sue two chemical companies because of mercury pollution of Lake Erie. He named the Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Ont., and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit.

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes also said that his ban on commercial fishing in Ohio waters of Lake Erie would be indefinite. He also said Ohio may start checking fish imported from Canada.

Also, the Michigan Department of Agriculture said its tests showed traces of mercury in fish taken from Lake St. Clair, Lake Erie, and the St. Clair River.

In the Michigan Senate, Conservation Chairman Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, pointed out that he, House Conservation Chairman Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, and several other state officials had traveled to Toronto last week with Gov. William Millikn to check the situation with Ontario Authorities.

"I don't believe we could have found out about it as fast any other way," said Rockwell, who added that he would be attending a Washington meeting today.

"There is action being taken," he told colleagues.

Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, touched off the contamination discussion on the Senate floor by describing a film he had seen over the weekend on television.

"It showed some people who had had mercury poisoning," said Bowman, indicating the film did not involve the current situation.

"The people affected lost all control of themselves—like they had palsy . . And it showed animals who'd eaten the fish, crawling down the streets, pulling themselves along with their front paws."

Bowman said he had asked the television station for permission to show the film to the Legislature, but still was awaiting their reply.

Sen. Brown says he is "demanding" that the Senate Conservation Committee begin public hearings on mercury pollution this week if possible.

Brown says the hearings should be in Detroit and Macomb Counties and in Canada if necessary. Fishing closures have been announced in some common waters of Michigan and Canada because of mercury contamination.

"I will not permit the fishing or other recreational activities of these public waters to be ruined by a handful of greedy industrialists," he said.

Brown also said "as a last resort fishing ought to be permitted in these waters for those persons who want to enjoy fishing and return their catches to the water without consuming them."

George Whitehead, deputy director of the State Bureau of Consumer Protection, said Monday the tests showed concentrations as high as 1.4 parts per million in a pickerel from Lake St. Clair. Of five fish taken from that lake, two showed only small traces of mercury.

The other two fish from Lake St. Clair contained .5 and .3 parts per million respectively.

A pickerel taken from the St. Clair river contained .7 parts per million of mercury.

Ten fish were tested from Lake Erie. One white bass contained .8 parts per million of mercury while the others showed mercury concentrations .2 parts per million or less.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration forbids the interstate shipment of any fish containing more than .5 parts per million of mercury.

Mishap Fatal

NIAGARA, Wis. (AP)—Melvin Sandrin, 43, of Norway, Mich., was fatally injured Monday when he was pulled into an off-machine coater at the Kimberly-Clark Corp. mill.

GLADSTONE

Urban Renewal Project Discussed By Engineer

Many local merchants and interested residents of Gladstone attended the City Commission Monday to hear Gary Stinhoff, a representative of Williams & Works, Inc., engineers, Grand Rapids, discuss urban renewal.

The City Commission had requested the cooperation of merchants and the Chamber of Commerce in exploring a program that would be acceptable to those involved.

Stinhoff told the group that the success of urban renewal depends on the support and positive attitude of the business people. He said the first step would be for the City Commission to authorize an application for a survey and planning grant from the federal government.

Cost of this application, he said, would be about $1,000 to $2,000.

Procedure Reviewed

The property involved then would be appraised and the value and quality of existing buildings would be determined and a market study made. On this basis, Stinhoff said, the Planning Commission could determine which buildings would be saved or removed in order to provide parking areas and to achieve the end result of an attractive shopping area which would be competitve to a modern, shopping plaza.

After these factors have been determined and the City Commission has approved the action, the city would apply for a facilities grant, Stinhoff said. Project cost, including acquisition of the needed property, administrative fees and other incidentals would be totaled and one quarter of the gross cost would be Gladstone's share of the project. The remainder would be financed by the federal government.

Questions Asked

Stinhoff pointed out that any work done by the city in the urban renewal area within the past three years could be deemed retroactive to the city's share in the project.

The merchants asked many questions on various aspects of the project and Dr. D. A. Jondrow raised the question of the possibility of a "facelifting" of the various buildings in the downtown area, rather than a complete renewal project.

Stinhoff said this approach rarely is successful, but many merchants will remodel or improve their establishments when others do.

Robert Hupy, Gladstone insurance agent, recommended that the Planning Commission and City Commission go ahead with the study and apply for a grant.

Stinhoff said Gladstone probably would be on the federal government's "black list" for further urban renewal programs if the city failed to complete the program after a study is made. However, he said, this could be done with the city paying for the original application.

Hupy said be believes merchants should be encouraged to imporve property and Michael LaPine, pharmacist, also encouraging the commission to have the study made.

The final decision will be made by the City Commission.

Mayor Raymond Norton expressed thanks to the businessmen for their cooperation in the matter.

Gladstone Forensics Team In State Meet

Members of the Gladstone High School Forensics team under the direction of Steve Mitchell, won several honors at the U.P. Regional Forensics tournament in Marquette Saturday including the right to participate at the state of Michigan tournament in May.

Pacing the team was Jim Davis, who took the first place trophy as the top participant in the radio newsbroadcasting category. This entitles Davis to take part in the state meet to be held in Ann Arbor May 2.

Also entitled to take part in the state meet is the Gladstone multiple reading group. The group, doing a reading from "Up the Down Staircase", took second place in the contest. Those on the multiple reading group team were Cindy Damitz, Sue Labre, Jan Hess, Lori Isaacson, Cliff Barron, Lyn Apelgren, Mark Tibergian, and Kerry Strom.

Richard Salo, doing a dramatic monologue called "The Button", earned a superior rating while placing second in the U.P. in that category. Salo missed out on going down to the state meet by just a few points.

In the dramatic dialogue category, Sue Hoehn earned an excellent rating for her reading "The Nightbell." Linda Norlander won an excellent rating in the humorous interpretive reading category for her reading of "Willie the Worm."

John Skellenger and Ruthann Martin, who along with the others had won superior ratings at the district tournament in Escanaba to qualify for the U.P. meet, also did a fine job for the GHS team.

Forensics director Steve Mitchell was very pleased his team had done so well. "I hope we will be able to get down to Ann Arbor to allow these young people to participate in a state tournament," he said.

Norton Elected Gladstone Mayor By Commission

Raymond Norton, assistant postmaster of Gladstone, was elected mayor of Gladstone at the reorganization meeting of the City Commission Monday night at the City Hall.

Douglas Bovin was elected mayor pro tem.

Norton succeeds Arne Anderson, who thanked the people of Gladstone and the commission for their cooperation during his term as mayor. Anderson remains on the commission.

William Smith, newly elected commissioner, was sworn into office. He replaces Delbert Nelson, who did not seek another term.

City Manager Howard Keeton asked the commission to rescind action appropriating one mill to the Industrial Park Fund and to transfer $42,000 into the general fund. He said sufficient Industrial Park funds are available to pave the streets in the area.

Raymond Norton

Commissioner George Young recommended the action be tabled until the budget is completed, but the Commission voted 4 to 1 to rescind the mill.

On a motion by Bovin, the Commission voted to curtail all burning and dumping of wood wastes in the Industrial Park. A fire has been burning in the area for several days, causing many complaints from residents of the area.

A letter from the fire chief requesting removal of all fire alarm boxes in Gladstone was read. The false alarm which sounded at about 11:45 p.m. Saturday is just one of the many costly calls the department has answered in recent years and Chief Pete Dementer said that telephones are available in most homes, making the alarm system unnecessary. The commission tabled the request to allow further study.

Keeton informed the commission of a city employes election April 28, from 4 to 5:30 p.m., to determine if the majority of city employes wish to be represented by the Teamster's Union.

In other business, the commission set April 27 for a public hearing on the destruction of a house at 415 Wisconsin Ave; approved payments to Williams & Works for inspection service and to Champion, Inc., for work on the water treatment plant; referred three bids for workman's compensation insurance to the city attorney for study and four bids for gas and fuel oil to the city manager for analysis.

Deer Look Good At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS (AP) — It happens every spring. The deer have returned to the village of Grand Marais as they seek forage in the foliage, now freed by melting snow.

Walter Krackowski, a deputy sheriff and plant manager, said about 50 deer are in the town area.

"The deer are in beautiful shape. I saw only one scrawny deer. But it was a late fawn from last year and did not develop like the others," he said.

He said the deer mainly stay in a "yard" or area next to where he lives and that they walk along a hill that perimeters the town to get at the grass and other foliage at Coast Guard point, bordering Lake Superior.

He said the deer also have been going to residences, where owners left carrots and other vegetables in the ground during the winter.

Krackowski also said that "quite a few dogs were shot this winter for running deer."

There have been reports of hunger among some deer, with townspeople helping to provide food.

"Some folks feel sorry for them and are doing their best to help them along with hay and grain," said Axel Niemi, custodian of the village's parks and beaches.

There is even a report that one deer took a pair of long underwear from a wash line.

Two Firms Face Pollution Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown announced Monday the state will sue two major chemical companies to recover damages caused by mercury pollution of Lake Erie.

Brown said he has contacted attorneys in adjoining states and expects them to join in the filing of actions against Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Onatario, Canada, and Wyandotte Chemical. Co, of Detroit, Mich.

The move followed by a day the state's ban on all commercial fishing on the Ohio side of Lake Erie until the extent of an investigation into mercury pollution can be determined.

Brown said federal government tests show mercury traces in fish which exceed safety limits.

"This is a serious threat to the future of those fishing industries operating out of Ohio," Brown said. "It could wipe out the industries and the jobs of 800 employes."

Although both companies say they have curtailed dumping Mercury into the lake, Brown said the residual effect of mercury deposits already dispersed will remain for long periods of time.

Brown said that in Sandusky Bay Alone, the fishing industry stands to lose $837,000 in investment and $419,000 in gross annual income.

Continued Slide Noted In Car Sales

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic auto sales, which got the U.S. industry off to the worst first quarter since 1967, continued to slide as the year entered the second quarter.

The four major automakers reported new car sales in the first 10 days of April were down 13.7 compared to the same period of 1969. There were nine selling days in both periods.

Both General Motors, which has led the sales decline all year, and Chrysler Corp., which ended a major sales incentive campaign March 31, showed sharp drops in the period.

GM reported sales of 108,107 cars, down 17.4 per cent from the 130,732 sold last year. Chrysler sold 29,676 cars, off 19.9 per cent from last year.

For the year, GM sales are down by 18.4 per cent and its share of the U.S. new car market has slipped from 54 per cent at this time last year to 50.4 per cent.

Urban Renewal Project Discussed By Engineer

Many local merchants and interested residents of Gladstone attended the City Commission Monday to hear Gary Stinhoff, a representative of Williams & Works, Inc., engineers, Grand Rapids, discuss urban renewal.

The City Commission had requested the cooperation of merchants and the Chamber of Commerce in exploring a program that would be acceptable to those involved.

Stinhoff told the group that the success of urban renewal depends on the support and positive attitude of the business people. He said the first step would be for the City Commission to authorize an application for a survey and planning grant from the federal government.

Cost of this application, he said, would be about $1,000 to $2,000.

Procedure Reviewed

The property involved then would be appraised and the value and quality of existing buildings would be determined and a market study made. On this basis, Stinhoff said, the Planning Commission could determine which buildings would be saved or removed in order to provide parking areas and to achieve the end result of an attractive shopping area which would be competitve to a modern, shopping plaza.

After these factors have been determined and the City Commission has approved the action, the city would apply for a facilities grant, Stinhoff said. Project cost, including acquisition of the needed property, administrative fees and other incidentals would be totaled and one quarter of the gross cost would be Gladstone's share of the project. The remainder would be financed by the federal government.

Questions Asked

Stinhoff pointed out that any work done by the city in the urban renewal area within the past three years could be deemed retroactive to the city's share in the project.

The merchants asked many questions on various aspects of the project and Dr. D. A. Jondrow raised the question of the possibility of a "facelifting" of the various buildings in the downtown area, rather than a complete renewal project.

Stinhoff said this approach rarely is successful, but many merchants will remodel or improve their establishments when others do.

Robert Hupy, Gladstone insurance agent, recommended that the Planning Commission and City Commission go ahead with the study and apply for a grant.

Stinhoff said Gladstone probably would be on the federal government's "black list" for further urban renewal programs if the city failed to complete the program after a study is made. However, he said, this could be done with the city paying for the original application.

Hupy said be believes merchants should be encouraged to imporve property and Michael LaPine, pharmacist, also encouraging the commission to have the study made.

The final decision will be made by the City Commission.

Mayor Raymond Norton expressed thanks to the businessmen for their cooperation in the matter.

SPEC. 4 James J. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cook, 525 Dakota Ave., received the Army Commendation Medal during recent ceremonies near Cu Chi, Vietnam. Spec. 4 Cook earned the award for meritorious service while serving as a machine gunner in Co. C, 1st Bn. of the 25th Infantry Division's 27th Infantry. During the same ceremonies, he also received the Air Medal for meritorious service while participating in aerial flight.

Garden Area 4-H'ers Enjoy County Show

Big Bay de Noc 4-H Club members enjoyed the County Style Show held at the Escanaba Junior High School, Saturday, April 11. Some 48 girls from the Fayette Ghost Towners Club, the Big Bay de Noc Pioneers and the St. Jacques Club made the trip by bus. Driver was Orville Martin.

Queen candidates were Lael Rasmussen, Garden, Carla Laux, Fayette and Virginia Pomeroy of St. Jacques.

Gold ribbon awards for clothing construction went to Carla Laux, Lael Rasmussen, Lael Stern, Lona Lucas, with Lael Rasmussen and Lael Stern, senior miss; Kathy Ansell, Suzanna Cota, and Patti Thill, junior miss.

Gold ribbon winners in knitting were Carla Laux, Lael Stern, and Kathy Ansell, with Lael Stern named to the top five in the county. Silver ribbon winners for clothing construction were Pam Forhart, Joanne Paulson and Debra Robare.

Leaders attending were: Olive McClinchey, Mrs. Christine Groleau, Mrs. Garth Briggs, Mrs. Ellen Robare, Mrs. Ray Allen, Mrs.. Audrey Ansell, Mrs. Betty Paulson, Mrs. Lois Beaudre, Mrs. Pat Rasmussen ond Mrs. Marion Cota.

Norton Elected Gladstone Mayor By Commission

Raymond Norton, assistant postmaster of Gladstone, was elected mayor of Gladstone at the reorganization meeting of the City Commission Monday night at the City Hall.

Douglas Bovin was elected mayor pro tem.

Norton succeeds Arne Anderson, who thanked the people of Gladstone and the commission for their cooperation during his term as mayor. Anderson remains on the commission.

William Smith, newly elected commissioner, was sworn into office. He replaces Delbert Nelson, who did not seek another term.

City Manager Howard Keeton asked the commission to rescind action appropriating one mill to the Industrial Park Fund and to transfer $42,000 into the general fund. He said sufficient Industrial Park funds are available to pave the streets in the area.

Commissioner George Young recommended the action be tabled until the budget is completed, but the Commission voted 4 to 1 to rescind the mill.

On a motion by Bovin, the Commission voted to curtail all burning and dumping of wood wastes in the Industrial Park. A fire has been burning in the area for several days, causing many complaints from residents of the area.

A letter from the fire chief requesting removal of all fire alarm boxes in Gladstone was read. The false alarm which sounded at about 11:45 p.m. Saturday is just one of the many costly calls the department has answered in recent years and Chief Pete Dementer said that telephones are available in most homes, making the alarm system unnecessary. The commission tabled the request to allow further study.

Raymond Norton

Keeton informed the commission of a city employes election April 28, from 4 to 5:30 p.m., to determine if the majority of city employes wish to be represented by the Teamster's Union.

In other business, the commission set April 27 for a public hearing on the destruction of a house at 415 Wisconsin Ave; approved payments to Williams & Works for inspection service and to Champion, Inc., for work on the water treatment plant; referred three bids for workman's compensation insurance to the city attorney for study and four bids for gas and fuel oil to the city manager for analysis.

Continued Slide Noted In Car Sales

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic auto sales, which got the U.S. industry off to the worst first quarter since 1967, continued to slide as the year entered the second quarter.

The four major automakers reported new car sales in the first 10 days of April were down 13.7 compared to the same period of 1969. There were nine selling days in both periods.

Both General Motors, which has led the sales decline all year, and Chrysler Corp., which ended a major sales incentive campaign March 31, showed sharp drops in the period.

GM reported sales of 108,107 cars, down 17.4 per cent from the 130,732 sold last year. Chrysler sold 29,676 cars, off 19.9 per cent from last year.

For the year, GM sales are down by 18.4 per cent and its share of the U.S. new car market has slipped from 54 per cent at this time last year to 50.4 per cent.

Gladstone Forensics Team In State Meet

Members of the Gladstone High School Forensics team under the direction of Steve Mitchell, won several honors at the U.P. Regional Forensics tournament in Marquette Saturday including the right to participate at the state of Michigan tournament in May.

Pacing the team was Jim Davis, who took the first place trophy as the top participant in the radio newsbroadcasting category. This entitles Davis to take part in the state meet to be held in Ann Arbor May 2.

Also entitled to take part in the state meet is the Gladstone multiple reading group. The group, doing a reading from "Up the Down Staircase", took second place in the contest. Those on the multiple reading group team were Cindy Damitz, Sue Labre, Jan Hess, Lori Isaacson, Cliff Barron, Lyn Apelgren, Mark Tibergian, and Kerry Strom.

Richard Salo, doing a dramatic monologue called "The Button", earned a superior rating while placing second in the U.P. in that category. Salo missed out on going down to the state meet by just a few points.

In the dramatic dialogue category, Sue Hoehn earned an excellent rating for her reading "The Nightbell." Linda Norlander won an excellent rating in the humorous interpretive reading category for her reading of "Willie the Worm."

John Skellenger and Ruthann Martin, who along with the others had won superior ratings at the district tournament in Escanaba to qualify for the U.P. meet, also did a fine job for the GHS team.

Forensics director Steve Mitchell was very pleased his team had done so well. "I hope we will be able to get down to Ann Arbor to allow these young people to participate in a state tournament," he said.

Sept. 5 Ivan Hardwick arrived home Thursday after receiving his discharge from the United States Army, following an 11 month tour of duty in Bien Hoa, Vietnam. Spec. 5 Hardwick and his wife, the former Krystal Ward and son Ivan Jr., are visiting in Nahma with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hardwick and in Garden with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ward Sr. They expect to make their home in Escanaba.

Basketball Game

A basketball game between area teachers and old time players was held on Thursday evening, April 9 at the Garden Town hall, for the entertainment of area families and children. The game ended in a tie.

Birth

A son, Brent Lee, weighing 8 pounds, 10½ ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Vern Nothbohm of Spring Green, Wis. Mrs. Notbohm is the former Yvonne Grenier of Garden. He is the couples' second child. Paternal grandparent is Roman Notbohm of Wisconsin. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Grenier of Kates Bay.

Deer Look Good At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS (AP) — It happens every spring. The deer have returned to the village of Grand Marais as they seek forage in the foliage, now freed by melting snow.

Walter Krackowski, a deputy sheriff and plant manager, said about 50 deer are in the town area.

"The deer are in beautiful shape. I saw only one scrawny deer. But it was a late fawn from last year and did not develop like the others," he said.

He said the deer mainly stay in a "yard" or area next to where he lives and that they walk along a hill that perimeters the town to get at the grass and other foliage at Coast Guard point, bordering Lake Superior.

He said the deer also have been going to residences, where owners left carrots and other vegetables in the ground during the winter.

Krackowski also said that "quite a few dogs were shot this winter for running deer."

There have been reports of hunger among some deer, with townspeople helping to provide food.

"Some folks feel sorry for them and are doing their best to help them along with hay and grain," said Axel Niemi, custodian of the village's parks and beaches.

There is even a report that one deer took a pair of long underwear from a wash line.

Two Firms Face Pollution Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown announced Monday the state will sue two major chemical companies to recover damages caused by mercury pollution of Lake Erie.

Brown said he has contacted attorneys in adjoining states and expects them to join in the filing of actions against Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Onatario, Canada, and Wyandotte Chemical. Co, of Detroit, Mich.

The move followed by a day the state's ban on all commercial fishing on the Ohio side of Lake Erie until the extent of an investigation into mercury pollution can be determined.

Brown said federal government tests show mercury traces in fish which exceed safety limits.

"This is a serious threat to the future of those fishing industries operating out of Ohio," Brown said. "It could wipe out the industries and the jobs of 800 employes."

Although both companies say they have curtailed dumping Mercury into the lake, Brown said the residual effect of mercury deposits already dispersed will remain for long periods of time.

Brown said that in Sandusky Bay Alone, the fishing industry stands to lose $837,000 in investment and $419,000 in gross annual income.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Child's Welfare Club Style Show Is Successful

GLADSTONE — The Child's Welfare Club Style Show held Sunday was a great success with many people unable to attend because of a lack of space. The Fellowship Hall of First Lutheran Church was full to capacity and everyone voiced their approval of an excellent evening's entertainment.

Mrs. C. M. Sherman was general chairman of the event and was assisted by Mrs. Rene Maskart who presented the bridal scene which climaxed the show. Mrs. Robert Winchester narrated the bridal scene and Mrs. James Johnson, club president, narrated the remainder of the performance.

All the models from the tiny tots to matrons, displayed their attire with poise.

Models were Sheri Hess, Greta Wolf, David Cowen, Mary Martin, Heidi Fitzgerald, Mrs. Sherman, Diane Smith, Bette Jarvis, Debra LaFave, Mrs. Mary Beauchamp, Mrs. Gary Hess, Mrs. Paul Cole, Mrs. Paul Cowen, Patricia Butch, Katie Peterson, Mrs. Edmund Stevens, Mrs. Irving DeRoeck, Mrs. John Gustafson, Mrs. Justin Swee, Mrs. John McElhattan, Chris Sjoquist, Johanna Treichel, Mrs. Norman Butler and Mrs. James Johnson.

Mrs. Ed LeDuc showed wigs from the Lora Line Fashion Shop and members of the bridal party were Diane Maskart, the bride, Mrs. Marvin Carlson, Mrs. Rene Maskart, Jana Apelgren, Mary Margaret Verhamme, Mrs. Reuben Sjoquist, David Maskart and Charles Creten.

The musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Movalson, Jr., was well received and included vocal and instrumental selections by Ruthann Martin and Judy Watson.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. B. H. Skellenger and Mrs. Glenn Nelson in charge of arrangements.

Rock Area Persons Enjoy Class Play

The Rock Junior Class play, "The Skeleton Walks," provided laughter throughout the evening Saturday at the Rock School.

Mrs. Eliza Hubbard was portrayed by Dan Conner. At the very end he turned out to be a detective, disguised as a housekeeper with a deaf mute son, played by Susie Westlund. A typical nosey young teenager was played by John Peterson.

Other members of the cast included John Linjala, Dianne Croasdell, Tina Mankiewicz, Dianne Westlund, Tim Connors, Wanda Russell, and Susie Laitinen.

An unusual character in the play was Minka, who played the part of Nibs. Minka is a Keshond dog, owned by the Shaff family who recently moved east of Rock.

The play was under the direction of George Kulack, class advisor. It was written by Felicia Metcalfe and produced by special arrangement with the Heuer Publishing Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

St. Joseph's Home and School Association will meet Wednesday at the school. Room visitation will begin at 7:30 p.m. followed by the business meeting at 8.

Guest speaker Patrolman R. Kaltenbach of the Escanaba Police Dept., will present a program on child safety. Refreshments will be served by the third grade room mothers.

After the meeting there will be a filmstrip showing for parents of children in fourth through the eighth grade.

Isabella Circle Meeting Held

Daughters of Isabella, Trinity Circle 362 held a business meeting Monday evening at the Teamster's Hall with 52 members in attendance.

Cards of the player's choice were played with individual table prizes awarded. The guest award was presented to Mrs. Carl Matthews. Lunch was served during the evening.

Members are to make plans to attend a Mass and Communion breakfast at St. Anne's Church at 10 a.m. on Sunday, April 26. Mrs. Maurice Pratt is chairman of the event.

People

Orpha B. Lemmer has returned from Halandale, Fla., where she had spent the winter months. Her daughter, Mrs. Neale Ryno flew to Florida and drove her back home.

Americans eat more than one fifth of their annual milk supply as butter, and the long downward-trend of butter use in this country has leveled off.

Mrs. Thomas M. Gannon (Lee's Studio)

Cathy Anderson And Thomas M. Gannon Wed

St. Anne's Church in Escanaba was the setting for the wedding Saturday, April 11 uniting Cathy Marie Anderson of Rte. 2 Escanaba and Thomas M. Gannon of Escanaba.

Officiating at the 12 noon Nuptial Mass was the Rev. Theodore Brodeur. Serving the Mass were Randy Kralovitz and Robert Butler. Organist for the service was Diane Hamelin and soloists were Sister Andrea and Danny Snow. Vases of yellow snapdragons and yellow mums adorned the church altar for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sovey of Rte. 2 Escanaba and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gannon, 426 S. 15th St.

Traditional Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length traditional gown made for her by Debbie VanEffen of Escanaba. The gown was fashioned of silk-lined white crepe de chine and styled with a Mandarin neckline, long cuffed sleeves and a chapel train and featured white daisy trim at the neckline, cuffs, gown front and train.

A headpiece of silk crepe daisies held her long sweeping veil of illusion and she carried a basket of majestic daisies with yellow garnette roses and ivy cascading to the floor. During the service, she placed a single rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Maid of honor for her sister was Christine Sovey of Escanaba and bridesmaids were Virginia Vader of E. Lansing, Kathy Gannon, sister of the bridegroom and Wendy Pepin, the bride's cousin, both of Escanaba.

Yellow Chiffon

They were attired in yellow chiffon floor length gowns fashioned with Empire waistlines and full illusion sleevves. Floral braid trimmed the cuffs and waistlines.

They wore fresh flower headpieces tinted to match gowns and they carried baskets of yellow daisies and pompons in golden shades.

Flower Girl

Becky Sovey, Escanaba, was flower girl for her sister and was attired identical to the bride. Her gown and veil were made by the bride. She carried a miniature basket filled with daisies and roses. Carrying the rings was Jimmy Lemerand of Bark River, nephew of the bride.

Serving as besuman was Mac Anderson of Manhattan, Kan. and groomsmen were Jerry Gannon, Robin Sheedlo and Robert Pearson of Escanaba. Performing ushering duties were Marc Taylor and Dave Kaziateck.

Mothers' Attire

Mrs. Sovey wore for her daughter's wedding a baby blue crepe long-sleeved dress styled with a jeweled collar with white accessories and Mrs. Gannon chose a coral colored three piece knit ensemble with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented carnation corsages to complement their attire. Grandmothers of the couple were also presented corsages.

Reception

The reception was held at the Bark River Legion Hall from 4 to 8 p.m. followed by a wedding dance. Assisting with duties were Tammy Sovey, Kelly Gannon, Maureen Gannon, Fran Pepin, Lorrie Lancour, Patti Villeneuve and Mrs. Sharon Kozar. The wedding cake was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dale Lancour.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at Rte. 2 Escanaba. Both young people are graduates of Escanaba Area High School. The bride is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Mr. Gannon is employed by the Harnischfeger Corp.

Bethany Ladies Plan Special Meet Wednesday

An interesting evening has been arranged for the April meeting of Bethany Lutheran Church Women to be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Guests will be the Rev. and Mrs. Ray S. Peterson from Christ the King Lutheran Church. Rev. Peterson will be the speaker and his topic will be, "Love and Service." Devotions will be given by Mrs. A. V. Aronson.

Musical numbers will include a piano solo by Jill VanEffen, and harp and vocal selections by Birgit Olson.

This meeting will be in the form of a baby shower. Members who have been making articles of clothing for needy babies are to bring them at this time. Good, used baby clothing is also needed.

A special feature of the program will be a display of baby pictures to be arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Buckland, chairman of the projects committee. Members are to bring an old baby picture, if they have one available, and during the course of the evening an opportunity will be given to see how many can be identified.

The Delight Circle is in charge of the program and Cherish Circle members are hostesses. All members and friends are encouraged to attend.

Events

Webster PTA

Thomas Neumann presided at the Webster PTA meeting Monday evening at the school. Room visitation was held at 7:30. Would you like to hear a good clean story?

It goes like this: Buy a new Gas range and forget about oven cleaning, forever. Not bad, huh? And that's not the whole story.

The new Gas self-cleaning oven will clean itself automatically, spotlessly and do the whole job for about 2¢. It's a new way of life for the housewife. No more rubber gloves, strong detergents or harsh cleaning agents.

And while we're on the subject, this new Gas range simply cooks food better than anything you've ever used. It provides complete heat control. At all times. No matter what you're cooking. It will cook faster. Cleaner. And do it all for less money. See the new Gas self-cleaning oven today at dealer or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms. It's great for women who like to cook, period. Cook with Gas . . . it'll serve you right.

Major Hunting, Fishing Project Near Realization

By KENNETH S. LOWE

NEWBERRY — For more than 20 years the citizens of Luce County have worked for a major public hunting and fishing project.

Now, thanks to a great deal of effort on the local, state and federal levels, the Dollarville Flooding Project promises to become a reality this year.

The last piece of land needed to begin development of the 1,400-acre impoundment on the fabled Thaquamenon River was accepted as a gift by the Michigan Natural Resources Commission at its March meeting.

The $5,000 needed to acquire the last parcel of land, a 22-acre tract on the proposed dam site, was raised through local contributions over a period of several years.

Need $50,000 Yet

All but $50,000 of the $250,000 needed for the project has been committed, and backers of the project hope to obtain the missing portion from the state recreation bond fund this year. Approval for the $50,000 appropriation from the fund must be granted by the Natural Resources Commission and the Legislature.

"We hope the project will be started this year," said James Bourque, Sault Ste. Marie, executive director for the Eastern Upper Peninsula Economic Development District.

He said construction costs for the project have risen from $160,000 to $250,000 in just two years.

The $200,000 in committed money is from federal sources—$80,000 from the Pitman-Robertson fund (from an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition), $80,000 from the Dingell-Johnson fund (from a tax on sport fishing equipment) and $40,000 from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

When completed, the flooding is expected to provide excellent waterfowl hunting and fishing.

"The impoundment will make a good nesting area for ducks and geese and a fine layover area for migrating waterfowl," said Ray Gummerson, Marquette, district extension director of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Center, who worked extensively on the project.

"The area once was a good fishing spot for northern pike and perch, and it has been stocked with muskellunge at least once. The flooding should result in productive fishing summer and winter."

"Before the old dam washed out in 1928, this was a great waterfowl flyway," commented District Judge Robert Wood of Newberry, who has spearheaded local efforts to have the dam rebuilt.

"Wild rice used to grow there, and it is one of the few places in Michigan where wild rice will reproduce itself."

River Floods Area

Since the dam washed out, the Tahquamenon River floods over a mile wide area at Dollarville in the spring, Wood said. Fish spawn in the shallows but the eggs spoil when the water recedes. This won't happen after the dam is rebuilt, said Wood, who is chairman of the Dollarville Dam Committee.

Wood said all the land around the impoundment will be publicly owned and that no private cabins will be erected on the shore. A small park, campground area and boat launching sites may be built along the impoundment, however.

Wood personally purchased some of the land needed for the impoundment and gave it to the state. He also has donated uncounted hours of time to legal matters involved in the project.

Local residents have dreamed of a Dollarville Flooding Project ever since 1948, when the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club initiated local action to have the dam rebuilt. Now that it is nearing reality, the people of Luce County are convinced it was worth the long wait.

Lake Erie Fish Ban Indefinite

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Monday that the length of his ban on commercial fishing in Ohio waters of Lake Erie is indefinite and warned that the state may begin checking fish imported from Canada for mercury contamination.

"I think that the fish that are coming out of the Canadian side of the lake ought to be treated the same as they are here," Rhodes said after being confronted by a small knot of unhappy Ohio fishermen at a Cleveland news conference.

Rhodes, who issued a 60-day executive order banning commercial fishing from the lake Sunday, said the ban could be lifted within a week but warned that it could also be kept in effect for two to three years if necessary.

Rhodes imposed the ban pending federal help in an investigation into the extent and sources of mercury contamination in the lake.

Ohio Health Director Dr. Emmett W. Arnold disclosed that one Ohio plant, the Detrex Chemical Co. of Ashtabula, had been ordered Monday to stop discharging allegedly mercury-tainted effluent into Lake Erie.

State Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse said that of 28 Lake Erie fish tested by the state in 1970, half contained more than .5 parts per million of mercury, the maximum allowed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Stackhouse said the levels ranged from 4.6 parts per million in one catfish to .24 parts per million in a sample Coho salmon.

Spokesman for a group of seven fishermen and fish dealers complained that no mercury had been found in Lake Erie fish tested recently by Canadian officials and that fish taken from the Canadian side of the lake were being sold in Ohio.

Rhodes has charged that the Michigan and Canadian industries are responsible for Lake Erie's mercury pollution problems. He said Monday that the Detroit River and River Raisin in Michigan are to blame for 85 per cent of the lake's pollution problems.

Friendly Poodle Causes Problem

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "The poor mailman has enough trouble fending off mean dogs, let alone being responsible for the friendly ones," said Municipal Court Judge William A. Graham.

Graham then dismissed a $100 claim by Robert L. Blanchard Sr. against mail carrier Norman E. Duhamel for cost of medical treatment for his poodle.

The poodle was injured, all parties agreed, when he was attacked by a neighborhood collie which struck up a friendship with Duhamel and was following him about his appointed rounds.

The judge told Blanchard he was suing the wrong man.

Are Students Eating Off 'Fat Of Land?'

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News reported today "the federal government is paying the food bills of some—perhaps many — Michigan college students who could afford to feed themselves."

The News said it had uncovered several cases of students who either lied or had their parents lie in order to qualify for food stamps which they redeemed at stores — in some cases over several months.

County welfare officials—who run the program for the federal government — concede, according to the News, that hundreds of college students have begun participating in the last few months, but say they think abuses are minimal.

One student at an outstate college, who has been on the program for eight months, was quoted by the News as saying:

"It started out legally. I saw a story in the local paper about the program and it said some college students had qualified for food stamps.

"I went in and checked on it and the people at the local office told me that if we constituted a 'household,' earned less than $265 a month and had less than $1,000 in liquid assets that we would qualify."

(Federal regulations do not stipulate that a household has to be a family, only a group of people living together who cook meals at the residence.)

The News said its student and his friends filled out the forms for food stamps and had to pay only $2 for $60 worth of food.

"We qualified except for one thing," the student was quoted further. "They sent a form to our various parents asking if they supported us. Two of the parents lied

"They said they didn't support their children, but they were sending about $100 a month to pay for tuition and other things. But there's no place for the parents to sign the form. They just have to check off some boxes and send the form back in.

"We had to verify our income and our banking accounts and for the first couple of months we did this.

"But for six months in a row I showed them the same pay stub and they never asked any questions. They never checked my bank account to see if I was telling the truth.

"One of the others altered the amount in his checking account and they never said anything. The guy just looked at the balance written and said O.K."

"Two of the students in the apartment later started new jobs—both of them worked for the university — but never reported the new income."

The News said the students involved in this instance all have cars, which it added "is legal under the program." It also quoted one of the students as saying "we have steak every night, and we buy potato chips and mixes for the parties we have."

In another case the News said it verified three students living together have a combined income which is double the maximum allowed, but still have been able to qualify.

In a third case, the newspaper said it had found a student on a full athletic scholarship also has qualified for food stamps.

Major Hunting, Fishing Project Near Realization

By KENNETH S. LOWE

NEWBERRY — For more than 20 years the citizens of Luce County have worked for a major public hunting and fishing project.

Now, thanks to a great deal of effort on the local, state and federal levels, the Dollarville Flooding Project promises to become a reality this year.

The last piece of land needed to begin development of the 1,400-acre impoundment on the fabled Thaquamenon River was accepted as a gift by the Michigan Natural Resources Commission at its March meeting.

The $5,000 needed to acquire the last parcel of land, a 22-acre tract on the proposed dam site, was raised through local contributions over a period of several years.

Need $50,000 Yet

All but $50,000 of the $250,000 needed for the project has been committed, and backers of the project hope to obtain the missing portion from the state recreation bond fund this year. Approval for the $50,000 appropriation from the fund must be granted by the Natural Resources Commission and the Legislature.

"We hope the project will be started this year," said James Bourque, Sault Ste. Marie, executive director for the Eastern Upper Peninsula Economic Development District.

He said construction costs for the project have risen from $160,000 to $250,000 in just two years.

The $200,000 in committed money is from federal sources—$80,000 from the Pitman-Robertson fund (from an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition), $80,000 from the Dingell-Johnson fund (from a tax on sport fishing equipment) and $40,000 from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

When completed, the flooding is expected to provide excellent waterfowl hunting and fishing.

"The impoundment will make a good nesting area for ducks and geese and a fine layover area for migrating waterfowl," said Ray Gummerson, Marquette, district extension director of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Center, who worked extensively on the project.

"The area once was a good fishing spot for northern pike and perch, and it has been stocked with muskellunge at least once. The flooding should result in productive fishing summer and winter."

"Before the old dam washed out in 1928, this was a great waterfowl flyway," commented District Judge Robert Wood of Newberry, who has spearheaded local efforts to have the dam rebuilt.

"Wild rice used to grow there, and it is one of the few places in Michigan where wild rice will reproduce itself."

River Floods Area

Since the dam washed out, the Tahquamenon River floods over a mile wide area at Dollarville in the spring, Wood said. Fish spawn in the shallows but the eggs spoil when the water recedes. This won't happen after the dam is rebuilt, said Wood, who is chairman of the Dollarville Dam Committee.

Wood said all the land around the impoundment will be publicly owned and that no private cabins will be erected on the shore. A small park, campground area and boat launching sites may be built along the impoundment, however.

Wood personally purchased some of the land needed for the impoundment and gave it to the state. He also has donated uncounted hours of time to legal matters involved in the project.

Superior Ice, Mechanical Failure Delays Shipping

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Ice problems in Lake Superior are delaying navigation there, and at Escanaba within the past 48 hours mechanical failures brought to a temporary standstill the loading of iron ore at the Chicago & North Western terminal.

The two factors — ice-choked channels on Lake Superior that diverted more of the ore fleet to Escanaba, and the breakdown at the North Western's $16.5 million ore handling facility — have brought a pile-up of boats at Escanaba.

The North Western had "lots of problems" on Monday. The ore reclaimer and the dumper both went out of operation when electrical parts failed. The reclaimer was put back in operation late in the day but the dumper is still out — but loading is continuing from stockpile.

First a motor burned out at one end of the dumper, the equipment that rolls cars of ore to empty them of ore, and then the power motor at the other end of the dumper went out.

Boats Pile Up

Loading was halted most of Monday but resumed last night and the Allen and Pontiac received cargoes of ore and departed from Escanaba for South Chicago.

Meanwhile the ore boats continued to arrive, with several of the boats (as many as five) laying in open water south of Escanaba at the edge of the ice field.

The boats began moving in this morning after departure of the Allen and Pontiac. The Frontenac was being loaded this morning and was to be ready to clear about noon; the Walter Sterling, Cadillac, L. E. Block, P. D. Block, Leon Falk and International are here waiting to load — and the Cliffs Victory is due in at 3 p.m.

"We won't run short of boats for a while," said a North Western spokesman.

Ahead Of 1969

If there have been problems at the North Western terminal this spring they are as nothing compared to a year ago, when the facility was under test operation. After a slow start there was a failure and collapse of one of the units, an accident in which one workman was killed.

This spring the loading record is impressive by comparison:

To date 28 boats have been loaded out with a total of 452,500 tons of ore, compared to only 3 boats and 30,333 tons to the same date a year ago.

The North Western is hopeful of setting a new record of 10 million tons of ore this season, topping last year by about 3 million tons. Most of the additional 3 million tons to be loaded here will come from the Marquette iron range and will be diverted from loading at Marquette.

Ship Is Damaged

Whitefish Bay on Lake Superior continues to be a bottleneck to shipping, and the ice ridges there almost caused the sinking of one vessel.

The 663-foot Canadian steamship Fort Stadacona had her hull pierced near the bow by the nearly foot-thick ice in Whitefish Bay. Holes two feet long were opened in the hull one each side of the bow at the water line.

Water was coming in faster than the pumps could handle it and Capt. Joseph McFayden, fearful the ship would founder, had some of the cargo of iron pellets shifted toward the stern by use of the ship's self-unloading equipment. The holes in the bow rose above the water line.

The Coast Guard escorted the damaged ship to Sault Ste. Marie for anchorage and repair.

Only one vessel has loaded at Marquette so far this spring, the Henry Ford. Loadings have been suspended there until the ice situation improves.

Young Sailor Awaits Trial For News Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a setting reminiscent of the famous Billy Mitchell court-martial, the Navy is trying a young sailor for publishing a newspaper critical of government officials.

The trial of Seaman Appren. Roger Priest, opening today, is considered a major test of the constitutional rights of servicemen by his supporters and as a test of discipline by the Pentagon.

Col. Billy Mitchell, considered the father of American air power, was court-martialed 45 years ago for publicly criticizing the military establishment.

Priest is charged with soliciting military personnel to desert and to commit sedition through his antiwar newspaper, known as "OM, The Servicemen's Newsletter," which the 26-year-old sailor from Houston published while stationed at the Pentagon.

The paper referred to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as "people's enemy No. 1." It used such epithets as "Pig" in describing Laird; Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

OM proclaimed "today's pigs are tomorrow's bacon" and "we will stop at nothing to stop the Vietnam war, and power arrangements that made it possible."

A military judge dropped the desertion and sedition soliciting charge as too vague but reinstated it when Rear Adm. George P. Koch, commandant of the Washington Naval District, ordered the judge to reconsider.

David Rein, Priest's civilian lawyer, appealed in vain to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals that Koch exerted "undue pressure" on the case.

Protesters Lose First Round In 'Clipping' Case

DETROIT (AP) — Eight Ann Arbor antiwar protesters lost round one Monday off their battle to clip Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey's hair-clippers.

U.S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow refused to issue an injunction barring the sheriff from cropping the hair of short-term prisoners.

The eight, whose heads were virtually shaved while they were being held in the jail awaiting release on bond following their arrest during a demonstration, are also suing Harvey for $200,000 in damages.

Judge Gubow said that while the issue of haircuts "posed grave constitutional questions which call for a complete hearing," there was no need for an injunction at this time.

"There are no persons now in imminent fear off injury in the Washtenaw County Jail," the judge said.

Judge Gubow took the motion for an injunction under advisement however, reserving the right to issue a restraining order at a future date.

Suit Against Auto Firms Transferred

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A suit filed in U.S. District Court to compel auto manufacturers to install anti - pollution control equipment has been transferred to California for a pre-trial conference.

The suit was filed against 10 automobile manufacturers by Atty. Gen. Robert Warren March 13.

Judge James Doyle said Monday a federal judicial panel on multi - district litigation made the transfer to the U.S. District Court for the central district of California.

The move does not necessarily mean that the trial, if one is held, will be in California, said Court Clerk John Adams.

Similar action against the auto manufacturers by California was initiated at the same time Warren filed suit in Wisconsin.

to sleep in, so the astronauts will rest in the command ship.

Swigert retired early today while Haise and Lovell monitored the command and lunar ships, respectively, planning to sleep later.

The astronauts remained calm and poised as they wrestled with the many procedures needed to stabilize their craft and to stretch their consumables.

To improve oxygen circulation and prevent a buildup of carbon dioxide in the command ship, Mission Control Center told the astronauts to use a hose from one of the unused space suits and extend it from the LM oxygen supply through the tunnel.

Saving Water

Lovell, Haise and Swigert were told to place any excesss water in bags and to turn off all non-essential items requiring power.

Christopher C. Kraft, deputy director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said, "If the situation remains stabilized, there is no question that we can bring them back to earth safely."

A serious drop in electrical power Monday night signaled the beginning of the emergency. Mission Control said the command ship had a major leak from one of the super-cold oxygen storage tanks. What caused the leak was unknown. The impact of a meteor was considered one remote possibility.

The astronauts, fighting to keep enough air to survive until they return to earth, siphoned oxygen from the moon lander. The ruptured tank exhausted the oxygen from the command ship.

"Serious Situation"

The moon lander, still attached to the command ship, was to have taken astronauts Lovell and Haise to the moon's surface Wednesday. Now it must keep the three spacemen alive.

"This is as serious a situation as we have ever had in manned space flight," said Kraft.

Officials at the Houston Space Center, appearing calm but clearly concerned, said preparations were being made for the craft to land either in the Pacific or Atlantic Ocean depending on flight developments and that aid would be accepted in the Atlantic Ocean from the ships of any nation.

In their desperate journey home, the astronauts will ride with two spacemen in the command ship and one in the smaller lunar module. The astronaut in the moon lander must be always awake and alert to assure the systems continue to operate.

Oxygen is fed into the command module through a tunnel in the moon lander.

Rock Man Hurt In Car Accident

James Segar, 39, of Rte. 1 Rock, was admitted to the St. Francis Hospital following a one car accident at about 11:15 p.m. Monday.

Details of his condition were not immediately available.

State Police said Seger was traveling north on County Rd. 519 when he lost control of his car on a curve about 2½ miles south of County Rd. 430, in Baldwin Township. Officers said his car ran off the road and struck a tree.

Astronauts Stay Cool During Crisis In Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congratulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

Power Failure

"Hey, we've got a problem here." It was James A. Lovell Jr., the spacecraft commander, the only human to make four trips into space.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problem. We've had a main B bus interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

By the very laws of the universe they challenged and used, their spacecraft continued on to the moon as indeed it would even if their ship were a derelict.

Only Advice

Many hours before they had forsaken the relative safety of a "free return" that would have required only the pull of the moon and the earth to put them back on earth. Deliberately they had changed the course so Lovell and Fred W. Haise Jr., could land on the moon.

"We're looking at it." A hundred experts on the ground, others quickly summoned. But advice was all that was possible to help three men in a disabled ship.

"Okay, right now, Houston, the voltage is looking good. And we had a pretty large bang associated with the caution and warning there."

"Roger Fred." Fred Haise, a first-timer in space. Beside him John L. Swigert Jr., also a rookie, but more so, an emergency substitute on the flight.

"It's a gas of some sort." They could see it out of their window. Droplets that turned into snow and drifted off like feathers from a molting bird.

The gas, it turned out, was their oxygen; a commodity on which their very lives depend.

Back and forth, across the miles, spun the questions, the numbers, the readings. Crisp and cool. Urgent, but not panicked.

"Okay, 13, we've got lots and lots of people working on this, we'll get you some dope as soon as we have it and you'll be the first to know."

No Landing Possible

"Oh, thank you."

Nobody said it but they knew and the ground knew that now there was no possibility of landing on the moon. Now the only thing was to use the power that remained—the power that would have set them on the lunar surface—to get back to earth.

"I didn't think I'd be back this soon," said Fred Haise, who would have been the sixth human to touch the moon.

Mission Control held a conference for newsmen. Enough oxygen and electrical power, said the experts. It will be close, but they'll get home if nothing else bad happens.

Like kissing cousins the command ship Odyssey and the lunar lander Aquarius continued on to the moon. Now for Aquarius there was not the noble voyage to the highlands of the moon, nor the splendor of being crashed empty against its surface in the name of science.

Now they were plundering her holds for the oxygen they'd need to sustain them on a four-day journey back to earth, more than ever full of risks.

Sergeant's Trial Slated To Resume

SAIGON (AP) — The trial of a U.S. Army sergeant charged with killing a Vietnamese man resumed today after a three-month postponement. Newsmen were barred temporarily from the courtroom.

A military judge ruled that the opening stage of the trial of Sgt. Bruce A. Knerr, 20, of Toledo, Ohio, would be held in private to prevent public disclosure of some proposed evidence that might not be declared admissable.

Knerr, a squad leader in the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, is charged with unpremeditated murder in the death Sept. 12, 1969, of a man named Dang Nhanh in the village of My Loc in coastal Binh Dinh Province.

The trial began last Jan. 20 and was adjourned because of a disagreement over the charge against him. The defense argued and won a contention that the words "with premeditation" had been written into the charge after a trial for unpremeditated murder was scheduled.

Superior Ice, Mechanical Failure Delays Shipping

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Ice problems in Lake Superior are delaying navigation there, and at Escanaba within the past 48 hours mechanical failures brought to a temporary standstill the loading of iron ore at the Chicago & North Western terminal.

The two factors — ice-choked channels on Lake Superior that diverted more of the ore fleet to Escanaba, and the breakdown at the North Western's $16.5 million ore handling facility — have brought a pile-up of boats at Escanaba.

The North Western had "lots of problems" on Monday. The ore reclaimer and the dumper both went out of operation when electrical parts failed. The reclaimer was put back in operation late in the day but the dumper is still out — but loading is continuing from stockpile.

First a motor burned out at one end of the dumper, the equipment that rolls cars of ore to empty them of ore, and then the power motor at the other end of the dumper went out.

Boats Pile Up

Loading was halted most of Monday but resumed last night and the Allen and Pontiac received cargoes of ore and departed from Escanaba for South Chicago.

Meanwhile the ore boats continued to arrive, with several of the boats (as many as five) laying in open water south of Escanaba at the edge of the ice field.

The boats began moving in this morning after departure of the Allen and Pontiac. The Frontenac was being loaded this morning and was to be ready to clear about noon; the Walter Sterling, Cadillac, L. E. Block, P. D. Block, Leon Falk and International are here waiting to load — and the Cliffs Victory is due in at 3 p.m.

"We won't run short of boats for a while," said a North Western spokesman.

Ahead Of 1969

If there have been problems at the North Western terminal this spring they are as nothing compared to a year ago, when the facility was under test operation. After a slow start there was a failure and collapse of one of the units, an accident in which one workman was killed.

This spring the loading record is impressive by comparison:

To date 28 boats have been loaded out with a total of 452,500 tons of ore, compared to only 3 boats and 30,333 tons to the same date a year ago.

The North Western is hopeful of setting a new record of 10 million tons of ore this season, topping last year by about 3 million tons. Most of the additional 3 million tons to be loaded here will come from the Marquette iron range and will be diverted from loading at Marquette.

Ship Is Damaged

Whitefish Bay on Lake Superior continues to be a bottleneck to shipping, and the ice ridges there almost caused the sinking of one vessel.

The 663-foot Canadian steamship Fort Stadacona had her hull pierced near the bow by the nearly foot-thick ice in Whitefish Bay. Holes two feet long were opened in the hull one each side of the bow at the water line.

Water was coming in faster than the pumps could handle it and Capt. Joseph McFayden, fearful the ship would founder, had some of the cargo of iron pellets shifted toward the stern by use of the ship's self-unloading equipment. The holes in the bow rose above the water line.

The Coast Guard escorted the damaged ship to Sault Ste. Marie for anchorage and repair.

Only one vessel has loaded at Marquette so far this spring, the Henry Ford. Loadings have been suspended there until the ice situation improves.

Young Sailor Awaits Trial For News Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a setting reminiscent of the famous Billy Mitchell court-martial, the Navy is trying a young sailor for publishing a newspaper critical of government officials.

The trial of Seaman Appren. Roger Priest, opening today, is considered a major test of the constitutional rights of servicemen by his supporters and as a test of discipline by the Pentagon.

Col. Billy Mitchell, considered the father of American air power, was court-martialed 45 years ago for publicly criticizing the military establishment.

Priest is charged with soliciting military personnel to desert and to commit sedition through his antiwar newspaper, known as "OM, The Servicemen's Newsletter," which the 26-year-old sailor from Houston published while stationed at the Pentagon.

The paper referred to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as "people's enemy No. 1." It used such epithets as "Pig" in describing Laird; Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

OM proclaimed "today's pigs are tomorrow's bacon" and "we will stop at nothing to stop the Vietnam war, and power arrangements that made it possible."

A military judge dropped the desertion and sedition soliciting charge as too vague but reinstated it when Rear Adm. George P. Koch, commandant of the Washington Naval District, ordered the judge to reconsider.

David Rein, Priest's civilian lawyer, appealed in vain to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals that Koch exerted "undue pressure" on the case.

Protesters Lose First Round In 'Clipping' Case

DETROIT (AP) — Eight Ann Arbor antiwar protesters lost round one Monday off their battle to clip Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey's hair-clippers.

U.S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow refused to issue an injunction barring the sheriff from cropping the hair of short-term prisoners.

The eight, whose heads were virtually shaved while they were being held in the jail awaiting release on bond following their arrest during a demonstration, are also suing Harvey for $200,000 in damages.

Judge Gubow said that while the issue of haircuts "posed grave constitutional questions which call for a complete hearing," there was no need for an injunction at this time.

"There are no persons now in imminent fear off injury in the Washtenaw County Jail," the judge said.

Judge Gubow took the motion for an injunction under advisement however, reserving the right to issue a restraining order at a future date.

Brewers Beaten; Bristol Accepts Blame For Loss

OAKLAND (AP)—It isn't often that a manager takes the blame for losing a baseball game, but Milwaukee's Dave Bristol was willing to do it Monday night.

"I tried to protect a victory for our starting pitcher and I ended up losing the game," he said after the Oakland Athletics nipped the Brewers 2-1.

Bristol brought in left-handed relief pitcher John O'Donoghue to pitch to Reggie Jackson in the seventh inning with runners on second and third.

Rather than walk Jackson to load the bases and set up a force play, Bristol had O'Donoghue pitch to Jackson. Reggie lined a single to centerfield to bring in two runs.

"I wanted the left-handed pitcher for Jackson," Bristol said. "There were two left-handed batters coming up and he got one of them out—the wrong one."

Manager John McNamara of Oakland wouldn't comment on the Milwaukee strategy.

"I have enough trouble worrying about my own team," he said.

McNamara also brought in a relief pitcher but it worked out perfectly. Diego Segui struck out four batters in the final two innings to save a victory for Jim Hunter.

Hunter allowed only two hits in seven innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. Tito Francona singled for Hunter moved to third on a single by Rick Monday, and eventually scored on Jackson's hit.

McNamara would have liked Hunter to pitch the entire game. "The game is played without emotion I don't care which pitcher gets the victory as long as we do," he said.

The A's victory was their first in four games and snapped a three-game winning streak for Milwaukee.

Dolphins Guilty Of Tampering

NEW YORK (AP) — In gaining a new coach, the Miami Dolphins have lost their No. 1 draft choice for 1971 to the Baltimore Colts.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

Indiana Upset By Buccaneers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Buccaneers, although settled in last place in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, came to life again Monday night with a 120-110 victory over Eastern Division champion Indiana.

Ron Frantz scored 24 points to pace the Bucs after four straight losses on the road.

The victory gave the Bucs a 41-42 season mark, which they hope to even out in Wednesday night's finale against Dallas, to be played in New Orleans.

Art Becker led Indiana with 25 points, while teammate Fred Lewis got 21.

Indiana led in three - point field goals 8-6. The total of 14 was a home court record.

New Orleans was in front 33-22 at the end of the first quarter and 61-50 at halftime. Indiana took a one-point lead three times in the third period, but the Bucs moved in front to stay at 87-85.

Jackie Moreland, a veteran Buccaneer forward, announced he would retire after the game with Dallas. The Bucs will honor Moreland at halftime.

Jimmy Jones, the Bucs' all-star guard, sat out the game because of his ailing knee. He plans to undergo surgery on a torn cartilage Friday.

Boston Patriots Head For Foxboro

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Boston Patriots, who were driven from that city for lack of a large enough stadium, will have a home in Foxboro, about midway between Boston and Providence.

The vote was 1,933 in favor, 84 opposed, on a show of hands.

Duffy Cautious About Upcoming Grid Season

EAST LANSING (AP) — The bubbling over, optimistic Duffy Daugherty of one year ago was absent at Michigan State University's center, and a more restrained Spartan coach kicked off his spring football season with his first press luncheon.

While Daugherty could not predict a rise to the top for MSU, from 1969's ninth place Big Ten finish and 2-5 conference record, he did say his Spartans will "run and block hard and try to play good fundamental football."

"What we've got to change this year is in giving games away. In the last two years we've lost at least seven games when I honestly felt we had outplayed the other team."

Daugherty claimed the reason for Big Ten Co-Champion's success was because the Wolverines didn't beat themselves. Daugherty said that Indiana defensive coordinator Ernie Plank recently rated the Big Ten teams on a give away-take away basis, and that Michigan had accumulated a plus-26 rating while Ohio State had a -plus 11 and Purdue a plus 7. Michigan State ranked ninth with a minus eight rating.

"Our number one aim this season is to stop beating ourselves," Daugherty says.

Daugherty listed some 15 players who are out of spring practice or doubtful because of injuries. Among these are players who started or would have started last year, including halfback Tommy Love, tight-end Jim Nicholson, and quarterback Steve Piro. Tailback Earl Anderson may miss the early part of spring practice.

To counteract injuries in spring drills, which took a heavy toll of the Spartan squad in 1969, Daugherty plans 30 minutes of conditionaing drills before each practice. Many players have worked with Spartan trainees over the winter and have already taken a course in conditioning to prepare for spring practice.

"We've never taken time before in the spring, and maybe we've been wrong in this, but we'll take the time this year and work on conditioning for two reasons," Daugherty said. "First we want to rehabilitate some of our injured who are not up to par right now; and secondly we want to help prevent injuries in spring practice. We feel that this conditioning will help to keep a big rash of injuries down."

Daugherty said he has not really abandoned the triple option veer type offense, that caused such a stir last fall in East Lansing, but that he won't ceoncentrate on any one type of offensive pattern and will switch around.

It seems apparent that Daugherty will not be content to experiment with any one pattern such as the triple option as he did last year. His main signal caller will likely continue to be Bill Triplett, a junior last fall, switched to flanker after some lack luster performances and then had to come back to the quarterback spot after the second and third stringer, Steve Piro and Dan Werner, were injured.

Aaron's Home Run Lifts Braves Over Giants 9-3

By The Associated Press

Clyde King knows how to handle Hank Aaron in the future, but the enlightened manager had nothing to show for his new-found wisdom today.

Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old slugger, sent the Braves on the way to a 9-3 National League romp over King's San Francisco Giants Monday night with his 557th career home run—a towering, two-run wallop into the seldom-reached upper deck in Atlanta Stadium.

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Houston 2-0 on Don Sutton's two-hitter and San Diego ambushed Cincinnati 3-1 behind the solid relief pitching of Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel.

The Kansas City-Minnesota game, in the American League, was postponed because of snow at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sonny Jackson was on second base with a leadoff double and first base was open when Aaron slammed his third homer of the young season to trigger a four-run first-inning burst that all but decided the Braves' home opener.

"The only way to pitch to him is walk him," King observed afterward. "I'm just kidding, of course. But you don't hit a home run as far as he did and be slowing up."

Hank Aaron

"I didn't know how far it was going," said Aaron. "I just knew it was going out of the ball park."

Aaron knocked in another run with a single and Tony Gonzalez delivered three more for the Braves with a single and triple.

Andy Kosco hit a sixth-inning homer and Sutton drove in a ninth inning insurance run with an infield hit before completing the Dodgers' second straight shutout victory. The Los Angeles right-hander limited the Astros to a second-inning double by Denis Menke and a sixth-inning single by Norm Miller, retiring the last 12 batters he faced.

Roberts replaced San Diego starter Al Santorini with the bases loaded in the seventh and pitched out of the jam to protect the Padres' two-run lead. Herbel rescued Roberts in the eighth, fanning Tony Perez and retiring Johnny Bench on a fly ball with runners on second and third.

Tommy Dean's homer and a two-run double by Clarence Gaston in the fourth provided the winning margin for Santorini, who yielded just one hit until the seventh

Dan Bougie Boy's Pool Champion

Dan Bougie added the 1970 Intermediate Boy's Pool title to the Junior Boy's Championship he won last year by defeating Joe Meuhlhaus in the finals last night at the Civic Center. Dan had previously defeated Dave Pultz 2-1, Rory Mayra 2-0, and Jerry Robitaille 2-0 to advance to the title match.

Second place went to Joe Muehlhaus, who defeated Karl Carlson 2-1, Mike Cousineau 2-1, and Kari Hannula 2-1 before bowing to Bougie.

Jerry Robitaille took consolation honors by defeating Kari Hannula 2-1. Previously he had drawn a bye, defeated Scott McDonald 2-0, lost to Bougie 0-2, and then beat Hannula in the battle for third place.

Kari Hannula took fourth by defeating Tom Kangas 2-0, and Bob Benson 2-1, losing to Muehlhaus 1-2, and dropping the consolation round to Robitaille.

The pool tournaments continue tonight with the Junior Boy's matches getting under way at the Civic Center at 6:30 p.m.

Atlanta Coach Promises Blood

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten "there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the floor and between the floor and the dressing room.

"You never know after a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

Casper Tops Littler In Masters Playoff

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all a Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

"Winning the U.S. Open is still the No. 1 accomplishment for me," admitted Casper, knowing well that proud, green-jacketed Augusta National members listened. "But this is a close second."

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He was never won the PGA championship or the British Open. But has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaires.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat—even though it was three sizes too big.

Bill Casper

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

Casper said he seldom played defensive golf, the kind that may have cost him the 1969 Masters crown. He led for 54 holes but faded with a front nine 40 on Sunday and watched 6-foot-6 George Archer stride by to the title.

"I never three-putted a green, so that's about as well as I can stroke it," said the man who is known for his work with the blade. "My caddy, Mathew Palmer, was as important as anything to my victory. He is a master at reading the greens."

Mathew, who doffed his cap along with Casper to accept thunderous cheers at the 18th green, said he was thinking of changing his name from Palmer to Casper.

Casper was greeted by his wife, Shirley, and their son, little Billy. There are six other offspring back home in California, four of them adopted by the highly-religious Mormon family.

The Augusta National course was never supposed to be built for Casper's type of golf. It was popular to say it was best for the Palmers and Nicklauses. But Casper picked up a new, light-steel driver last week and it added more than 30 yards to his tee shots.

"I played a different golf course this week than I ever have before at Augusta National," he said. "I was hitting wedges where I once hit eight irons. It makes a new ball game."

Basketball Record Broken By Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Jay Miller's field goal with about 20 seconds to go broke the all-time professional basketball record as the Indiana Pacers obliterated the Pittsburgh Pipers 177-135, in an American Backetball Association game Sunday.

The victory by the Pacers, who have sewed up the title in the ABA's Eastern Division, eclipsed the old single game scoring record of 173 points set by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association in February, 1959.

Former Marquette University star George Thompson scored 26 points for the losers.

WALLY MORIN of Garden, won the batting title again in the Gladstone Men's Dartball League, with a .571 average in the first half and a .604 average for the second half of the season. In the past two years of league play, Wally has an average of .599.

Alcindor Good; Knicks Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcincor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother.

Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

Los Angeles, holding a 1-0 lead in the Western fifnals, plays at Atlanta tonight.

After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Wilt) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcincor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

While the pair put on their eye-boggling show before 19,500 hysterical fans at Madison Square Garden, two reserves—Cazzie Russell and Mike Riordan—delivered the killing blow for New York.

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

Brewers Beaten; Bristol Accepts Blame For Loss

OAKLAND (AP)—It isn't often that a manager takes the blame for losing a baseball game, but Milwaukee's Dave Bristol was willing to do it Monday night.

"I tried to protect a victory for our starting pitcher and I ended up losing the game," he said after the Oakland Athletics nipped the Brewers 2-1.

Bristol brought in left-handed relief pitcher John O'Donoghue to pitch to Reggie Jackson in the seventh inning with runners on second and third.

Rather than walk Jackson to load the bases and set up a force play, Bristol had O'Donoghue pitch to Jackson. Reggie lined a single to centerfield to bring in two runs.

"I wanted the left-handed pitcher for Jackson," Bristol said. "There were two left-handed batters coming up and he got one of them out—the wrong one."

Manager John McNamara of Oakland wouldn't comment on the Milwaukee strategy.

"I have enough trouble worrying about my own team," he said.

McNamara also brought in a relief pitcher but it worked out perfectly. Diego Segui struck out four batters in the final two innings to save a victory for Jim Hunter.

Hunter allowed only two hits in seven innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. Tito Francona singled for Hunter moved to third on a single by Rick Monday, and eventually scored on Jackson's hit.

McNamara would have liked Hunter to pitch the entire game. "The game is played without emotion I don't care which pitcher gets the victory as long as we do," he said.

The A's victory was their first in four games and snapped a three-game winning streak for Milwaukee.

Dolphins Guilty Of Tampering

NEW YORK (AP) — In gaining a new coach, the Miami Dolphins have lost their No. 1 draft choice for 1971 to the Baltimore Colts.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

Indiana Upset By Buccaneers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Buccaneers, although settled in last place in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, came to life again Monday night with a 120-110 victory over Eastern Division champion Indiana.

Ron Frantz scored 24 points to pace the Bucs after four straight losses on the road.

The victory gave the Bucs a 41-42 season mark, which they hope to even out in Wednesday night's finale against Dallas, to be played in New Orleans.

Art Becker led Indiana with 23 points, while teammate Fred Lewis got 21.

Indiana led in three - point field goals 8-6. The total of 14 was a home court record.

New Orleans was in front 33-22 at the end of the first quarter and 61-50 at halftime. Indiana took a one-point lead three times in the third period, but the Bucs moved in front to stay at 87-85.

Jackie Moreland, a veteran Buccaneer forward, announced he would retire after the game with Dallas. The Bucs will honor Moreland at halftime.

Jimmy Jones, the Bucs' all-star guard, sat out the game because of his ailing knee. He plans to undergo surgery on a torn cartilage Friday.

Boston Patriots Head For Foxboro

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Boston Patriots, who were driven from that city for lack of a large enough stadium, will have a home in Foxboro, about midway between Boston and Providence.

More than 3,000 residents of Foxboro packed a special town meeting Monday to vote overwhelmingly in favor of a plan to build a 57,000-seat stadium.

The vote was 1,933 in favor, 84 opposed, on a show of hands.

Basketball Game

There will be a basketball game, Senior boys versus the faculty. The game will be played at the Escanaba Area Public High School gym on Thursday, April 16, at 7:30 p.m. The Escanaba cheerleaders will sponsor the game and proceeds will go towards tuition for a summer workshop.

Duffy Cautious About Upcoming Grid Season

EAST LANSING (AP) — The bubbling over, optimistic Duffy Daugherty of one year ago was absent at Michigan State University's center, and a more restrained Spartan coach kicked off his spring football season with his first press luncheon.

While Daugherty could not predict a rise to the top for MSU, from 1969's ninth place Big Ten finish and 2-5 conference record, he did say his Spartans will "run and block hard and try to play good fundamental football."

"What we've got to change this year is in giving games away. In the last two years we've lost at least seven games when I honestly felt we had outplayed the other team."

Daugherty claimed the reason for Big Ten Co-Champion's success was because the Wolverines didn't beat themselves. Daugherty said that Indiana defensive coordinator Ernie Plank recently rated the Big Ten teams on a give away-take away basis, and that Michigan had accumulated a plus-26 rating while Ohio State had a -plus 11 and Purdue a plus 7. Michigan State ranked ninth with a minus eight rating.

"Our number one aim this season is to stop beating ourselves," Daugherty says.

Daugherty listed some 15 players who are out of spring practice or doubtful because of injuries. Among these are players who started or would have started last year, including halfback Tommy Love, tight-end Jim Nicholson, and quarterback Steve Piro. Tailback Earl Anderson may miss the early part of spring practice.

To counteract injuries in spring drills, which took a heavy toll of the Spartan squad in 1969, Daugherty plans 30 minutes of conditionaing drills before each practice. Many players have worked with Spartan trainees over the winter and have already taken a course in conditioning to prepare for spring practice.

"We've never taken time before in the spring, and maybe we've been wrong in this, but we'll take the time this year and work on conditioning for two reasons," Daugherty said. "First we want to rehabilitate some of our injured who are not up to par right now; and secondly we want to help prevent injuries in spring practice. We feel that this conditioning will help to keep a big rash of injuries down."

Daugherty said he has not really abandoned the triple option veer type offense, that caused such a stir last fall in East Lansing, but that he won't ceoncentrate on any one type of offensive pattern and will switch around.

It seems apparent that Daugherty will not be content to experiment with any one pattern such as the triple option as he did last year. His main signal caller will likely continue to be Bill Triplett, a junior last fall, switched to flanker after some lack luster performances and then had to come back to the quarterback spot after the second and third stringer, Steve Piro and Dan Werner, were injured.

Casper Tops Littler In Masters Playoff

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene Littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all a Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

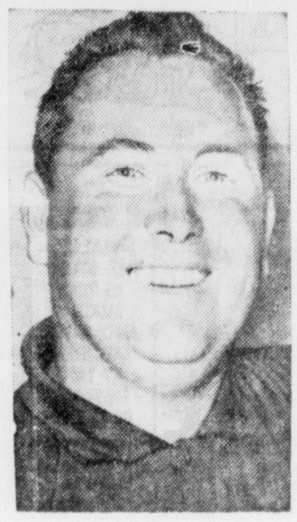
"Winning the U.S. Open is still the No. 1 accomplishment for me," admitted Casper, knowing well that proud, green-jacketed Augusta National members listened. "But this is a close second."

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He was never won the PGA championship or the British Open. But has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaires.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat—even though it was three sizes too big.



Bill Casper

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

Casper said he seldom played defensive golf, the kind that may have cost him the 1969 Masters crown. He led for 54 holes but faded with a front nine 40 on Sunday and watched 6-foot-6 George Archer stride by to the title.

"I never three-putted a green, so that's about as well as I can stroke it," said the man who is known for his work with the blade. "My caddy, Mathew Palmer, was as important as anything to my victory. He is a master at reading the greens."

Mathew, who doffed his cap along with Casper to accept thunderous cheers at the 18th green, said he was toinking of changing his name from Palmer to Casper.

Casper was greeted by his wife, Shirley, and their son, little Billy. There are six other offspring back home in California, four of them adopted by the highly-religious Mormon family.

The Augusta National course was never supposed to be built for Casper's type of golf. It was popular to say it was best for the Palmers and Nicklauses. But Casper picked up a new, light-steel driver last week and it added more than 30 yards to his tee shots.

"I played a different golf course this week than I ever have before at Augusta National," he said. "I was hitting wedges where I once hit eight irons. It makes a new ball game."

Basketball Record Broken By Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Jay Miller's field goal with about 20 seconds to go broke the all-time professional basketball record as the Indiana Pacers obliterated the Pittsburgh Pipers 177-135, in an American Backetball Association game Sunday.

The victory by the Pacers, who have sewed up the title in the ABA's Eastern Division, eclipsed the old single game scoring record of 173 points set by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association in February, 1959.

Former Marquette University star George Thompson scored 26 points for the losers.

WALLY MORIN of Garden, won the batting title again in the Gladstone Men's Dartball League, with a .571 average in the first half and a .604 average for the second half of the season. In the past two years of league play, Wally has an average of .599.

Alcindor Good; Knicks Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcincor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother.

Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

Los Angeles, holding a 1-0 lead in the Western fifnals, plays at Atlanta tonight.

After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Wilt) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcincor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

While the pair put on their eye-boggling show before 19,500 hysterical fans at Madison Square Garden, two reserves—Cazzie Russell and Mike Riordan—delivered the killing blow for New York.

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

Atlanta Coach Promises Blood

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten "there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

"You never know after a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

MANISTIQUE

Rose Elected Mayor Of City

Douglas Rose, 26, became Manistique's new mayor by unanimous vote of the City Council Monday night while former mayor Leo DeMars was elected mayor pro tem.

Rose tallied the highest number of votes in the April 6 election in which he and incumbent Thor Reque won four-year terms on the council.

Immediately after the gavel was passed, the new mayor extended thanks to the news media for their coverage of the election and all citizens who supported his candidacy.

Former 12-year Councilman Harold Carlson, who did not seek reelection, was in the audience for his "first look at how council looks from this side of the table."

City Manager Robert Noe said a report of a downtown building survey — conducted last week by two engineers from a Warren, Mich., firm as the first phase in the proposed urban renewal project — should be ready in four or five weeks. He also said soil test borings were taken last week on the armory site, but no report has been made as yet.

Reject Proposal

Council rejected a proposal from Eugene Fawcett of Munising who bid $36,000 for a yearly service contract to pick up garbage. Fawcett offered $2,500 for the city garbage truck. Noe pointed out that it costs the city about $20,000 annually to maintain garbage service.

Council tabled a U.S. Forest Service request for campground refuge dumping at the city dump since the city is uncertain how much refuse would be dumped and facilities are limited.

It had been proposed that the practice be approved on a one-year trial basis at a $500 fee.

The discussion on garbage ended with Noe's announcement that he has received several complaints that downtown business establishments are not using proper containers for their rubbish. Noe said he will notify the alleged offenders by letter that the city will not tolerate blowing garbage.

Bids Deferred

Council deferred acceptance on 12 bids for construction of a new Department of Public Works storage buildings and chip spreader until the next meeting. The Yacht Club's request for lease renewal for dock space at the harbor was approved for another year at a $1 fee. Also approved was purchase of 12 dozen flags for veteran's graves on Memorial Day after a request from the county All-Vets Committee.

County Equalization Director Harold Peters notified the council that his office would be doling some work in the city this year.

Wedegartner Quits Council

Councilman William Wedegartner Jr. is resigning effective May 1.

Wedegartner said Monday night he expects to be moving from the city since the business in which he has been associated with his father — The Manistique Floral Co. — has been sold.

Wedegartner has been on the council for two years and said he is resigning with regret since "I've enjoyed my time on the Council and working with my colleagues." Wedegartner's seat will be filled by an appointment from the Council. There was no indication if any candidates are being considered or when the appointment will be made.

2 Youths Jailed After Car Theft

Two 16-year-old Manistique youths were arrested and jailed early Monday morning after they broke into the shop building of the Manistique High School and drove away in one of the driver training cars with some band instruments which were stored in the building in the back seat of the car.

Public Safety officers arrested the duo on W. Elk St. at 12:10 a.m. They were jailed on authority of Probate Judge John S. Faketty. Since no detention facility is available for juveniles who are charged with a crime which would be classified as a felony if they were older, under-age offenders are lodged in the Schoolcraft County Jail.

During a preliminary hearing before Judge Faketty Monday afternoon, both youths were charged with unlawful entry and the second boy with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

One of the youths is being transferred to the jurisdiction of the Kent County Probate Court since his porents live in the Grand Rapids area; the court will discuss a possible change of custody with the Social Welfare Dept. for the other boy, Judge Faketty said.

Both youths were living in foster homes.

Two Delta County youths, 18-year-old Terry James Schweneman, Bark River, and 17-year-old Michael J. Thompson of Cornell, posted $50 bond and will appear in District Court Wednesday to answer charges of being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

The youths were arrested by city police at 11:15 Friday night and lodged in jail. They were driving an automobile on River St. at the time of their arrest.

Michigan State Police reported no injuries in a two-car collision which occurred at the junction of U.S. 2-Federal Highway 13 in Nahma Township at 3:45 Sunday afternoon. An auto driven by Charles W. Olsen of Gladstone pulled from the stop sign into the path of a car driven by Constance M. Quatsoe, Green Bay, who was travelling on U.S. 2. Olsen was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way and no registration proof, troopers said.

Briefly Told

Public Safety officers ticketed the following motorists for traffic offenses over the weekend: Clarence D. Salter, Detroit, non-stop; Frederick O. Jasmin, Rte. 1, speeding; Daniel J. Anderson, 220 Oak St., excessive noise and expired operator's license; and Catherine Ann Moffat, 235 Range St., excessive noise.

Michigan State Police cited Richard Skenandore, Chicago, and Jerry A. Terrian, Gulliver, both for speeding over the weekend.

The hot lunch menu for Wednesday in the Manistique Area Schools includes baked chicken, whipped sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, peanut butter, fruit and beverage.

Hospital

Discharged were Judith Osterhout, Mary LaTulip, Harriet Gentz, Dawn Russell, Robert Burton, George Dellis, Phyllis Putvin and Sonia Gehrett.

Hiawatha Taxpayers To Challenge Board On Retirement Plan

A taxpayer's committee will petition the county allocation board to deny additional millage requested by their township board.

A spokesman for a Hiawatha Township citizens committee said the Hiawatha Township Board adopted a retirement plan for township officers at their annual meeting last week and plan to request an additional .68 mill from the allocation board. Last year, Hiawatha Township received .32 mills and the additional allocation would mean about $3,814 additional revenue for the township based on 1970 state equalized valuation.

Township boards legally may request up to one mill from the allocation board if need for the revenue is shown.

The taxpayers committee is questioning the right of the board to inaugurate a retirement plan. The benefits presumably would be paid on the basis of number of years served. Included would be the supervisor, clerk, treasurer, two trustees and cemetery custodian.

Hiawatha Supervisor Agner Dehlin said he had no knowledge of any taxpayers committee working to counter his board's request for additional millage.

The committee said it is generally dissatisfied with "lack of progress and improvements made in the past years." They cited need for lighting in certain residential areas around Indian Lake and resurfacing of certain roads.

A survey is being conducted in the township and "so far all of the citizens contacted feel they have not received value for dollars spent," the committee spokesman said.

Reportedly, the Hiawatha Board adopted a $27,000 budget for 1971.

The taxpayers committee met last Thursday night to discuss the township board's action and plan to petition the allocation board by letter once they have determined opinion in the township. The allocation board begins meeting next Monday night to consider allocation of 15 mills to local units of government.

The taxpayers committee said it also is considering a referendum for the August primary election on the question of support for a township officers pension plan.

Besides Supervisor Dehlin, the board is composed of Clerk Maynard Blanford; Treasurer Clarabelle Oberg ond Trustees Lawrence Aldrich and Nicholas Frankovich.

Douglas Rose, 26, became Manistique's new mayor by unanimous vote of the City Council Monday night while former mayor Leo DeMars was elected mayor pro tem.

Rose tallied the highest number of votes in the April 6 election in which he and incumbent Thor Reque won four-year terms on the council.

Immediately after the gavel was passed, the new mayor extended thanks to the news media for their coverage of the election and all citizens who supported his candidacy.

Former 12-year Councilman Harold Carlson, who did not seek reelection, was in the audience for his "first look at how council looks from this side of the table."

City Manager Robert Noe said a report of a downtown building survey — conducted last week by two engineers from a Warren, Mich., firm as the first phase in the proposed urban renewal project — should be ready in four or five weeks. He also said soil test borings were taken last week on the armory site, but no report has been made as yet.

Reject Proposal

Council rejected a proposal from Eugene Fawcett of Munising who bid $36,000 for a yearly service contract to pick up garbage. Fawcett offered $2,500 for the city garbage truck. Noe pointed out that it costs the city about $20,000 annually to maintain garbage service.

Council tabled a U.S. Forest Service request for campground refuge dumping at the city dump since the city is uncertain how much refuse would be dumped and facilities are limited.

It had been proposed that the practice be approved on a one-year trial basis at a $500 fee.

The discussion on garbage ended with Noe's announcement that he has received several complaints that downtown business establishments are not using proper containers for their rubbish. Noe said he will notify the alleged offenders by letter that the city will not tolerate blowing garbage.

Bids Deferred

Council deferred acceptance on 12 bids for construction of a new Department of Public Works storage buildings and chip spreader until the next meeting. The Yacht Club's request for lease renewal for dock space at the harbor was approved for another year at a $1 fee. Also approved was purchase of 12 dozen flags for veteran's graves on Memorial Day after a request from the county All-Vets Committee.

County Equalization Director Harold Peters notified the council that his office would be doling some work in the city this year.

Wedegartner Quits Council

Councilman William Wedegartner Jr. is resigning effective May 1.

Wedegartner said Monday night he expects to be moving from the city since the business in which he has been associated with his father — The Manistique Floral Co. — has been sold.

Wedegartner has been on the council for two years and said he is resigning with regret since "I've enjoyed my time on the Council and working with my colleagues." Wedegartner's seat will be filled by an appointment from the Council. There was no indication if any candidates are being considered or when the appointment will be made.

Hiawatha Taxpayers To Challenge Board On Retirement Plan

A taxpayer's committee will petition the county allocation board to deny additional millage requested by their township board.

A spokesman for a Hiawatha Township citizens committee said the Hiawatha Township Board adopted a retirement plan for township officers at their annual meeting last week and plan to request an additional .68 mill from the allocation board. Last year, Hiawatha Township received .32 mills and the additional allocation would mean about $3,814 additional revenue for the township based on 1970 state equalized valuation.

Township boards legally may request up to one mill from the allocation board if need for the revenue is shown.

The taxpayers committee is questioning the right of the board to inaugurate a retirement plan. The benefits presumably would be paid on the basis of number of years served. Included would be the supervisor, clerk, treasurer, two trustees and cemetery custodian.

Hiawatha Supervisor Agner Dehlin said he had no knowledge of any taxpayers committee working to counter his board's request for additional millage.

The committee said it is generally dissatisfied with "lack of progress and improvements made in the past years." They cited need for lighting in certain residential areas around Indian Lake and resurfacing of certain roads.

A survey is being conducted in the township and "so far all of the citizens contacted feel they have not received value for dollars spent," the committee spokesman said.

Reportedly, the Hiawatha Board adopted a $27,000 budget for 1971.

The taxpayers committee met last Thursday night to discuss the township board's action and plan to petition the allocation board by letter once they have determined opinion in the township. The allocation board begins meeting next Monday night to consider allocation of 15 mills to local units of government.

The taxpayers committee said it also is considering a referendum for the August primary election on the question of support for a township officers pension plan.

Besides Supervisor Dehlin, the board is composed of Clerk Maynard Blanford; Treasurer Clarabelle Oberg ond Trustees Lawrence Aldrich and Nicholas Frankovich.

Obituary

MRS. J. JOSEPH HERBERT

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. from the St. Francis de Sales Church for Mrs. J. Joseph (Imogene) Herbert, 73, who died Friday afternoon in the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Msgr. F. M. Scheringer was celebrant of the Requiem Mass and was assisted by Father Arnold Grambow.

Music during the Mass was by the Children's Choir of St. Francis de Sales School under the direction of Sister Colleen.

Burial followed in the Fairview Cemetery under the direction of the Kefauver-Jackson Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Frank Hoholik, David Rood, Fred Hahne, Leonard Males, Charles Varnum and William Males.

Card of Thanks

Fraid

We wish to extend our thanks to friends, neighbors and relatives who have shown us many acts of kindness during the recent loss of our beloved husband and father, Roy Fraid. We especially wish to thank the Nurses on 2 South and 3 South at St. Francis Hospital, Drs. Olson and Gordon, Pastor Gerold Brady of the Bethel Free Church for his comforting words, the Ladies of the Missionary Society who served lunch, Skradski Funeral Home and those who sent cards and flowers and all who helped in any way. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

The Family Of
Roy Fraid

2 Youths Jailed After Car Theft

Two 16-year-old Manistique youths were arrested and jailed early Monday morning after they broke into the shop building of the Manistique High School and drove away in one of the driver training cars with some band instruments which were stored in the building in the back seat of the car.

Public Safety officers arrested the duo on W. Elk St. at 12:10 a.m. They were jailed on authority of Probate Judge John S. Faketty. Since no detention facility is available for juveniles who are charged with a crime which would be classified as a felony if they were older, under-age offenders are lodged in the Schoolcraft County Jail.

During a preliminary hearing before Judge Faketty Monday afternoon, both youths were charged with unlawful entry and the second boy with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

One of the youths is being transferred to the jurisdiction of the Kent County Probate Court since his porents live in the Grand Rapids area; the court will discuss a possible change of custody with the Social Welfare Dept. for the other boy, Judge Faketty said.

Both youths were living in foster homes.

Two Delta County youths, 18-year-old Terry James Schweneman, Bark River, and 17-year-old Michael J. Thompson of Cornell, posted $50 bond and will appear in District Court Wednesday to answer charges of being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

The youths were arrested by city police at 11:15 Friday night and lodged in jail. They were driving an automobile on River St. at the time of their arrest.

Michigan State Police reported no injuries in a two-car collision which occurred at the junction of U.S. 2-Federal Highway 13 in Nahma Township at 3:45 Sunday afternoon. An auto driven by Charles W. Olsen of Gladstone pulled from the stop sign into the path of a car driven by Constance M. Quatsoe, Green Bay, who was travelling on U.S. 2. Olsen was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way and no registration proof, troopers said.

Briefly Told

Public Safety officers ticketed the following motorists for traffic offenses over the weekend: Clarence D. Salter, Detroit, non-stop; Frederick O. Jasmin, Rte. 1, speeding; Daniel J. Anderson, 220 Oak St., excessive noise and expired operator's license; and Catherine Ann Moffat, 235 Range St., excessive noise.

Michigan State Police cited Richard Skenandore, Chicago, and Jerry A. Terrian, Gulliver, both for speeding over the weekend.

The hot lunch menu for Wednesday in the Manistique Area Schools includes baked chicken, whipped sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, peanut butter, fruit and beverage.

Hospital

Discharged were Judith Osterhout, Mary LaTulip, Harriet Gentz, Dawn Russell, Robert Burton, George Dellis, Phyllis Putvin and Sonia Gehrett.

SALES REPRESENTATIVE
We're a 60 year old, AAA-1 manufacturer of fine greeting cards, gift wrappings, stationery, etc. Yes, we have young ideas and a record of fantastic growth. We have an excellent opening in Marquette, Mich., and surrounding areas.

The man we seek should be experienced in sales and merchandising; capable of presenting and selling our products to department stores, chain and independent drug, variety, supermarket and discount stores.

Our salesmen work on a salary with merit increases and additional income from individual incentive bonus plans. Men with present income in the $7,000 to $10,000 range will find this position attractive.

We furnish car, travel expenses, life and accident insurance, paid vacation, company paid retirement plan, optional stock savings plan and hospital and major insurance.

We'll tell you about our company. Show you our annual report, answer any questions you may have about us, and explain the opportunity we offer in sales.

Sound interesting? To arrange for personal interview, please call RALPH BUNTRACK in Marquette, Michigan at 906-225-1351 after 1 p.m., Monday, April 13 or anytime Tuesday or Wednesday, April 14-15.

GM 'Racing Motor' To Stop Nader Plan

DETROIT (AP) — On government orders, General Motors Corp. has placed before its stockholders two proposals submitted by a group headed by consumer advocate and GM gadfly Ralph Nader.

But, in proxy statements sent to its 1,350,000 stockholders in preparation for a May 22 annual meeting, the firm's directors dismissed both the proposals and their sponsor and urged "no" votes.

Nader Singled Out

Nader was singled out by the company as the prime promoter of the proposed changes which were put forth by a group of seven individuals called The Project on Corporate Responsibility, Inc

The crusading attorney has said his role is merely as a counselor for the group, which owns 12 of GM's 285 million shares of stock.

The group is seeking support from large shareholders such as universities and municipalties.

The changes are embodied in two resolutions which stockholders will be asked to consider at the May meeting.

Obey SCC Ruling

GM at first refused to include the resolutions in the proxy but was ordered to do so by the Securities and Exchange Commission last month.

One of the proposals calls for the formation of a 15 - man "Committee for Corporate Responsibility", while the other seeks to enlarge GM's board to 26 directors, adding three representatives of "the public."

The resolution proposing the committee seeks to make GM accountable for past and present decisions affecting society in general and would give the committee access to the auto firm's files and records.

Against Proposal

In its proxy statement, GM charged that the proposal to increase the size of the board of directors would result in the election of three persons not on the basis of their interest in the success of the corporation but "rather on the basis of their sympathy with the special interests of the sponsors of the proposal."

Chairman James Roche and President Edward Cole said management was recommending a vote against both proposals because they "would restrict management's ability to meet its responsibilities to the stockholders and the public."

In criticizing the proposals GM contended that Nader had promoted them by press interview, television appearances and otherwise.

Campaigns Against GM

"For many years, he has been identified with various campaigns against General Motors and was a prominent participant in a demonstration against the corporation at the General Motors Building in New York in December 1969," the automaker said.

Nader's book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," attacked the safety of GM's Corvair and helped set in motion government action to impose auto safety standards.

Nader later filed a multimillion dollar lawsuit charging that GM hired detectives to trail and harass him after the book was published. The suit is still pending.

Plan Rapped

GM said that while creation of the proposed committee is "purportedly investigatory" it is "structured for harassment and publicity."

As for adding three directors, the company said there was no valid reason for such a move.

"Any suggestion that General Motors Corporation has been deficient in considering the interest of the public in such matters as auto safety, pollution, mass transportation and the like is entirely contrary to fact," the proxy statement said.

To back up its argument, the company enclosed a booklet with each proxy detailing what it said was its "record of progress" in the fields of safety, smog, mass transit, plant safety and social welfare.

Salaries Lower

The corporate proxy statement also disclosed that GM's top officers and directors received slightly less in individual salaries and bonuses last year than in 1968.

Total allocations, however, were higher.

Six of the company's executives received earnings of more than $600,000 each. A total of $18,165,586 was distributed among 67 executives, compared with $17,739,500 for the previous year, which was split among 63.

Topping the list was Roche, the board chairman, whose salaries and bonuses added up to $789,943, down slightly from the $794,934 he made in 1968.

Cole was paid $702,247 in salary, bonus and credits, compared with $717,940 the previous year.

2,487 Michigan Traffic Deaths Rated Record

EAST LANSING (AP)— Michigan traffic deaths reached a record 2,487 in 1969, according to final State Police figures.

Some 175,400 persons were injured in 331,223 accidents, State Police said, adding all statistics set records.

The annual death rate climbed for the sixth straight year, the department said, exceeding 1968's total by 95 victims or four per cent.

In another development, meanwhile, a safety engineer told the public safety committee of the Michigan House that traffic deaths could be reduced by 30 per cent if stiffer laws on drunken driving are enacted.

Arthur Gibson, safety engineering manager of the Michigan Automobile Club, said the state should tighten its definition of drunk driving from 0.15 to 0.10 parts alcohol to blood.

Gibson also called for mandatory blood-alcohol tests of all victims of fatal accidents and at least breath tests of drivers who survive accidents in which others die.

State Police, in releasing final accident - driving statistics for 1969, said there were 4.56 million registered vehicles in the state and 5.1 million drivers. Total mileage driven was estimated as 50.9 billion miles, an increase of 5.9 per cent.

State Police said an estimated $500 million dollars were lost in all traffic accidents. They said that figure is an increase of 7.3 per cent over last year's combined loss of $465 million.

Ask Housewives' Help In Battle Against Pollution

EAST LANSING (AP) — You, Mrs. Housewife, can help cut pollution, says a Michigan State graduate student.

You can refuse to buy items that come in containers which do not easily decompose, rust or otherwise break down.

You can take your own shopping bag to the market with you to save on paper bags.

You can refuse to buy the products of manufacturers who are "major polluters and who are doing little or nothing about it."

So contends Malcolm Taylor, a graduate student active in one of Michigan State University's Environmental Act Organizations—E-Qual.

"One of the key words in the environmental crisis is "consumption," the amounts and kinds of material we use and eventually dispose of," Taylor says.

"Each day in this country we discard over one billion pounds of solid wastes," he says. "That amounts to a ton per year for every man, woman and child.

"The consumer — housewife, shopkeeper, plant foreman or school teacher—can do much to alleviate the problems this waste is causing."

Fear Extinction

HONOLULU (AP) — More than half the 85 species of animal and bird life in danger of extinction are found only in Hawaii, says George Du Bois of the Hawaii Wildlife Federation.

Du Bois said one threatened island species is the Hawaiian hawk, which now lays eggs so full of accumulated pesticides they no longer hatch.

He estimates the bird will be extinct within a decade.

Crippled Moonship Heads For Earth

Mission Control Retains Its Cool

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Glynn Lunney ran fingers through close-cropped hair, adjusted the headset clamped to his head and flashed a smile down the console.

"All right, everybody," he said. "We've got a number of things to do."

His voice was smooth, calm. No bark. No steely edge. He could have been on an outing with a Cub Scout pack.

Apollo 13 In Trouble

But the lives of three American astronauts 202,000 miles from home and nearing the moon hung in the balance. Apollo 13 was in trouble, moon landing aborted, and the astronauts' lives threatened.

And it was up to Lunney and his Black team of flight controllers at Mission Control to make order of the chaos.

Behind Lunney, in executive row, sat some of the top brass of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, drawn there in the wee hours of the night by word that the Apollo flight was in trouble.

Problems Noted

The problems, crowding in, demanded attention. But they had to be taken one at a time, the most pressing first.

"We'll set up the roll and let them watch it like they did on Apollo 8," he said about a procedure to keep the sun from overheating the spacecraft.

A controller disagreed.

"I don't see the point in the new procedure." Voice calm, he might have been discussing buying groceries with his wife.

"We keep stalling around. I don't see the point. Somebody tell me what the point is and I'll buy it."

Activation Begins

The astronauts, James Lovell, Fred Haise and John Swigert, began going through a checklist on activating the lunar module electrical system.

"OK, everybody, quiet in the room while we go through this activation."

A controller suggested telling the astronauts to skip part of the list to save time.

"Let's just let them go through it." Slight irritation, a father admonishing children to be quiet.

"We're just getting there. Let them go through the items one at a time."

Scene Looks Dull

A stranger entering Mission Control unaware of the crisis in space would have labeled the scene dull. But the little things told the story.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, sat slumped at a console, tieless, sleeves rolled up.

Several astronauts milled about, discussing problems with Lunney, making suggestions.

The viewing room, isolated by a glass wall behind the consoles, was packed, the plush, red theater chairs filled with tense, worried spectators.

Black Team At Work

Lunney and his Black team came to work about an hour after the Apollo 13 emergency arose, bringing fresh faces, straight ties and wrinkleless shirts.

But as the night wore on and dawn creeped up on Houston, faces grew long and haggard. The keen, adrenalin-fed edge of excitement began wearing off. The long, tedious wait began

The wait continues at least until Friday, with two other equally competent teams of flight controllers sharing the suspense.

"Will they have enough," one of the controllers asked about the life-giving electrical supply in the lunar lander.

"They'll have enough, but just barely," someone murmured.

U.S. Reports Soviet Nuclear Sub Missing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet nuclear attack submarine, perhaps with as many as 88 crewmen aboard, apparently has been lost in Atlantic waters 400 miles northwest of the Spanish coast.

The word came Monday from the Defense Department, which reported that American planes observed at least some of the drama of the high seas incident before the submarine disappeared last weekend.

Hunter-Killer Sub

The 3,500-ton vessel, one of a class of hunter-killer submarines capable of tailing American ships, was seen in distress Friday tnd Saturday, then vanished Sunday—with two oil slicks remaining.

No one actually saw her go down but Navy antisubmarine patrol planes had watched over the weekend as two Soviet surface ships attempted unsuccessfully to tie a towline to the sub in rough seas.

At one point Soviet crewmen stood on the deck of the surfaced submarine. The U.S. Navy P3 Orion planes, flying from an airbase in the Azores, saw none of them leave.

Surface Ships Out

"Late yesterday the Soviet surface ships were still in the area where the submarine was first sighted and were apparently conducting a search," the Pentagon said Monday. "It is possible that the Soviet nuclear submarine may have sunk."

There was no immediate reaction from the Soviet government to Washington's announcement. But Westerners in Moscow believed the submarine was on its way to take part in large-scale maneuvers which the Soviet Defense Department announced today are being held in both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through May.

The apparent loss came 23 months after an American nuclear submarine, the USS Scorpion, mysteriously vanished with a crew of 99 in the Atlantic while returning from a Mediterranean exercise.

There were no obvious similarities in the two incidents, however. The Scorpion was never sighted nor heard from and apparently disintegrated in the ocean depths.

No Russian Report

Scorpion debris was later found 400 miles southwest of the Azores. The Soviet submarine was spotted 400 miles northwest of Cape Finisterre, Spain—roughly 1,000 miles from the Scorpion's grave.

The question arose as to why the Pentagon elected to announce the Soviet misfortune, which was not immediately confirmed by the Russians.

One reason, knowledgeable officials said, was that the incident was certain to leak out anyway to American newsmen.

Space Officials Consider Risky 'Superfast' Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's imperiled astronauts battled to bring their crippled spaceship back to earth today as Mission Control Center considered a risky "superfast" return that would propel them home a day early and perhaps save their lives.

"Yes, barely," flight controller Glynn Lunney said when asked whether the three spacemen would make it back from their aborted moon landing mission, suddenly cut short Monday night when a violent rupture of unknown origin ripped through pressurized fuel tanks.

Officials are considering the quick return to bring Apollo 13 back to earth Thursday because they are concerned about oxygen and water supplies aboard the lunar module from which the astronauts are drawing life support.

Race Around Moon

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. conserved these vital consumables as they raced farther from earth, toward a loop around the moon tonight before starting the quarter-million-mile homeward journey.

Looping the moon is the safest way home, officials said, because Apollo 13 was close to its target when the accident happened and already was on a course that would take it around the moon's backside.

To stop short of the moon would have required considerable power and fuel expenditure, something the astronauts don't have with their big command ship engine idled by electrical failure.

Trigger Engine

The only powerplant available is the lunar module descent engine, the one intended to lower Lovell and Haise to the moon's surface. The spacemen triggered the engine 30 seconds early today to adjust their course slightly to a path that would take them around the moon and bring them back to earth late Friday if they made no other maneuver.

If that engine had failed to ignite, Apollo 13 would have swung back toward earth but would have missed by some 20,000 miles and would have been lost forever in space.

To speed the homeward trip by 10 hours, Lovell, Haise and late substitute Swigert plan at 9:40 p.m. EST tonight to trigger the engine again to increase their 2,600 m.p.h. speed by 558 miles an hour. That would land them in the Pacific Ocean north of New Zealand at 1 p.m. EST Friday.

Cite Drawbacks

Mission Control said at midmorning it still favored this plan. But officials huddled for a long time to consider a "superfast" return which would mean a longer burn of the lunar module engine. The result would be an earth landing about 1 p.m. Thursday.

Officials listed two drawbacks:

—The service compartment at the base of the command ship would have to be jettisoned and this could create a heat protection problem.

—The maneuver requires almost perfect alignment of the inertial guidance platform, something that may not be possible with the lunar module system. Normally, the command ship system would be used for such a firing.

"We will continue to study this option several hours," the control center said.

Water Critical

With about 80 hours to go before splashdown Friday, the astronauts had a 130-hour supply of oxygen. The water supply used for drinking and to cool electronics was more critical, but was listed as sufficient.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr., and late-substitute John L. Swigert Jr. drew life from the systems of the lunar landing craft Aquarius as they still streaked toward the moon. They plan to swing around the moon tonight before heading back to earth. It's the easiest and fastes. way home.

At 9:40 p.m. EST, about two hours after passing 156 miles above the moon's backside, they will trigger Aquarius' engine to speed up their return trip home by 10 hours. They may salvage a small something from the $375 million flight by taking scientific photos of the lunar surface.

Normally, the engine of the command ship Odyssey would be used to start the return trip. It has plenty of fuel, but the dead command vessel has no electricity to fire the power plant.

Activate Systems

Following the tank rupture, the astronauts activated the systems of the attached lunar module, or LM. They opened the connecting tunnel between the two craft so oxygen would flow into the command ship and make it livable.

Lovell's Wife Saving Words Until Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — "I'm not saying another word until Jim gets back home," Marilyn Lovell said today as her astronaut-husband aboard Apollo 13 fought a historic space battle to return to earth.

The wife of Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. stayed close to her space center monitor and a big color television set in her home as the space crisis unfolded 200,000 miles away.

At her side, in the small study used by Lovell in prepping for the mission, was Charles Conrad Jr., Apollo 12 moon explorer.

"She's pretty calm but tense," said Conrad as he left the Lovell home in the early morning hours, astride his red motorcycle.

"Sure they'll make it," Conrad said with enthusiasm, but added: "Of course it's always a shame to give up a mission."

"The atmosphere is tense, everyone listening to the squawk box and watching television," said space agency official Bob McMurrey in describing the activity in the homes of Lovell and astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr.

Before the trouble developed in space, Mrs. Lovell and Mary Haise were cheerful as they watched their husbands on Monday night's television show from space. They had gone to Mission Control to see the telecast.

In Denver, Swigert's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Swigert, said they were "very worried, just stunned" upon hearing of the Apollo trouble.

Dr. Swigert, a 67-year-old Denver ophthalmologist, was reported not feeling well. Mrs. Swigert, 63, said her husband's arthritis in his legs was bothering him.

Swigert's parents followed the events on television at home. With them were their two daughters, Mrs. Philip Spinelli and Mrs. Marcell Edwards, and three grandchildren, all Spinellis.

Air Controllers Return; Drivers, Teachers Don't

By The Associated Press

A 20-day-old strike by air traffic controllers appeared to be ending today, but some teachers and truck drivers remained on strike.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said 250 controllers returned to work today in New York. He said there were no absentees in Boston or Cleveland on the first shift. Washington, D.C., reported only one controller absent.

The back-to-work trend followed increasing court pressure on the controllers around the country, including a temporary injunction issued Monday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Orin G. Judd in New York.

Teachers in Los Angeles and Minneapolis remained on strike. But in Butte, Mont., teachers ended a four-day strike.

The 450 Butte teachers returned to work after school officials agreed to a change in contract wording of an administrator-hiring clause.

About half of Los Angeles' 25,000 teachers are striking for higher wages and smaller classes. In Minneapolis, the teachers struck on April 9 for similar demands.

Wildcat trucking strikes in various cities have caused thousands of layoffs in some parts-short industries. Cities affected included St. Louis, Buffalo, Milwaukee, and Kenosha, Wis.

The truck drivers are protesting a tentative nationwide contract that provides wage increases of $1.10 over three years. The Teamsters union is setting up a referendum on the contract.

Kopechne Documents Prepared For Release

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge had under consideration today a petition to stop publication of the secret record of the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. But the state went ahead printing copies of the documents set for release Wednesday morning.

Judge Andrew J. Caffrey Monday night delayed a decision on the claim of free lance court stenographer Sidney R. Lipman that he had the sole right to reproduce and sell copies of the 764-page document containing the testimony of inquest witnesses and the presiding judge's report.

Caffrey ordered lawyers for Lipman and Superior Court Clerk Edward V. Keating to file a memorandum of law with him by 1 p.m. today.

Keating, as custodian of the documents, arranged for copies to be made in advance of the scheduled release at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Caffrey called the unusual Monday night session to hear testimony from Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis on the terms of the contract he made with Lipman to transcribe the inquest proceedings last January.

It was Dinis who requested the inquest into the death of Miss Kopechne, a 28-year-old Washington secretary found dead in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car after it plunged off a bridge into a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island last July 18.

Dinis said he told Lipman that he believed copies of the record could be distributed for a fee when the court ordered the papers released.

Integration On 'Go' In Florida

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — With Gov. Claude Kirk on the sidelines, public school integration got the green light today in Manatee County.

Yellow buses were ordered to trundle 2,600 of the county's 17,000 pupils to new schools to provide an 80-20 balance of Caucasians and Negroes. The court-ordered desegregation plan also moved 107 teachers.

Kirk, who abandoned control of the county's schools in the face of a threatened fine of $10,000 a day for contempt of court, turned from defiance of a U.S District Court judge to pleading with a Court of Appeals.

"We didn't throw in the towel," Kirk said in New Orleans Monday as he filed two briefs with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. "We are in court. We are working within the system."

Kirk had suspended the local school officials in this Gulf Coast county south of Tampa last week to block the desegregation plan.

Kirk flew to New Orleans Monday to file his briefs personally "to give physical evidence of my conviction that we always must stay within the system."

The Justice Department followed Kirk into court with the assertion that the desegregation plan should be upheld for the time being.

Trucker Dispute Forces Layoffs

By The Associated Press

Layoffs in parts-short industries put additional thousands out of work today as a contract dispute between the nation's trucking companies and the Teamsters union moved toward a ballot-box showdown.

A company-imposed lockout and an all-out strike by Teamster locals and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers union idled as many as 40,000 drivers and dock workers in the Chicago area.

Wildcat walkouts by drivers dissatisfied over terms of a tentative national contract continued in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Detroit and in Buffalo, N.Y., and Cherryville, N.C.,

Interruption of parts shipments forced American Motors Corp. to shut down operations in Milwaukee; Kenosha, Wis., and Brampton, Ont., putting some 9,000 employes out of work.

Parts shortages also caused General Motors Corp. to lay off workers at two of its four plants in the Buffalo area Monday.

Ford Prepares For Douglas' Impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford says an article published in a controversial magazine by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas removes all doubt about the need for impeaching him.

Ford, who has conducted an investigation of the 71-year-old Douglas for about seven months, said he plans to outline the results of his probe in a House speech Wednesday.

He said publication of the article, a condensation of Douglas' book "Points of Rebellion," in Evergreen magazine "was the straw that broke the camel's back."

"If there ever was any doubt about the need for impeachment proceedings against Justice Douglas they were eliminated by publication of the April issue of Evergreen," the GOP Leader said.

After Ford makes his speech, Reps. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Joe Waggonner Jr., D-La., and others plan to introduce a resolution calling for creation of a special committee to investigate possible impeachment of Douglas.

Ford said to avoid any partisan tinge he would not join in sponsoring the resolution, but added he would personally vote to impeach Douglas.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the timing of the resolution—coming on the heels of the Senate rejection of the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell—smacks of political retaliation.

But Ford and others denied that politics had anything to do with it.

Ford, Wyman and Waggonner declined to delve into specific cases at a news conference, but they said the resolution will have the backing from both parties.

North Vietnamese Hit Border Post

SAIGON (AP) — Striking from inside Cambodia with big rockets and assault troops, North Vietnamese wrecked the South Vietnamese border crossing post on Highway One, but the defenders killed 96 of the attackers, sources said.

Many of the North Vietnamese were killed by South Vietnamese bombers and artillery fire that crossed the border 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

Seven off the 150 militiamen manning the border post were reported killed and more than a dozen wounded, but sturdy defense bunkers kept the South Vietnamese casualty toll down. One civilian, a member of a militiaman's family, also was killed.

New York Paper Strike Called Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A scheduled 6 a.m. strike by the New York Newspaper Guild against the New York Post was postponed indefinitely early today to allow mediators more time to try and resolve a contract dispute.

Labor mediator Theodore W. Kheel announced the move at 3:20 a.m. after a day and night of intensive mediation efforts. There was no new management offer to break what he had called the "total impasse' in the talks.

DeVos Is Mayor Of 'New' City Council

Ronald F. DeVos, bank officer, is Escanaba's new mayor, elected to that two-year office by his fellow City Council members at an organization meeting at the Civic Center Monday night.

DeVos received the highest vote in the recent municipal election and the Council, following a custom of many years, elected him mayor. Councilman Robert Bink, who has served as mayor pro-tem, continued in that office.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase turned the gavel over to his successor and wished him well, and DeVos responded with an expression of confidence in his fellow councilmen and declared the Council will work to the best interests of the people of the community.

The New Members

Three newly-elected members were sworn into office by City Clerk Guindon. They are:

Mayor DeVos, who resides at 2515 Lake Shore Drive, is assistant cashier of the First National Bank and Trust Co., and has resided in Escanaba for the past five years. He was born in Chicago in 1931.

Councilman Albin S. Pearson Jr. 2525 Ist Ave. S., is a native of Escanaba, and is president of the Pearson Supply Co. He and DeVos were elected for terms of four years.

Councilman Richard J. Pryal of 204 N. 14th St. has served on the Council by appointment for the past 15 months. He is proprietor of the Goodman Drug Store and was born in Esctnaba in 1931.

Retiring from the Council and not candidates for reelection were Edward J. Cox and Miles Dupuie.

After the brief organization meeting required by city charter the Council met at the City Hall with City Manager George Harvey to begin budget deliberations.

Budget Study

Harvey briefed the Council on problems facing the city and on projects and programs and their relationship to the 1970-71 budget Major considerations are the city's salary schedule and capital outlay program.

The budget study will continue with the manager responsible for placing a tentative budget before the Council by May 1, and the Council placing the budget before the people for public hearing at its meeting on May 21, with adoption to follow in June.

The next regular meeting of the "new" Council will be at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 16, at the Civic Center.

Approval of a preliminary plat of Goulais Subdivision No. 2, a portion of which is set aside for multi-family development, is the first item on the agenda for Thursday.

First Meeting

The proposed area to be platted is west of the present Goulais residential development.

The Planning Commission gave the preliminary plat unanimous approval after several meetings in which provisions for control of multi-family development discussed.

When the developer spelled out specific controls to be exercised, setting up requirements which would be incorporated as deed restrictions and would keep the multi-family area in harmony with existing single family development, the Commission approved the plat.

Building heights are not to exceed 2½ stories or 30 feet; each living unit with one bedroom is to have not less than 750 square feet, two bedroom units 1,000 square feet; setbacks from the street must be 35 feet; paved off-street parking is to be provided; and building design must be consistent with living units now in the neighborhood.

Annual Audit

The Council on Thursday night will also have before it:

The matter of authorizing purchase of July 4 fireworks; first reading of an ordinance to establish fire zones in the city: and the authorizing of certified public accountants for the annual city audit.

Request for authorization to write off certain delinquent accounts; report and recommendation on bids to supply the city with asphalt and asphalt emulsion; report and recommendation on bids for the sale by the city of a residential lot at 12th Ave. S. and 22nd St.

Request for authorization to demolish a condemned garage building in the 100 block of N. 5th St. and the cost to be spread on the tax roll; adoption of a resoltuion commending Student Councils of the local high schools for their city park cleanup program; and adoption of a proclamation designating Bicycle Safety Week and Bicycle Rodeo Day.

Merriman Smith, Top Newsman, Takes Own Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Merriman Smith, White House correspondent for United Press International for 28 years, is dead at age 57, apparently of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Smith received the Pulitzer Prize in 1963 for his coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

He suffered a severe illness in December 1968, but recovered. Ten days ago he entered a District of Columbia hospital. He told his office Monday he had a severe cold and would not be in to work.

When Smith'ss wife checked on him after he did not anwer her call in their Alexandria, Va., home, she found him in a bathroom, with a bullet wound through his head and a .357 magnum revolver nearby.

In a statement, President Nixon praised Smith, saying "Smitty was a reporter I knew and respected for many years and so tonight, I feel a real sense of personal loss. Mrs. Nixon joins me in expressing our deepest sympathy to his family."

Win Place In State Finals

Two students from Escanaba Area Public High School have qualified to compete in the state forensic finals to be held at Ann Arbor on May 2.

They are Jody Bisdee, whose dramatic dialogue won a first place in that category in the regional forensic finals at Marquette on Saturday; and Karen Wigand, who placed third at Marquette in original oratory.

Other Area High School students who participated at Marquette are Mark Olson, with a humorous reading, and Sue Nicholson, dramatic monologue. Both received certificates of excellence.

Sam Martilla Dies Today In Marquette

Samuel Martilla, 90, formerly of Rte. 1 Rock, died at 9:25 a.m. Monday at the Morgan Heights Nursing Home in Marquette. He was born Feb. 25, 1880 in Finland and was a retired farmer.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Jack (Lila) Hamilton of Burbank, Calif., Mrs. Joseph (Ellen) Garbarino of Milwaukee, Ore., and Mrs. Ronald (Aune) Harvey of Richland, Wash; two sons, Raino of Milwaukee and Thomas of California.

The body has been removed to the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home in Gladstone and funeral arrangements will be announced later today.

Newcomers To Meet Thursday

The April meeting of the Escanaba Newcomer's Club will be held April 16 in the Hospitality Room of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

The program for the evening will be presented by the Tebear Sewing Center. Knit and stretch material will be discussed and sewing procedures will be demonstrated including the making of a swim suit.

Members are to bring articles for the rummage sale to be held in May. All newcomers are invited and are to use the lighted parking lot in the back of the Gas Co. and the rear entrance. For more information or transportation call, 786-7739 or 786-2034.

Rally Of Champs Held On Sunday

The Delta Sports Car Club held the "Rally of Champs" Sunday, sponsored by Phil and Lynn George, Jill Derouin and Jim Cool.

Ken and Sandy Wicklander captured first place in the expert class and second place went to Terry and Cindy McDonough. Bill and Mary Kelly took first place in the novice class, while Jack and Barb Lindstrom snared second and Tom and Patti Mercier took third. Jack and Barb Lindstrom won the poker hand.

The next rally will be held in May with Ken and Sandy Wicklander and Diane and Russ Flath sponsoring.

Events

Extension Club

The Hydettes Extension Club met last evening at the home of Mrs. Emily Porath. Cards were played and the guest award was presented to Mrs. Frank Emmons.

Plans were made for members to end a closing dinner at the Log Cabin on May 19. Mrs. Louis Johnson is club president.

Death Claims Mrs. Hellsten

MANISTIQUE — Mrs. Maurice (Gerda) Hellsten, 76, of 256 N. Cedar St., died at 8:45 a.m. Monday at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient since March 20.

The former Gerda Westman was born Oct. 5, 1893 in Sweden and she came to the United States at the age of 16. She had resided in Manistique since 1930.

She was married to the former Maurice Hellsten in 1917 in Ironwood. He died Oct. 25, 1954. Mrs. Hellsten was a member of the Zion Lutheran Church and the Manistique Senior Citizens Club.

She is survived by three sons: Chief M. Sgt. Gunnar Hellsten of San Antonio, Tex., Bernard of Ensley City, Mich., and Albert of LaCrescent, Minn.; two daughters, Mrs. J. Witter (Ruth Reid) and Mrs. Robert (Wilma) Videtich of Manistique; two brothers, Frans of Westman and Axel in Sweden; three sisters, Mrs. Albert Anderson of Hudson, Wis., and two sisters in Sweden; 18 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Friends may call at the Messier-Broullire Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Wednesday and complete funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday at the funeral home with the Rev. Ingmar Levin officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

It takes about five million workers to assemble, process and distribute the nation's farm-food products.

Art Group Will Hear Pratt On Picture Framing

Bay de Noc Art Association will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday in room 10 at Bay de Noc Community College. Subject of the meeting is "How to Frame Pictures."

Larry Pratt of Larry's Framing Shop, Escanaba, will present information on professional framing and will show materials used in his work. Framed pictures will be on display. Members are invited to bring their work to be used in an exchange of framing information. The public is invited to attend.

Jaycees To Hold Regional Meeting At Marquette

Jaycees from throughout the Upper Peninsula will be in Marquette Saturday to attend the spring District-Regional meeting, hosted by the Marquette chapter at the Northwoods Supper Club.

Special guests will include Patrick M. Novak, Farmington, president of the Michigan Jaycees; Donn Wrench, Port Huron, and Larry Wine, Charlotte, executive vice presidents, and State Representative David M. Serotkin, Republican, Mt. Clemens.

Delegations from 12 Upper Peninsula chapters will attend the meeting. These include Sault Ste. Marie, Manistique, Munising, Escanaba, Ishpeming-Negaunee, Norway-Vulcan, Iron River, Iron Mountain-Kingsford, Menominee, Ontonagon, Ironwood and Marquette.

Kiwanis Hears About New Kidney Therapy

Probably a lesser known disease but equally as serious as both cancer and heart trouble, was the topic of David St. Clair, field director for the Michigan Kidney Foundation, at the noon meeting of the Escanaba Kiwanis Club.

In his discussion, St. Clair said that more than 300 families in Michigan will hear this year that one of their loved ones is suffering from a kidney disease.

St. Clair stated that there is a definite lag between what has to be done and what is being done to try and curb kidney disease. However, up to 10 years ago, there was little that could be done, but now transplantation of kidneys from donors and the dialysis machine have entered the picture, offering new hope.

The most successful kidney transplantations have been made with blood relatives, he stated, especially identical twins.

The artificial kidney machines are now perfected so that a patient can use them right in his own home after proper training. There are 10 training centers located in the State of Michigan and it takes from 8 to 13 weeks to train a person.

The kidney machines can be purchased outright, or can be procured through the Veteran's Administration, Michigan Crippled Children's Foundation, Vocational Rehabilitation, Medicaid, to name some. When all else fails, the Kidney Foundation of Michigan will make a machine available to a patient at no charge, regardless of the length of time it is needed. The only stipulation is that the machine must be returned to the foundation when it is no longer needed.

The Kidney Foundation receives these machines from donations from churches, fraternal organizations and also from a very active kidney association throughout the state. A very large amount of machines have been purchased through an agreement with Betty Crocker on a coupon collection.

To emphasize his talk, St. Clair presented a 20 minute film entitled "Everybody's Problem," which portrayed the care available to kidney patients. He also passed out booklets entitled the "5 Warning Signs of Kidney Disease."

These warning signs include:

1. Puffiness around the eyes, particularly in children.
2. Swelling of parts of the body.
3. Lower back (flank) pain just below the ribs.
4. Visibly bloody, or coffee colored urine. Changes in the pattern of urination, increased frequency, urination at night.
5. Burning or any abnormal sensation on urination.

As in most other diseases, early detection of the disease is very important.

Census To End In About Week

The 1970 Census is nearing completion in the Upper Peninsula, according to Mrs. Robert Hansley of Escanaba, district manager.

"In about another week, census takers should have visited every residence on their lists," she said.

Census takers began visiting households on April 1. Mrs. Hensley asked that householders hold their questionnaires, which were delivered prior to April 1, and have them filled out, ready for the census taker to pick up. This will save time for both the householder and the census taker and speed up the completion of the census, she said.

For every fifth household, the census taker will have a longer questionnaire which she fill fill out by interviewing a member of the household.

Most of the census takers are women. Each wears a red, white and blue identification badge which is her official credential. It bears her signature and certifies that she is authorized to perform the duties of a Census Enumerator, and has sworn to keep confidential all census information given her.

Mail Carriers Go Mechanized

Postmaster James E. Pryal announced that Escanaba Post Office has taken delivery on 13 new 1968-69 ¼-ton right-hand drive vehicles manufactured by Kaiser, making the Escanaba Post Office the first in the Upper Peninsula to mechanize its carriers.

Pryal listed three objectives to this program:

1. To improve service by advancing delivery, when possible. Also to deliver parcel post with the letter mail, eliminating misdelivered parcels having forwarding information available and better utilize the carrier's knowledge of his patrons.

2. To improve working conditions for carriers by reducing the load to be carried, reducing walking and providing some protection from the weather.

3. Reduce costs by eliminating parcel post deliveries and the vehicle involved, eliminating transportation costs, reducing street time and removing relay boxes with their maintenance costs.

The routes at the present time are undergoing evaluations to come up with the best possible adjustments to conserve time and use of the vehicles.

U-M Officials, Milliken Reject Agnew Charges

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Officials of the University of Michigan reacted swiftly and angrily Monday night to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's charge that they had engaged in a "callow retreat from reality" by agreeing to up the black student enrollment to 10 per cent by 1973.

In a speech delivered before a Rapublicar gathering in Des Moines, Iowa, the vice president said the action could cheapen the University of Michigan's diploma by allowing unqualified students to enter.

Says Misinformed

"The vice president is badly misinformed about the commitment the university's regents, faculty and administration have made to provide educational opportunity to disadvantaged young people, particularly blacks," said University President Robben W. Fleming in a statement issued Monday night.

The university's regents and administration agreed earlier this month to aim for a 10 per cent black enrollment and to provide financial aid for the minority group students by the 1973-74 school year. The action came after a two - week boycott led by the Black Action movement.

At its peak, the strike cut class attendance by nearly a half. Currently, about three per cent of Michigan's 35,000 students are black. The agreement which ended the strike was negotiated by Fleming.

Milliken Defends U-M

In Lansing, Gov. William Milliken, a Republican who faces reelection this fall, came to the defense of the university.

"I believe Vice President Agnew was wrong in his attack on the Univesrity of Michigan," the governor said in a statement. "In making his judgment, the vice president did not have as much information as did the elected board of regents in making its decision.

"By admitting more black students, the university will not be lowering its standards but meeting its constitutional obligation to provide equal access to educational opportunities.

"The University of Michigan has been one of the nation's outstanding universities. It will continue to be," he said.

Members of the school's board of regents also came to Fleming's defense.

First For School

"I'm sick and tired of Fleming being referred to as spineless," said Regent Gertrude Hubner, a Republican from Bloomfield Hills. "It takes more guts to negotiate than to call in the National Guard. I'm very proud of how he handled it."

Fleming and several regents said the university, for some time, has been recruiting black students under its opportunity awards program and has accepted a number of students under the program who might ordinarily not have qualified for admittance.

"The University of Michigan is the first major public university noted for its academic excellence to set as a top priority the enrollment of at least 10 per cent black students by 1973-74," Fleming said.

Prof. Gardner Ackley, former chairman of the Council of economic Advisers and ambassador to Italy under President Lyndon Johnson was also unhappy about the vice president's speech.

In the speech, Agnew quoted from an account in the Ann Arbor News, of a speech which Ackley, now Henry Carter Adams professor of economics at Michigan, gave at a faculty meeting during the turmoil over the Black Action Movements demands.

" 'This has been a very tragic year...which has seen the beginning of the destruction of this university...,' " Agnew quoted Ackley as saying. " 'It is being destroyed by its own faculty and administration.

" 'The university's administration,' he (Ackley) said, is 'unwilling or unable to resist the destroyer. However ridiculous or worthy the cause, it will win in proportion to the willingness of its supporters to disrupt the life of the university."

Some of the quotes "are very badly out of context," said Ackley, who said he resented Agnew's use of his speech.

OK Millage

MONROE (AP) — The voters in two Monroe County school districts Monday approved four millage levies and rejected one.

The Jefferson Schools District voters approved renewal of a five - mill operating levy and a new two - mill operating levy. The two levies will yield $315,000 for the district.

Voters in the Mason Consolidated Schools District approved renewal of a two - mill operating levy, rejected a new four-mill levy, and approved a new two-mill levy. The approval of the two issues will net the district $160,000 in operating funds.

Timber Meeting Set At Gaylord

The first Forest Industry Conference in Michigan to bring both mill operator and woods producers together April 17-18 in Gaylord is an approach by Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., to find practical recommendations from the industry itself for solution of some of its problems.

Timber, Inc., was organized through the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and worked its own stand of timber as a pilot study to gain what cost determinations it could. The program came up with many figures but officials realized this approach had no great meaning or purpose for the average producer.

Too many problems the average producer faced were not considered in the pilot study and too many findings were not applicable to individual situations, said Timber Inc., spokesmen.

Reorganization was immediately started. Two graduate foresters were engaged and they began working with the producer on his own grounds, finding his problems and ascertaining what areas could be used as the scene of practical efforts to assist him.

As a result, the conference was scheduled in Gaylord. Mill operators and producers will work with findings by Timber, Inc., and their own observations to develop practical recommendations for further action.

Doctor Shortage

The Michigan Health Council, which among other things keeps an eye on the health of the medical profession in Michigan, reported the other day that Michigan is losing ground in its efforts to provide medical doctors for the two areas that need doctors most — inner-city metropolitan areas and outstate rural communities.

"Only 17 more doctors are registered to practice medicine in Michigan as of March 20, 1970, than on the same day in 1969," reported John A. Doherty of East Lansing, executive director of the Health Council. "There are 8,759 licensed today compared with 8,742 last year."

But if Michigan, as a whole, isn't keeping pace with the growing population, the Upper Peninsula is at least holding its own.

According to Health Council statistics, the U. P. as of March 20 had a total of 226 medical doctors in its 15 counties. That was one less than a year ago, but 16 more than in 1961 and if projections showing a slight decline in overall population for the Upper Peninsula hold up in the 1970 census the ratio of doctors per person has improved.

Since 1961, seven counties in the Upper Peninsula — Gogebic, Iron, Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac, Menominee and Ontonagon — have lost doctors. In that same period, Alger, Baraga, Chippewa, Dickinson, Houghton, Marquette and Schoolcraft counties have registered gains. Delta County, although the number of doctors has gone as high as 26, has exactly the same number today, 21, as in 1961.

Marquette County, which has become a center of medical activity for the Upper Peninsula, has the greatest number of doctors, 65, and also has shown the greatest increase in the statistical period, jumping from 48 to 65. The greatest loss has been in Menominee County, where the number of practicing physicians declined from 16 in 1961 to 10 last month.

Doherty points out that the Vietnam War has caused a drain on the medical manpower of the state as in 1962 there were 277 doctors in service compared with 615 today, a gain of 338, and also that Michigan has more doctors serving in the Peace Corps, medical missions and on the S. S. Hope this year. But he also says that in recent years Michigan has been educating only half of the number of doctors needed to meet the needs of its citizens.

"Over 142 communities are seeking 600 or more family doctors," the Health Council reports. "Seventy-five communities are seeking 1,400 or more medical specialists. Several hospitals could be forced to close for lack of sufficient doctors unless improvement in medical manpower is forthcoming."

The problem of specialists is readily apparent in Delta County. With a few exceptions, most residents of the county in need of specialized attention must go to Marquette, Green Bay or elsewhere for attention.

The Michigan Health Council makes several suggestions about what might be done in the state to improve the medical manpower situation, including an amendment to the Basic Science Law eliminating the need for graduates of approved medical schools in the United States and Canada to take extensive, time-consuming examinations and a strong recommendation that the Legislature appropriate more money to medical schools to train doctors.

Nearly 4,000 students who will graduate from colleges in Michigan this year have applied for medical school training and unless additional funds are available to expand enrollments only 387 will be admitted, the Health Council says.

Doherty said "it is imperative that we up our enrollment to 500 to 600 medical students annually."

While there must have been a sound reason behind the Basic Science Law, like guaranteeing standards, and the legislature probably would have questions about retention of doctors trained to serve the state if funds for increased enrollments are considered, the two proposals seem to make sense. But they should come together.

Increasing enrollments in state medical schools would provide more doctors for Michigan, but it would also make more available to neighboring states who apparently accept Michigan graduates without the red tape doctors encounter coming to Michigan. To avoid exporting doctors, aside from legislation requiring Michigan graduates to remain in Michigan to practice for a specified number of years, is practically impossible. But if the state is going to lose a number of doctors, it should make it possible to import doctors under equal terms.

Peninsula Potpourri

After 20 years of worshipping together, but maintaining separate identities, the congregations of the First Presbyterian and Congregational Church of Calumet voted to accept by-laws setting up a united church. The new church will be formally known as the Community Church of Calumet.

Sam M. Cohodas, president of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Marquette announced that the board of directors had given approval to the construction of a new University Area Branch, which will be erected on North Third St., adjacent to the present branch building. The new branch building will be a full service bank and will handle all types of banking services, including drive-up services and safety deposit boxes.

Not quite as regularly as the swallows of Capistrano, deer in the Grand Marais area nevertheless return each spring. Like tame pets, they're wandering the streets of this picturesque little community on the shores of Lake Superior, feeding on the shoots of young trees and occasionally munching morsels of food put out by townspeople. One resident said he counted 70 deer in the Coast Guard Point area, between Canal St. and Lake Superior. Fifty more were back there the next day. Nobody molests the animals, which sometimes will permit people to get close enough to pet them.

Republicans Sputter About Goof On Clips

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Tommy Farrell is going to try to forget the goof that handed Democratic State Sen. Sander M. Levin a bit of campaign fodder and he wishes everyone else would, too.

Right now Farrell is up to his ears in explanations and could use a vacation.

Crunch.

Farrell, as Whitmer's public information chief, collected the clippings on Milliken's announcement of a 10-point program last December to breathe new life into the Upper Peninsula economy.

Plan Unraveled

Farrell splashed headlines across a cover and published 100 copies of a 16-page booklet to show state officials what a grand job the Department of Commerce is doing.

From that point, everything unraveled.

Republican State Chairman William L. McLaughlin asked for 500 copies. So Farrell said the price would be $80, he'd send a bill. That was to be the end of it.

The 500 copies for McLaughlin got lost in the Commerce Department's printing operation. Another 500 was ordered. Then part of the original 500 showed up.

"Look, I'm an old firehorse newspaperman," said Farrell. "I'm for information and I want to get as much of it in circulation as I can."

Farrell decided it would be a waste to let the extra copies gather dust, so he sent them to newspapers with some other departmental releases.

Levin Cries Foul

Levin's people got a copy and cried foul — still unaware that the Republican State Central Committee had finally got its 500 copies.

"It was a good campaign thing," said a GOP staffer here.

Levin, getting an early foot in the governor's race, made a whole speech out of it at a Grand Rapids campaign meeting. He said Farrell's enterprise using tax money was more political than service.

"It's bad enough that the Commerce Department is wasting time, money and effort on this silly campaign document, but what is worse is that they have obviously spent more time on publicizing their plans to help the desperately troubled Upper Peninsula, than they have spent on implementing those plans," he said.

"There can be no valid purpose served by wasting pages and pages of printing, running copies of the same story over and over again. In fact, I see no valid public purpose at all.

"There is no followup, no action, only slick public relations and drift.

"This is the kind of government by press release and slick pamphlet which has characterized the whole Milliken administration. The motto might well be, 'Milliken published while problem solving perishes.' "

Farrell Aghast

Farrell was aghast.

"I didn't want to be a bureaucrat about this," he said. "It was information and I wanted to get it out. Sure the headlines were favorable to Milliken.

"But I can't tell a deskman on a newspaper what to write in his headlines even if I wanted to."

Farrell started his adult life as a newspaperman in Grand Rapids, later going to United Press International in Detroit and Lansing, then to state government, then to the Michigan Catholic Conference, now back to state government again.

That's what gave Farrell his yen for information.

Maybe he's overtrained, but it's his very own yen.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
5 ♠

Opening lead—two of clubs.

As the play progresses, declarer learns more and more about the makeup of the adverse hands, and quite often he can put this knowledge to effective use.

Consider this deal where South (Harold Ogust, well-known New York expert) became declarer at five spades—due to excessive exuberance by his partner.

You would think that South would go down after East won the club lead with the ace and returned a diamond to the ace, but Ogust managed the affair so well that he made the contract despite East's formidable holding of the K-J-10 of trumps.

He cashed the A-K of hearts and continued with a heart, ruffing with the eight—which won the trick as West discarded a diamond. It was not difficult for Ogust to deduce from West's failure to overruff that East had the K-J-10 of spades, and the only problem was how to go about eliminating one of East's two natural trump tricks.

This did not prove to be impossible after Ogust cashed the king of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy, ruffed a diamond, ruffed another heart with the nine, cashed dummy's king of clubs and ruffed the ten of clubs in his hand to produce this three-card position:

North
♠ A Q
♥ 8

West
♦ 9

East
♠ K J 10

South
♠ 5 2
♦ J

Ogust now led the jack of diamonds and discarded the eight of hearts from dummy. East had to ruff and lead back a spade, and the outcome was that East's magnificent holding of the K-J-10 of trumps over the A-Q lost much of its luster.

Ecological Pioneers Merit Recognition

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The rumbles about the plans for "Earth Day" on April 22 are, in one sense, disturbing.

Veterans of the "ecological struggle," who have been working for years to promote what they call the "science of survival," have been ignored by the high school and college crowd that is trying to make the anti-pollution crusade "their thing."

On the other hand, there are the science teachers in the 4,000 schools that intend to participate in "Earth Day" exercises — and these represent a stable element in promoting an awareness of the need to clean up the environment. They will be there next year after this year's crusade, which threatens to become a shortsighted anti-capitalist binge, has given way to something else.

It disturbed me to learn that my friend, Devin Garrity, who, as the head of the Devin Adair Publishing Co., has been publishing ecological books for years and is now promoting an Ecological Book Club, has not been asked to do a blessed thing in connection with the "Earth Day" program. Nor has Mrs. Joy Lee, who started the conservation group known as PYE (Protect Your Environment) at the Thomas School in Rowayton, Conn.

Either the young don't know who their natural allies are, or they are not sincere about working with individuals or groups which have shown some success in pushing the conservation cause within the framework of the only political and economic system that we have, or are likely to have for years to come.

The saga of Mrs. Lee ought to get top billing April 22. It wasn't so very long ago that that there was only one PYE club, the one formed at the Thomas School to preserve Connecticut costal wetlands from the indiscriminate dumping of old tires and rusty iron. The Thomas School club did yeoman work in persuading the Connecticut Legislature to pass a law calling for a survey and preservation of Connecticut's salt marshes, which are important spawning grounds for fish.

This is a local story, but the subsequent adventures of the PYE clubs is national. Almost within the space of a year the number of PYE groups has jumped from a solitary one to a busy 60. And 77,000 PYE buttons have been sold to the clubs' supporters.

Mrs. Lee has since transferred her efforts to Georgia, where she has persuaded Governor Lester Maddox to support new legislation designed to save the famous Glynn marshes, which make Connecticut salt meadows look pygmy-size by comparison.

Mrs. Lee, in a telephone conversation, said she felt sad that she hadn't been asked to do anything in connection with "Earth Day." But she refuses to be downcast about the long-term chances for a sound anti-pollution movement.

The young people, she said, would ultimately learn that you don't spread a gospel very efficiently by "backing people into corners."

Her Thomas School girls in Connecticut moved through existing community channels to pressure the State Legislature into doing something about preserving the tidelands. They deluged the legislators with some 800 personal handwritten letters. They got the commuters, many of whom are fishing and sailing fanatics, interested in something that would be good for their own hobbies, which depend on a clean Long Island Sound.

She would like to drive it home to the Students for a Democratic Society crowd that they are dependent on capitalistic industry for the technological information and methods that will, some day, get pollution out of our air and streams. And, even more important, there are those teachers of the "Earth Sciences," who will be the backbone of any continuing interest in the conservation movement.

As for Garrity and his publishing company, which, because it is conservatively oriented, has struggled ever since the Thirties without getting much help from our liberal review media, they aren't surprised that the "Earth Day" organizers haven't asked them for help in promoting the "ecological view."

They are used to a lonely fight. But it could be of interest that one of the Devin Adair ecological books, "The Web of Life" by John Storer, has sold more than a million copies in paperback. Or that Marjory Bartlett Sanger's "World of the Great White Heron," a study of the ecology of the Florida keys, has been one factor in the success of the movement to save the Everglades, which are just to the north of the keys.

The fight for a clean environment wasn't born yesterday, and the "Earth Day" demonstrators owe it to themselves to learn something about the pioneers who have made their movement possible.

Parent Asking Fair Share In Home Life

Dear Ann Landers: I am a parent who is sick and tired of reading articles on "How To Get Along With Your Teen-Ager." I wish someone would write an article on "How To Get Along With Your Parents." Here are a few suggestions for openers:

If Mom and Dad are short tempered and unpleasant, try using a few obsolete phrases such as, "What can I do to help?" "Yes, I'd be happy to." Another one is, "Thank you."

When the phone rings or there is a knock at the door, don't play like you are deaf. Get off your duff and see who it is — even though an able-bodied adult is right in the same room.

Offer to do a favor for your old beat-up mother — like hang up your clothes, clean the bathtub after you've used it or straighten up your room.

Be polite. When your parents turn on a Glenn Miller record and start to dance don't fall on the floor laughing. Show some respect. After all, folks in their 40's and 50's don't know better. It's the way they used to dance in the olden days.

This is a plea for tolerance and understanding, kids. Give us old fogies a break. We need it. — 1918

Dear 1918: That's my year, too. Thanks for speaking in behalf of us museum pieces. It's high time somebody gave us an assist.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: You have stated many times that you don't believe in lonely hearts clubs and computer matching—and for good reason. But you, Ann Landers, could perform a wonderful service if you would help the lonesome people in this world to find each other.

You could run a very high-type bureau. Each applicant's letter would be carefully considered. They would be required to send character references supplied by employers and clergymen. You might also agree to interview the finalists in your home.

The applicants could be matched according to age, religious affiliations, educational backgrounds, interests, hobbies and so on. For example, a widow with three small children could be matched with a widower with two small children. Get it? Please give this idea serious consideration, Ann. — Seattle

Dear Seattle: All I need is to open a matchmaking bureau in my home and I would be a divorcee with no small children. No husband in his right mind would stand for it.

I'm sure there are many decent people in the world who are lonely and would appreciate an introduction to other decent people who are also lonely, but playing Cupid can be dangerous and I want no part of it.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: A certain girl in our crowd thinks she is you. All of a sudden she remembered her middle name is Ann and she wants everyone to call her that. She gives advice to everybody whether they ask for it or not. She even tries to talk like you but it doesn't come off. She sounds ridiculous. Last week she started to comb her hair like yours. How do you feel about this? P. S. She is 14 years old. — Port Huron

Dear Port: Flattered.

COHO POLLUTION

The coho salmon is considered a trash fish in the ocean, but the Department of Natural Resources planted them in the Great Lakes and they go up our rivers and streams to spawn or lay their eggs then die.

Cliff Long, DNR Fish Biologist, says that the spring rains and melting snow will wash them down the streams and rivers and that is probably right, but where do they go? Into our bays and lakes, where walleyes, northern pike, perch and other game fish feed. They pollute the water where people swim along the shores.

At Thompson, west of Manistique, the shore is lined with dead coho.

The DNR is planting 100,000 coho's in the Haymeadow Creek which flows into the Whitefish Rover and into Little Bay de Noc. We will say that about half or 50,000 of them survive, stay in the bay and Lake Michigan for a year and a half and feed on every fish that swims in the Great Lakes. Muskrats and ducks also have been found in their stomachs.

Then they go up the Haymeadow Creek to spawn or lay their eggs after eating about "ten times" their weight during their cycle. They will die and about 3,000 will be snagged by sport fishermen because then they can't open their mouths to eat. That leaves about 47,000 fish that average about 10 to 15 pounds each to die and that's about a half million pounds or better of dead fish to wash down our streams and rivers to pollute the waters.

If the DNR would plant walleye, northern pike, perch and trout that are native fish to these waters they wouldn't have to plant every year because these fish produce by themselves where coho, they say, don't reproduce (and thank heaven they don't because in 5 or 6 years you wouldn't be able to catch anything but coho).

You can go over by Manistique and the mouth of the Thompson Creek and see dead salmon on the beach by the hundreds, lining our beaches about a quarter mile from the swimming beach and by now right on the beach where people swim.

Lloyd Ranguette
Fayette

(Editor's Note: According to Cliff Long, district fish biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, about 20,000 adult salmon from 1968 plantings returned to the Whitefish Rover system in 1969. About 5,000 were caught by sports fishermen, leaving about 15,000 to spawn and die, not 47,000. The DNR is monitoring affects of the dieoff at 17 locations to determine what impact, if any, it has on the habitat.)

State Legislature Faces Important Working Role

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Legislature enters mid-April faced with its annual threat of being stoppered behind a bottleneck of controversial and demanding bills.

With the Senate expected to concentrate this week on committee meetings these are the major issues in the House:

—Whether to block decentralization of the Detroit school system: and how to consolidate local school districts elsewhere in the state.

—Whether to recommend that Michigan voters grant 18-year-olds access to the ballot box; and whether local civil ssrvice employes should have greater participation in party politics.

—Adoption of a proposed "Environmental Protection" Act that allows individual citizens to sue governmental agencies as well as business or industry for air, land and water pollution or other destruction of state natural resources.

Meanwhile, the $1.22 - billion Spencer - Ryan school aid bill and a companion, $350 - million tax bill face further delay.

Co-authors Of Plan

House Speaker William Ryan, D - Detroit, and Roy Spencer, R - Attica, coauthors of the plan, will take their case to more than a dozen meetings with educators, businessmen and interested citizens around the state. They will attempt to persuade their audiences to encourage legislators in Lansing to vote for the package which includes such controversial elements as a $22-million parochiaid fund and an unprecedented $40 million in state support of local classroom construction.

The package also envisions raising some $350 million in taxes by boosting the state personal rate from 2.6 to 3.5 per cent, while eliminating local property taxes as the basic source of revenue for school operation.

School Issue Pending

As those meetings go on across the state for two weeks, the House begins work in Lansing tonight faced with a second vote on a bill to delay reorganization of the Detroit school system.

Sponsored by Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D - Detroit, the measure would ask the city's voters to pass judgment on remapping attendance areas at the 22 high schools in the city.

The Detroit Board of Education, after much delay and uncertainly, recently moved to increase racial integration by busing students out of their normal areas.

A second measure, passed by the Senate last Friday, calls for repeal of the Act under which the Detroit board is operating.

School Consolidation

The O'Brien bill won a more than 2-1 House passage last week, but is being held up after Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R - Grosse Pointe, said he made a "gross error" in deciding to vote for it and asked the House to reconsider the issue.

Further down the calendar, but expected to be brought up this week is a variation of the same issue: a committee-drafted substitute for Gov. Wm. Milliken's plan to consolidate school districts across the state and eliminate those which do not operate a full range of grades from kindergarten through high school.

The House is scheduled to begin debate Thursday on Rep. Thomas Anderson's proposed "Environmental Protection" Act. Supported by Milliken after some revision, the bill proposes what lawyers say would be a new "common law" for pollution control.

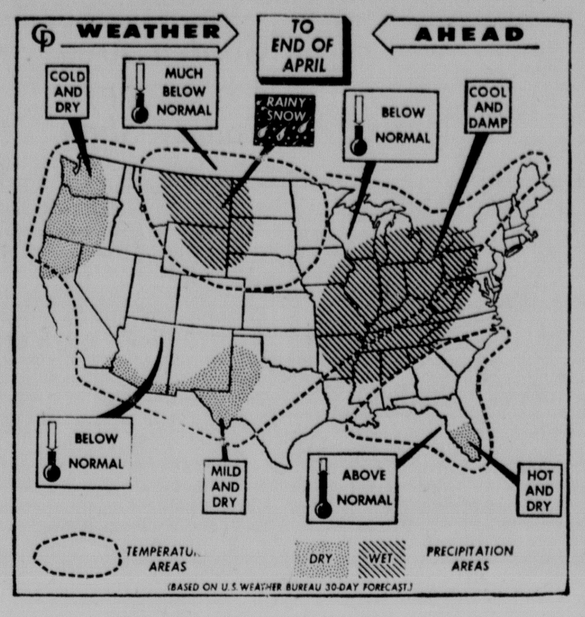
The House also is expected to take final action either Wednesday or Thursday on a proposal to amend the State Constitution so 18-year-olds may vote.

Voting Issue

If passed by both the House and Senate, the proposal could be placed on the ballot as a referendum issue of the November general election. Each house must muster two - thirds majorities to pass it.

Local civil service employes also could win permission for expanded action in political affairs under a bill facing action in the House. It would allow local civil service employes to be delegates to county or state party conventions and run for local offices.

It would not apply to State Civil Service employes, however.



Legislative Mercury Investigation Eyed

LANSING (AP) — A call for a legislative investigation of the mercury contamination in the Great Lakes was made by some Michigan Senators Monday night.

"There's no excuse for industry to thumb its nose" at the people," said Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, who earlier demanded a Senate Conservation Committee probe of the matter.

Meanwhile Monday, Ohio Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown said his state would sue two chemical companies because of mercury pollution of Lake Erie. He named the Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Ont., and Wyandotte Chemical Co. of Detroit.

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes also said that his ban on commercial fishing in Ohio waters of Lake Erie would be indefinite. He also said Ohio may start checking fish imported from Canada.

Also, the Michigan Department of Agriculture said its tests showed traces of mercury in fish taken from Lake St. Clair, Lake Erie, and the St. Clair River.

In the Michigan Senate, Conservation Chairman Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, pointed out that he, House Conservation Chairman Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, and several other state officials had traveled to Toronto last week with Gov. William Millikn to check the situation with Ontario Authorities.

"I don't believe we could have found out about it as fast any other way," said Rockwell, who added that he would be attending a Washington meeting today.

"There is action being taken," he told colleagues.

Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, touched off the contamination discussion on the Senate floor by describing a film he had seen over the weekend on television.

"It showed some people who had had mercury poisoning," said Bowman, indicating the film did not involve the current situation.

"The people affected lost all control of themselves—like they had palsy...And it showed animals who'd eaten the fish, crawling down the streets, pulling themselves along with their front paws."

Bowman said he had asked the television station for permission to show the film to the Legislature, but still was awaiting their reply.

Sen. Brown says he is "demanding" that the Senate Conservation Committee begin public hearings on mercury pollution this week if possible.

Brown says the hearings should be in Detroit and Macomb Counties and in Canada if necessary. Fishing closures have been announced in some common waters of Michigan and Canada because of mercury contamination.

"I will not permit the fishing or other recreational activities of these public waters to be ruined by a handful of greedy industrialists," he said.

Brown also said "as a last resort fishing ought to be permitted in these waters for those persons who want to enjoy fishing and return their catches to the water without consuming them."

George Whitehead, deputy director of the State Bureau of Consumer Protection, said Monday the tests showed concentrations as high as 1.4 parts per million in a pickerel from Lake St. Clair. Of five fish taken from that lake, two showed only small traces of mercury.

The other two fish from Lake St. Clair contained .5 and .3 parts per million respectively.

A pickerel taken from the St. Clair river contained .7 parts per million of mercury.

Ten fish were tested from Lake Erie. One white bass contained .8 parts per million of mercury while the others showed mercury concentrations .2 parts per million or less.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration forbids the interstate shipment of any fish containing more than .5 parts per million of mercury.

Urban Renewal Project Discussed By Engineer

Many local merchants and interested residents of Gladstone attended the City Commission Monday to hear Gary Stinhoff, a representative of Williams & Works, Inc., engineers, Grand Rapids, discuss urban renewal.

The City Commission had requested the cooperation of merchants and the Chamber of Commerce in exploring a program that would be acceptable to those involved.

Stinhoff told the group that the success of urban renewal depends on the support and positive attitude of the business people. He said the first step would be for the City Commission to authorize an application for a survey and planning grant from the federal government.

Cost of this application, he said, would be about $1,000 to $2,000.

Procedure Reviewed

The property involved then would be appraised and the value and quality of existing buildings would be determined and a market study made. On this basis, Stinhoff said, the Planning Commission could determine which buildings would be saved or removed in order to provide parking areas and to achieve the end result of an attractive shopping area which would be competitive to a modern, shopping plaza.

After these factors have been determined and the City Commission has approved the action, the city would apply for a facilities grant, Stinhoff said. Project cost, including acquisition of the needed property, administrative fees and other incidentals would be totaled and one quarter of the gross cost would be Gladstone's share of the project. The remainder would be financed by the federal government.

Questions Asked

Stinhoff pointed out that any work done by the city in the urban renewal area within the past three years could be deemed retroactive to the city's share in the project.

The merchants asked many questions on various aspects of the project and Dr. D. A. Jondrow raised the question of the possibility of a "face-lifting" of the various buildings in the downtown area, rather than a complete renewal project.

Stinhoff said this approach rarely is successful, but many merchants will remodel or improve their establishments when others do.

Robert Hupy, Gladstone insurance agent, recommended that the Planning Commission and City Commission go ahead with the study and apply for a grant.

Stinhoff said Gladstone probably would be on the federal government's "black list" for further urban renewal programs if the city failed to complete the program after a study is made. However, he said, this could be done with the city paying for the original application.

Hupy said be believes merchants should be encouraged to imporve property and Michael LaPine, pharmacist, also encouraging the commission to have the study made.

The final decision will be made by the City Commission.

Mayor Raymond Norton expressed thanks to the businessmen for their cooperation in the matter.

Spec. 4 Cook earned the award for meritorious service while serving as a machine gunner in Co. C, 1st Bn. of the 25th Infantry Division's 27th Infantry. During the same ceremonies, he also received the Air Medal for meritorious service while participating in aerial flight.

Gladstone Forensics Team In State Meet

Members of the Gladstone High School Forensics team under the direction of Steve Mitchell, won several honors at the U.P. Regional Forensics tournament in Marquette Saturday including the right to participate at the state of Michigan tournament in May.

Pacing the team was Jim Davis, who took the first place trophy as the top participant in the radio newsbroadcasting category. This entitles Davis to take part in the state meet to be held in Ann Arbor May 2.

Also entitled to take part in the state meet is the Gladstone multiple reading group. The group, doing a reading from "Up the Down Staircase", took second place in the contest. Those on the multiple reading group team were Cindy Damitz, Sue Labre, Jan Hess, Lori Isaacson, Cliff Barron, Lyn Apelgren, Mark Tibergian, and Kerry Strom.

Richard Salo, doing a dramatic monologue called "The Button", earned a superior rating while placing second in the U.P. in that category. Salo missed out on going down to the state meet by just a few points.

In the dramatic dialogue category, Sue Hoehn earned an excellent rating for her reading "The Nightbell." Linda Norlander won an excellent rating in the humorous interpretive reading category for her reading of "Willie the Worm."

John Skellenger and Ruthann Martin, who along with the others had won superior ratings at the district tournament in Escanaba to qualify for the U.P. meet, also did a fine job for the GHS team.

Forensics director Steve Mitchell was very pleased his team had done so well. "I hope we will be able to get down to Ann Arbor to allow these young people to participate in a state tournament," he said.

Norton Elected Gladstone Mayor By Commission

Raymond Norton, assistant postmaster of Gladstone, was elected mayor of Gladstone at the reorganization meeting of the City Commission Monday night at the City Hall.

Douglas Bovin was elected mayor pro tem.

Norton succeeds Arne Anderson, who thanked the people of Gladstone and the commission for their cooperation during his term as mayor. Anderson remains on the commission.

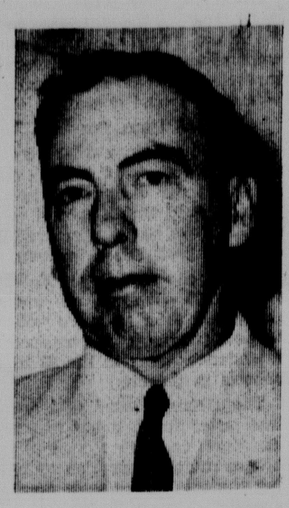
William Smith, newly elected commissioner, was sworn into office. He replaces Delbert Nelson, who did not seek another term.

City Manager Howard Keeton asked the commission to rescind action appropriating one mill to the Industrial Park Fund and to transfer $42,000 into the general fund. He said sufficient Industrial Park funds are available to pave the streets in the area.

Commissioner George Young recommended the action be tabled until the budget is completed, but the Commission voted 4 to 1 to rescind the mill.

On a motion by Bovin, the Commission voted to curtail all burning and dumping of wood wastes in the Industrial Park. A fire has been burning in the area for several days, causing many complaints from residents of the area.

A letter from the fire chief requesting removal of all fire alarm boxes in Gladstone was read. The false alarm which sounded at about 11:45 p.m. Saturday is just one of the many costly calls the department has answered in recent years and Chief Pete Dementer said that telephones are available in most homes, making the alarm system unnecessary. The commission tabled the request to allow further study.



Raymond Norton

Keeton informed the commission of a city employes election April 28, from 4 to 5:30 p.m., to determine if the majority of city employes wish to be represented by the Teamster's Union.

In other business, the commission set April 27 for a public hearing on the destruction of a house at 415 Wisconsin Ave; approved payments to Williams & Works for inspection service and to Champion, Inc., for work on the water treatment plant; referred three bids for workman's compensation insurance to the city attorney for study and four bids for gas and fuel oil to the city manager for analysis.

Deer Look Good At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS (AP) — It happens every spring. The deer have returned to the village of Grand Marais as they seek forage in the foliage, now freed by melting snow.

Walter Krackowski, a deputy sheriff and plant manager, said about 50 deer are in the town area.

"The deer are in beautiful shape. I saw only one scrawny deer. But it was a late fawn from last year and did not develop like the others," he said.

He said the deer mainly stay in a "yard" or area next to where he lives and that they walk along a hill that perimeters the town to get at the grass and other foliage at Coast Guard point, bordering Lake Superior.

He said the deer also have been going to residences, where owners left carrots and other vegetables in the ground during the winter.

Krackowski also said that "quite a few dogs were shot this winter for running deer."

There have been reports of hunger among some deer, with townspeople helping to provide food.

"Some folks feel sorry for them and are doing their best to help them along with hay and grain," said Axel Niemi, custodian of the village's parks and beaches.

There is even a report that one deer took a pair of long underwear from a wash line.

Two Firms Face Pollution Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown announced Monday the state will sue two major chemical companies to recover damages caused by mercury pollution of Lake Erie.

Brown said he has contacted attorneys in adjoining states and expects them to join in the filing of actions against Dow Chemical Co. of Sarnia, Onatario, Canada, and Wyandotte Chemical. Co, of Detroit, Mich.

The move followed by a day the state's ban on all commercial fishing on the Ohio side of Lake Erie until the extent of an investigation into mercury pollution can be determined.

Brown said federal government tests show mercury traces in fish which exceed safety limits.

"This is a serious threat to the future of those fishing industries operating out of Ohio," Brown said. "It could wipe out the industries and the jobs of 800 employes."

Although both companies say they have curtailed dumping Mercury into the lake, Brown said the residual effect of mercury deposits already dispersed will remain for long periods of time.

Brown said that in Sandusky Bay Alone, the fishing industry stands to lose $837,000 in investment and $419,000 in gross annual income.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

Continued Slide Noted In Car Sales

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic auto sales, which got the U.S. industry off to the worst first quarter since 1967, continued to slide as the year entered the second quarter.

The four major automakers reported new car sales in the first 10 days of April were down 13.7 compared to the same period of 1969. There were nine selling days in both periods.

Both General Motors, which has led the sales decline all year, and Chrysler Corp., which ended a major sales incentive campaign March 31, showed sharp drops in the period.

GM reported sales of 108,107 cars, down 17.4 per cent from the 130,732 sold last year. Chrysler sold 29,676 cars, off 19.9 per cent from last year.

For the year, GM sales are down by 18.4 per cent and its share of the U.S. new car market has slipped from 54 per cent at this time last year to 50.4 per cent.

Child's Welfare Club Style Show Is Successful

GLADSTONE — The Child's Welfare Club Style Show held Sunday was a great success with many people unable to attend because of a lack of space. The Fellowship Hall of First Lutheran Church was full to capacity and everyone voiced their approval of an excellent evening's entertainment.

Mrs. C. M. Sherman was general chairman of the event and was assisted by Mrs. Rene Maskart who presented the bridal scene which climaxed the show. Mrs. Robert Winchester narrated the bridal scene and Mrs. James Johnson, club president, narrated the remainder of the performance.

All the models from the tiny tots to matrons, displayed their attire with poise.

Models were Sheri Hess, Greta Wolf, David Cowen, Mary Martin, Heidi Fitzgerald, Mrs. Sherman, Diane Smith, Bette Jarvis, Debra LaFave, Mrs. Mary Beauchamp, Mrs. Gary Hess, Mrs. Paul Cole, Mrs. Paul Cowen, Patricia Butch, Katie Peterson, Mrs. Edmund Stevens, Mrs. Irving DeRoeck, Mrs. John Gustafson, Mrs. Justin Swee, Mrs. John McElhattan, Chris Sjoquist, Johanna Treichel, Mrs. Norman Butler and Mrs. James Johnson.

Mrs. Ed LeDuc showed wigs from the Lora Line Fashion Shop and members of the bridal party were Diane Maskart, the bride, Mrs. Marvin Carlson, Mrs. Rene Maskart, Jana Apelgren, Mary Margaret Verhamme, Mrs. Reuben Sjoquist, David Maskart and Charles Creten.

The musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Ellis Movalson, Jr., was well received and included vocal and instrumental selections by Ruthann Martin and Judy Watson.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. B. H. Skellenger and Mrs. Glenn Nelson in charge of arrangements.

Rock Area Persons Enjoy Class Play

The Rock Junior Class play, "The Skeleton Walks," provided laughter throughout the evening Saturday at the Rock School.

Mrs. Eliza Hubbard was portrayed by Dan Conner. At the very end he turned out to be a detective, disguised as a housekeeper with a deaf mute son, played by Susie Westlund. A typical nosey young teenager was played by John Peterson.

Other members of the cast included John Linjala, Dianne Croasdell, Tina Mankiewicz, Dianne Westlund, Tim Connors, Wanda Russell, and Susie Laitinen.

An unusual character in the play was Minka, who played the part of Nibs. Minka is a Keshond dog, owned by the Shaff family who recently moved east of Rock.

The play was under the direction of George Kulack, class advisor. It was written by Felicia Metcalfe and produced by special arrangement with the Heuer Publishing Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Pine Ridge PTA Meeting Held

Pine Ridge PTA met Thursday at 8 p.m. at the school. The following slate of officers for the 1970-'71 school year was presented and accepted:

Mrs. William Wirhanowicz, president; Mrs. Allen Burkardt, vice-president; Mrs. Jerome E. Schnieder, secretary; and Michael Marcoe, treasurer.

It has been requested that children who ride their bikes to school, not arrive at school before 8:30 a.m. and they are to observe all the rules of bicycle safety as outlined in a recent notice given to them.

Mrs. Erickson's room won the room count and lunch was served by Mrs. Ronald Dittrich and Mrs. Richard Johnson.

Home, School Will Meet

St. Joseph's Home and School Association will meet Wednesday at the school. Room visitation will begin at 7:30 p.m. followed by the business meeting at 8.

Guest speaker Patrolman R. Kaltenbach of the Escanaba Police Dept., will present a program on child safety. Refreshments will be served by the third grade room mothers.

After the meeting there will be a filmstrip showing for parents of children in fourth through the eighth grade.

Isabella Circle Meeting Held

Daughters of Isabella, Trinity Circle 362 held a business meeting Monday evening at the Teamster's Hall with 52 members in attendance.

Cards of the player's choice were played with individual table prizes awarded. The guest award was presented to Mrs. Carl Matthews. Lunch was served during the evening.

Members are to make plans to attend a Mass and Communion breakfast at St. Anne's Church at 10 a.m. on Sunday, April 26. Mrs. Maurice Pratt is chairman of the event.

People

Orpha B. Lemmer has returned from Halandale, Fla., where she had spent the winter months. Her daughter, Mrs. Neale Ryno flew to Florida and drove her back home.

Americans eat more than one fifth of their annual milk supply as butter, and the long downward-trend of butter use in this country has leveled off.

Mrs. Thomas M. Gannon (Lee's Studio)

Cathy Anderson And Thomas M. Gannon Wed

St. Anne's Church in Escanaba was the setting for the wedding Saturday, April 11 uniting Cathy Marie Anderson of Rte. 2 Escanaba and Thomas M. Gannon of Escanaba.

Officiating at the 12 noon Nuptial Mass was the Rev. Theodore Brodeur. Serving the Mass were Randy Kralovitz and Robert Butler. Organist for the service was Diane Hamelin and soloists were Sister Andrea and Danny Snow. Vases of yellow snapdragons and yellow mums adorned the church altar for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sovey of Rte. 2 Escanaba and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gannon, 426 S. 15th St.

Traditional Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length traditional gown made for her by Debbie VanEffen of Escanaba. The gown was fashioned of silk-lined white crepe de chine and styled with a Mandarin neckline, long cuffed sleeves and a chapel train and featured white daisy trim at the neckline, cuffs, gown front and train.

A headpiece of silk crepe daisies held her long sweeping veil of illusion and she carried a basket of majestic daisies with yellow garnette roses and ivy cascading to the floor. During the service, she placed a single rose at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Maid of honor for her sister was Christine Sovey of Escanaba and bridesmaids were Virginia Vader of E. Lansing, Kathy Gannon, sister of the bridegroom and Wendy Pepin, the bride's cousin, both of Escanaba.

Yellow Chiffon

They were attired in yellow chiffon floor length gowns fashioned with Empire waistlines and full illusion sleevves. Floral braid trimmed the cuffs and waistlines.

They wore fresh flower headpieces tinted to match gowns and they carried baskets of yellow daisies and pompons in golden shades.

Flower Girl

Becky Sovey, Escanaba, was flower girl for her sister and was attired identical to the bride. Her gown and veil were made by the bride. She carried a miniature basket filled with daisies and roses. Carrying the rings was Jimmy Lemerand of Bark River, nephew of the bride.

Serving as bestman was Mac Anderson of Manhattan, Kan. and groomsmen were Jerry Gannon, Robin Sheedlo and Robert Pearson of Escanaba. Performing ushering duties were Marc Taylor and Dave Kaziateck.

Mothers' Attire

Mrs. Sovey wore for her daughter's wedding a baby blue crepe long-sleeved dress styled with a jeweled collar with white accessories and Mrs. Gannon chose a coral colored three piece knit ensemble with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented carnation corsages to complement their attire. Grandmothers of the couple were also presented corsages.

Reception

The reception was held at the Bark River Legion Hall from 4 to 8 p.m. followed by a wedding dance. Assisting with duties were Tammy Sovey, Kelly Gannon, Maureen Gannon, Fran Pepin, Lorrie Lancour, Patti Villeneuve and Mrs. Sharon Kozar. The wedding cake was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dale Lancour.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at Rte. 2 Escanaba. Both young people are graduates of Escanaba Area High School. The bride is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Mr. Gannon is employed by the Harnischfeger Corp.

Bethany Ladies Plan Special Meet Wednesday

An interesting evening has been arranged for the April meeting of Bethany Lutheran Church Women to be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Guests will be the Rev. and Mrs. Ray S. Peterson from Christ the King Lutheran Church. Rev. Peterson will be the speaker and his topic will be, "Love and Service." Devotions will be given by Mrs. A. V. Aronson.

Musical numbers will include a piano solo by Jill VanEffen, and harp and vocal selections by Birgit Olson.

This meeting will be in the form of a baby shower. Members who have been making articles of clothing for needy babies are to bring them at this time. Good, used baby clothing is also needed.

A special feature of the program will be a display of baby pictures to be arranged by Mrs. Kenneth Buckland, chairman of the projects committee. Members are to bring an old baby picture, if they have one available, and during the course of the evening an opportunity will be given to see how many can be identified.

The Delight Circle is in charge of the program and Cherish Circle members are hostesses. All members and friends are encouraged to attend.

Events

Webster PTA

Thomas Neumann presided at the Webster PTA meeting Monday evening at the school. Room visitation was held at 7:30. Ronald Kaltenbach of the Escanaba Police Dept. presented a film on child molesting entitled, "The Dangerous Stranger." Mrs. Rosenquist's second grade won the room count. Lunch was served by the second grade mothers.

Would you like to hear a good clean story?

It goes like this: Buy a new Gas range and forget about oven cleaning, forever. Not bad, huh? And that's not the whole story.

The new Gas self-cleaning oven will clean itself automatically, spotlessly and do the whole job for about 2¢. It's a new way of life for the housewife. No more rubber gloves, strong detergents or harsh cleaning agents.

And while we're on the subject, this new Gas range simply cooks food better than anything you've ever used. It provides complete heat control. At all times. No matter what you're cooking. It will cook faster. Cleaner. And do it all for less money. See the new Gas self-cleaning oven today at dealer or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms. It's great for women who like to cook, period. Cook with Gas . . . it'll serve you right.

Major Hunting, Fishing Project Near Realization

By KENNETH S. LOWE

NEWBERRY — For more than 20 years the citizens of Luce County have worked for a major public hunting and fishing project.

Now, thanks to a great deal of effort on the local, state and federal levels, the Dollarville Flooding Project promises to become a reality this year.

The last piece of land needed to begin development of the 1,400-acre impoundment on the fabled Thaquamenon River was accepted as a gift by the Michigan Natural Resources Commission at its March meeting.

The $5,000 needed to acquire the last parcel of land, a 22-acre tract on the proposed dam site, was raised through local contributions over a period of several years.

Need $50,000 Yet

All but $50,000 of the $250,000 needed for the project has been committed, and backers of the project hope to obtain the missing portion from the state recreation bond fund this year. Approval for the $50,000 appropriation from the fund must be granted by the Natural Resources Commission and the Legislature.

"We hope the project will be started this year," said James Bourque, Sault Ste. Marie, executive director for the Eastern Upper Peninsula Economic Development District.

He said construction costs for the project have risen from $160,000 to $250,000 in just two years.

The $200,000 in committed money is from federal sources—$80,000 from the Pitman-Robertson fund (from an excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition), $80,000 from the Dingell-Johnson fund (from a tax on sport fishing equipment) and $40,000 from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.

When completed, the flooding is expected to provide excellent waterfowl hunting and fishing.

"The impoundment will make a good nesting area for ducks and geese and a fine layover area for migrating waterfowl," said Ray Gummerson, Marquette, district extension director of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Center, who worked extensively on the project.

"The area once was a good fishing spot for northern pike and perch, and it has been stocked with muskellunge at least once. The flooding should result in productive fishing summer and winter."

"Before the old dam washed out in 1928, this was a great waterfowl flyway," commented District Judge Robert Wood of Newberry, who has spearheaded local efforts to have the dam rebuilt.

"Wild rice used to grow there, and it is one of the few places in Michigan where wild rice will reproduce itself."

River Floods Area

Since the dam washed out, the Tahquamenon River floods over a mile wide area at Dollarville in the spring, Wood said. Fish spawn in the shallows but the eggs spoil when the water recedes. This won't happen after the dam is rebuilt, said Wood, who is chairman of the Dollarville Dam Committee.

Wood said all the land around the impoundment will be publicly owned and that no private cabins will be erected on the shore. A small park, campground area and boat launching sites may be built along the impoundment, however.

Wood personally purchased some of the land needed for the impoundment and gave it to the state. He also has donated uncounted hours of time to legal matters involved in the project.

Local residents have dreamed of a Dollarville Flooding Project ever since 1948, when the Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club initiated local action to have the dam rebuilt. Now that it is nearing reality, the people of Luce County are convinced it was worth the long wait.

Lake Erie Fish Ban Indefinite

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Monday that the length of his ban on commercial fishing in Ohio waters of Lake Erie is indefinite and warned that the state may begin checking fish imported from Canada for mercury contamination.

"I think that the fish that are coming out of the Canadian side of the lake ought to be treated the same as they are here," Rhodes said after being confronted by a small knot of unhappy Ohio fishermen at a Cleveland news conference.

Rhodes, who issued a 60-day executive order banning commercial fishing from the lake Sunday, said the ban could be lifted within a week but warned that it could also be kept in effect for two to three years if necessary.

Rhodes imposed the ban pending federal help in an investigation into the extent and sources of mercury contamination in the lake.

Ohio Health Director Dr. Emmett W. Arnold disclosed that one Ohio plant, the Detrex Chemical Co. of Ashtabula, had been ordered Monday to stop discharging allegedly mercury-tainted effluent into Lake Erie.

State Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse said that of 28 Lake Erie fish tested by the state in 1970, half contained more than .5 parts per million of mercury, the maximum allowed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Stackhouse said the levels ranged from 4.6 parts per million in one catfish to .24 parts per million in a sample Coho salmon.

Spokesman for a group of seven fishermen and fish dealers complained that no mercury had been found in Lake Erie fish tested recently by Canadian officials and that fish taken from the Canadian side of the lake were being sold in Ohio.

Rhodes has charged that the Michigan and Canadian industries are responsible for Lake Erie's mercury pollution problems. He said Monday that the Detroit River and River Raisin in Michigan are to blame for 85 per cent of the lake's pollution problems.

Friendly Poodle Causes Problem

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "The poor mailman has enough trouble fending off mean dogs, let alone being responsible for the friendly ones," said Municipal Court Judge William A. Graham.

Graham then dismissed a $100 claim by Robert L. Blanchard Sr. against mail carrier Norman E. Duhamel for cost of medical treatment for his poodle.

The poodle was injured, all parties agreed, when he was attacked by a neighborhood collie which struck up a friendship with Duhamel and was following him about his appointed rounds.

The judge told Blanchard he was suing the wrong man.

Are Students Eating Off 'Fat Of Land?'

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News reported today "the federal government is paying the food bills of some—perhaps many — Michigan college students who could afford to feed themselves."

The News said it had uncovered several cases of students who either lied or had their parents lie in order to qualify for food stamps which they redeemed at stores — in some cases over several months.

County welfare officials—who run the program for the federal government — concede, according to the News, that hundreds of college students have begun participating in the last few months, but say they think abuses are minimal.

One student at an outstate college, who has been on the program for eight months, was quoted by the News as saying:

"It started out legally. I saw a story in the local paper about the program and it said some college students had qualified for food stamps.

"I went in and checked on it and the people at the local office told me that if we constituted a 'household,' earned less than $265 a month and had less than $1,000 in liquid assets that we would qualify."

(Federal regulations do not stipulate that a household has to be a family, only a group of people living together who cook meals at the residence.)

The News said its student and his friends filled out the forms for food stamps and had to pay only $2 for $60 worth of food.

"We qualified except for one thing," the student was quoted further. "They sent a form to our various parents asking if they supported us. Two of the parents lied.

"They said they didn't support their children, but they were sending about $100 a month to pay for tuition and other things. But there's no place for the parents to sign the form. They just have to check off some boxes and send the form back in.

"We had to verify our income and our banking accounts and for the first couple of months we did this.

"But for six months in a row I showed them the same pay stub and they never asked any questions. They never checked my bank account to see if I was telling the truth.

"One of the others altered the amount in his checking account and they never said anything. The guy just looked at the balance written and said O.K."

"Two of the students in the apartment later started new jobs—both of them worked for the university — but never reported the new income."

The News said the students involved in this instance all have cars, which it added "is legal under the program." It also quoted one of the students as saying "we have steak every night, and we buy potato chips and mixes for the parties we have."

In another case the News said it verified three students living together have a combined income which is double the maximum allowed, but still have been able to qualify.

In a third case, the newspaper said it had found a student on a full athletic scholarship also has qualified for food stamps.

Superior Ice, Mechanical Failure Delays Shipping

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Ice problems in Lake Superior are delaying navigation there, and at Escanaba within the past 48 hours mechanical failures brought to a temporary standstill the loading of iron ore at the Chicago & North Western terminal.

The two factors — ice-choked channels on Lake Superior that diverted more of the ore fleet to Escanaba, and the breakdown at the North Western's $16.5 million ore handling facility — have brought a pile-up of boats at Escanaba.

The North Western had "lots of problems" on Monday. The ore reclaimer and the dumper both went out of operation when electrical parts failed. The reclaimer was put back in operation late in the day but the dumper is still out — but loading is continuing from stockpile.

First a motor burned out at one end of the dumper, the equipment that rolls cars of ore to empty them of ore, and then the power motor at the other end of the dumper went out.

Boats Pile Up

Loading was halted most of Monday but resumed last night and the Allen and Pontiac received cargoes of ore and departed from Escanaba for South Chicago.

Meanwhile the ore boats continued to arrive, with several of the boats (as many as five) laying in open water south of Escanaba at the edge of the ice field.

The boats began moving in this morning after departure of the Allen and Pontiac. The Frontenac was being loaded this morning and was to be ready to clear about noon; the Walter Sterling, Cadillac, L. E. Block, P. D. Block, Leon Falk and International are here waiting to load — and the Cliffs Victory is due in at 3 p.m.

"We won't run short of boats for a while," said a North Western spokesman.

Ahead Of 1969

If there have been problems at the North Western terminal this spring they are as nothing compared to a year ago, when the facility was under test operation. After a slow start there was a failure and collapse of one of the units, an accident in which one workman was killed.

This spring the loading record is impressive by comparison:

To date 28 boats have been loaded out with a total of 452,500 tons of ore, compared to only 3 boats and 30,333 tons to the same date a year ago.

The North Western is hopeful of setting a new record of 10 million tons of ore this season, topping last year by about 3 million tons. Most of the additional 3 million tons to be loaded here will come from the Marquette iron range and will be diverted from loading at Marquette.

Ship Is Damaged

Whitefish Bay on Lake Superior continues to be a bottleneck to shipping, and the ice ridges there almost caused the sinking of one vessel.

The 663-foot Canadian steamship Fort Stadacona had her hull pierced near the bow by the nearly foot-thick ice in Whitefish Bay. Holes two feet long were opened in the hull one each side of the bow at the water line.

Water was coming in faster than the pumps could handle it and Capt. Joseph McFayden, fearful the ship would founder, had some of the cargo of iron pellets shifted toward the stern by use of the ship's self-unloading equipment. The holes in the bow rose above the water line.

The Coast Guard escorted the damaged ship to Sault Ste. Marie for anchorage and repair.

Only one vessel has loaded at Marquette so far this spring, the Henry Ford. Loadings have been suspended there until the ice situation improves.

Young Sailor Awaits Trial For News Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a setting reminiscent of the famous Billy Mitchell court-martial, the Navy is trying a young sailor for publishing a newspaper critical of government officials.

The trial of Seaman Appren. Roger Priest, opening today, is considered a major test of the constitutional rights of servicemen by his supporters and as a test of discipline by the Pentagon.

Col. Billy Mitchell, considered the father of American air power, was court-martialed 45 years ago for publicly criticizing the military establishment.

Priest is charged with soliciting military personnel to desert and to commit sedition through his antiwar newspaper, known as "OM, The Servicemen's Newsletter," which the 26-year-old sailor from Houston published while stationed at the Pentagon.

The paper referred to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as "people's enemy No. 1." It used such epithets as "Pig" in describing Laird; Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

OM proclaimed "today's pigs are tomorrow's bacon" and "we will stop at nothing to stop the Vietnam war, and power arrangements that made it possible."

A military judge dropped the desertion and sedition soliciting charge as too vague but reinstated it when Rear Adm. George P. Koch, commandant of the Washington Naval District, ordered the judge to reconsider.

David Rein, Priest's civilian lawyer, appealed in vain to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals that Koch exerted "undue pressure" on the case.

Protesters Lose First Round In 'Clipping' Case

DETROIT (AP) — Eight Ann Arbor antiwar protesters lost round one Monday off their battle to clip Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey's hair-clippers.

U.S. District Judge Lawrence Gubow refused to issue an injunction barring the sheriff from cropping the hair of short-term prisoners.

The eight, whose heads were virtually shaved while they were being held in the jail awaiting release on bond following their arrest during a demonstration, are also suing Harvey for $200,000 in damages.

Judge Gubow said that while the issue of haircuts "posed grave constitutional questions which call for a complete hearing," there was no need for an injunction at this time.

"There are no persons now in imminent fear off injury in the Washtenaw County Jail," the judge said.

Judge Gubow took the motion for an injunction under advisement however, reserving the right to issue a restraining order at a future date.

Suit Against Auto Firms Transferred

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A suit filed in U.S. District Court to compel auto manufacturers to install anti - pollution control equipment has been transferred to California for a pre-trial conference.

The suit was filed against 10 automobile manufacturers by Atty. Gen. Robert Warren March 13.

Judge James Doyle said Monday a federal judicial panel on multi - district litigation made the transfer to the U.S. District Court for the central district of California.

The move does not necessarily mean that the trial, if one is held, will be in California, said Court Clerk John Adams.

Similar action against the auto manufacturers by California was initiated at the same time Warren filed suit in Wisconsin.

to sleep in, so the astronauts will rest in the command ship.

Swigert retired early today while Haise and Lovell monitored the command and lunar ships, respectively, planning to sleep later.

The astronauts remained calm and poised as they wrestled with the many procedures needed to stabilize their craft and to stretch their consumables.

To improve oxygen circulation and prevent a buildup of carbon dioxide in the command ship, Mission Control Center told the astronauts to use a hose from one of the unused space suits and extend it from the LM oxygen supply through the tunnel.

Saving Water

Lovell, Haise and Swigert were told to place any excesss water in bags and to turn off all non-essential items requiring power.

Christopher C. Kraft, deputy director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said, "If the situation remains stabilized, there is no question that we can bring them back to earth safely."

A serious drop in electrical power Monday night signaled the beginning of the emergency. Mission Control said the command ship had a major leak from one of the super-cold oxygen storage tanks. What caused the leak was unknown. The impact of a meteor was considered one remote possibility.

The astronauts, fighting to keep enough air to survive until they return to earth, siphoned oxygen from the moon lander. The ruptured tank exhausted the oxygen from the command ship.

"Serious Situation"

The moon lander, still attached to the command ship, was to have taken astronauts Lovell and Haise to the moon's surface Wednesday. Now it must keep the three spacemen alive.

"This is as serious a situation as we have ever had in manned space flight," said Kraft.

Officials at the Houston Space Center, appearing calm but clearly concerned, said preparations were being made for the craft to land either in the Pacific or Atlantic Ocean depending on flight developments and that aid would be accepted in the Atlantic Ocean from the ships of any nation.

In their desperate journey home, the astronauts will ride with two spacemen in the command ship and one in the smaller lunar module. The astronaut in the moon lander must be always awake and alert to assure the systems continue to operate.

Oxygen is fed into the command module through a tunnel in the moon lander.

Rock Man Hurt In Car Accident

James Segar, 39, of Rte. 1 Rock, was admitted to the St. Francis Hospital following a one car accident at about 11:15 p.m. Monday.

Details of his condition were not immediately available.

State Police said Seger was traveling north on County Rd. 519 when he lost control of his car on a curve about 2½ miles south of County Rd. 430, in Baldwin Township. Officers said his car ran off the road and struck a tree.

Seger was ticketed by the State Police for violation of the basic speed law.

Astronauts Stay Cool During Crisis In Space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Never once, in the greatest crisis of their lives, in a danger that had materialized only in fiction, did the Apollo 13 astronauts lose their cool.

"Hey, we've got a problem here!"

Even that first cry of alarm, across 202,000 miles of space, was restrained, though urgent.

They'd finished a television show—such standard fare for a jaded public that none of the television networks made time for it. Mission control saw it and congrattulated them on it. Now the ground was giving instructions for positioning the spacecraft to look for the comet Bennett.

Power Failure

"Hey, we've got a problem here." It was James A. Lovell Jr., the spacecraft commander, the only human to make four trips into space.

"This is Houston, say again please."

"Houston, we've had a problem. We've had a main B bus interval."

A power failure! An imbalance in the intricate system that gives oxygen and direction and the fragile voice lifeline to the ground.

By the very laws of the universe they challenged and used, their spacecraft continued on to the moon as indeed it would even if their ship were a derelict.

Only Advice

Many hours before they had forsaken the relative safety of a "free return" that would have required only the pull of the moon and the earth to put them back on earth. Deliberately they had changed the course so Lovell and Fred W. Haise Jr., could land on the moon.

"We're looking at it." A hundred experts on the ground, others quickly summoned. But advice was all that was possible to help three men in a disabled ship.

"Okay, right now, Houston, the voltage is looking good. And we had a pretty large bang associated with the caution and warning there."

"Roger Fred." Fred Haise, a first-timer in space. Beside him John L. Swigert Jr., also a rookie, but more so, an emergency substitute on the flight.

"It's a gas of some sort." They could see it out of their window. Droplets that turned into snow and drifted off like feathers from a molting bird.

The gas, it turned out, was their oxygen; a commodity on which their very lives depend.

Back and forth, across the miles, spun the questions, the numbers, the readings. Crisp and cool. Urgent, but not panicked.

"Okay, 13, we've got lots and lots of people working on this, we'll get you some dope as soon as we have it and you'll be the first to know."

No Landing Possible

"Oh, thank you."

Nobody said it but they knew and the ground knew that now there was no possibility of landing on the moon. Now the only thing was to use the power that remained—the power that would have set them on the lunar surface—to get back to earth.

"I didn't think I'd be back this soon," said Fred Haise, who would have been the sixth human to touch the moon.

Mission Control held a conference for newsmen. Enough oxygen and electrical power, said the experts. It will be close, but they'll get home if nothing else bad happens.

Like kissing cousins the command ship Odyssey and the lunar lander Aquarius continued on to the moon. Now for Aquarius there was not the noble voyage to the highlands of the moon, nor the splendor of being crashed empty against its surface in the name of science.

Now they were plundering her holds for the oxygen they'd need to sustain them on a four-day journey back to earth, more than ever full of risks.

Sergeant's Trial Slated To Resume

SAIGON (AP) — The trial of a U.S. Army sergeant charged with killing a Vietnamese man resumed today after a three-month postponement. Newsmen were barred temporarily from the courtroom.

A military judge ruled that the opening stage of the trial of Sgt. Bruce A. Knerr, 20, of Toledo, Ohio, would be held in private to prevent public disclosure of some proposed evidence that might not be declared admissable.

Knerr, a squad leader in the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, is charged with unpremeditated murder in the death Sept. 12, 1969, of a man named Dang Nhanh in the village of My Loc in coastal Binh Dinh Province.

The trial began last Jan. 20 and was adjourned because of a disagreement over the charge against him. The defense argued and won a contention that the words "with premeditation" had been written into the charge after a trial for unpremeditated murder was scheduled.

Brewers Beaten; Bristol Accepts Blame For Loss

OAKLAND (AP)—It isn't often that a manager takes the blame for losing a baseball game, but Milwaukee's Dave Bristol was willing to do it Monday night.

"I tried to protect a victory for our starting pitcher and I ended up losing the game," he said after the Oakland Athletics nipped the Brewers 2-1.

Bristol brought in left-handed relief pitcher John O'Donoghue to pitch to Reggie Jackson in the seventh inning with runners on second and third.

Rather than walk Jackson to load the bases and set up a force play, Bristol had O'Donoghue pitch to Jackson. Reggie lined a single to centerfield to bring in two runs.

"I wanted the left-handed pitcher for Jackson," Bristol said. "There were two left-handed batters coming up and he got one of them out—the wrong one."

Manager John McNamara of Oakland wouldn't comment on the Milwaukee strategy.

"I have enough trouble worrying about my own team," he said.

McNamara also brought in a relief pitcher but it worked out perfectly. Diego Segui struck out four batters in the final two innings to save a victory for Jim Hunter.

Hunter allowed only two hits in seven innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. Tito Francona singled for Hunter moved to third on a single by Rick Monday, and eventually scored on Jackson's hit.

McNamara would have liked Hunter to pitch the entire game. "The game is played without emotion I don't care which pitcher gets the victory as long as we do," he said.

The A's victory was their first in four games and snapped a three-game winning streak for Milwaukee.

Dolphins Guilty Of Tampering

NEW YORK (AP) — In gaining a new coach, the Miami Dolphins have lost their No. 1 draft choice for 1971 to the Baltimore Colts.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, handed down that penalty Monday to the Dolphins when he found the club guilty of tampering in its successful effort to lure Don Shula away from the Colts.

Rozelle said his investigation uncovered that Miami had violated league rules on three counts.

They permitted a third party to approach Shula with an indication of possible terms, including part ownership; they began direct negotiations with Shula without informing the Colts of their interest until Feb. 18, the day Shula's hiring was announced.

Rozelle said neither Shula nor the Dolphins told the Colts of their negotiations until preliminary discussions had already begun.

When Shula requested permission to negotiate, Rozelle said, it was granted by the Baltimore management on Feb. 3. Rozelle said that NFL rules specifically require that a prospective employer make a direct phone call to the employer "for permission before any negotiating discussions took place."

Indiana Upset By Buccaneers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Buccaneers, although settled in last place in the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, came to life again Monday night with a 120-110 victory over Eastern Division champion Indiana.

Ron Frantz scored 24 points to pace the Bucs after four straight losses on the road.

The victory gave the Bucs a 41-42 season mark, which they hope to even out in Wednesday night's finale against Dallas, to be played in New Orleans.

Art Becker led Indiana with 25 points, while teammate Fred Lewis got 21.

Indiana led in three - point field goals 8-6. The total of 14 was a home court record.

New Orleans was in front 33-22 at the end of the first quarter and 61-50 at halftime. Indiana took a one-point lead three times in the third period, but the Bucs moved in front to stay at 87-85.

Jackie Moreland, a veteran Buccaneer forward, announced he would retire after the game with Dallas. The Bucs will honor Moreland at halftime.

Jimmy Jones, the Bucs' all-star guard, sat out the game because of his ailing knee. He plans to undergo surgery on a torn cartilage Friday.

Boston Patriots Head For Foxboro

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Boston Patriots, who were driven from that city for lack of a large enough stadium, will have a home in Foxboro, about midway between Boston and Providence.

More than 3,000 residents of Foxboro packed a special town meeting Monday to vote overwhelmingly in favor of a plan to build a 57,000-seat stadium.

The vote was 1,933 in favor, 84 opposed, on a show of hands.

Church Dartball Crowns Champion

Presbyterian No. 1 of the Delta Church Men's Dartball League, won first place in the annual tournament held at Christ the King Lutheran Church of Escanaba.

Presbyterian No. 1 defeated Memorial Methodist in the semi-finals, while First Methodist defeated Christ the King, to qualify for the finals.

In the title match, Presbyterian No. 1 defeated First Methodist to win the crown.

The annual banquet is scheduled for Saturday, April 18, at 6:30 p.m. at Christ the King Lutheran Church of Escanaba.

Duffy Cautious About Upcoming Grid Season

EAST LANSING (AP) — The bubbling over, optimistic Duffy Daugherty of one year ago was absent at Michigan State University's center, and a more restrained Spartan coach kicked off his spring football season with his first press luncheon.

While Daugherty could not predict a rise to the top for MSU, from 1969's ninth place Big Ten finish and 2-5 conference record, he did say his Spartans will "run and block hard and try to play good fundamental football."

"What we've got to change this year is in giving games away. In the last two years we've lost at least seven games when I honestly felt we had outplayed the other team."

Daugherty claimed the reason for Big Ten Co-Champion's success was because the Wolverines didn't beat themselves. Daugherty said that Indiana defensive coordinator Ernie Plank recently rated the Big Ten teams on a give away-take away basis, and that Michigan had accumulated a plus-26 rating while Ohio State had a -plus 11 and Purdue a plus 7. Michigan State ranked ninth with a minus eight rating.

"Our number one aim this season is to stop beating ourselves," Daugherty says.

Daugherty listed some 15 players who are out of spring practice or doubtful because of injuries. Among these are players who started or would have started last year, including halfback Tommy Love, tight-end Jim Nicholson, and quarterback Steve Piro. Tailback Earl Anderson may miss the early part of spring practice.

To counteract injuries in spring drills, which took a heavy toll of the Spartan squad in 1969, Daugherty plans 30 minutes of conditionaing drills before each practice. Many players have worked with Spartan trainees over the winter and have already taken a course in conditioning to prepare for spring practice.

"We've never taken time before in the spring, and maybe we've been wrong in this, but we'll take the time this year and work on conditioning for two reasons," Daugherty said. "First we want to rehabilitate some of our injured who are not up to par right now; and secondly we want to help prevent injuries in spring practice. We feel that this conditioning will help to keep a big rash of injuries down."

Daugherty said he has not really abandoned the triple option veer type offense, that caused such a stir last fall in East Lansing, but that he won't ceoncentrate on any one type of offensive pattern and will switch around.

It seems apparent that Daugherty will not be content to experiment with any one pattern such as the triple option as he did last year. His main signal caller will likely continue to be Bill Triplett, a junior last fall, switched to flanker after some lack luster performances and then had to come back to the quarterback spot after the second and third stringer, Steve Piro and Dan Werner, were injured.

Aaron's Home Run Lifts Braves Over Giants 9-3

By The Associated Press

Clyde King knows how to handle Hank Aaron in the future, but the enlightened manager had nothing to show for his new-found wisdom today.

Aaron, Atlanta's 36-year-old slugger, sent the Braves on the way to a 9-3 National League romp over King's San Francisco Giants Monday night with his 557th career home run—a towering, two-run wallop into the seldom-reached upper deck in Atlanta Stadium.

In other National League action, Los Angeles blanked Houston 2-0 on Don Sutton's two-hitter and San Diego ambushed Cincinnati 3-1 behind the solid relief pitching of Dave Roberts and Ron Herbel.

The Kansas City-Minnesota game, in the American League, was postponed because of snow at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Sonny Jackson was on second base with a leadoff double and first base was open when Aaron slammed his third homer of the young season to trigger a four-run first-inning burst that all but decided the Braves' home opener.

"The only way to pitch to him is walk him," King observed afterward. "I'm just kidding, of course. But you don't hit a home run as far as he did and be slowing up."

Hank Aaron

"I didn't know how far it was going," said Aaron. "I just knew it was going out of the ball park."

Aaron knocked in another run with a single and Tony Gonzalez delivered three more for the Braves with a single and triple.

Andy Kosco hit a sixth-inning homer and Sutton drove in a ninth inning insurance run with an infield hit before completing the Dodgers' second straight shutout victory. The Los Angeles right-hander limited the Astros to a second-inning double by Denis Menke and a sixth-inning single by Norm Miller, retiring the last 12 batters he faced.

Roberts replaced San Diego starter Al Santorini with the bases loaded in the seventh and pitched out of the jam to protect the Padres' two-run lead. Herbel rescued Roberts in the eighth, fanning Tony Perez and retiring Johnny Bench on a fly ball with runners on second and third.

Tommy Dean's homer and a two-run double by Clarence Gaston in the fourth provided the winning margin for Santorini, who yielded just one hit until the seventh.

Dan Bougie Boy's Pool Champion

Dan Bougie added the 1970 Intermediate Boy's Pool title to the Junior Boy's Championship he won last year by defeating Joe Meuhlhaus in the finals last night at the Civic Center. Dan had previously defeated Dave Pultz 2-1, Rory Mayra 2-0, and Jerry Robitaille 2-0 to advance to the title match.

Second place went to Joe Muehlhaus, who defeated Karl Carlson 2-1, Mike Cousineau 2-1, and Kari Hannula 2-1 before bowing to Bougie.

Jerry Robitaille took consolation honors by defeating Kari Hannula 2-1. Previously he had drawn a bye, defeated Scott McDonald 2-0, lost to Bougie 0-2, and then beat Hannula in the battle for third place.

Kari Hannula took fourth by defeating Tom Kangas 2-0, and Bob Benson 2-1, losing to Muehlhaus 1-2, and dropping the consolation round to Robitaille.

The pool tournaments continue tonight with the Junior Boy's matches getting under way at the Civic Center at 6:30 p.m.

Casper Tops Littler In Masters Playoff

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — Bill Casper tipped all his listeners. It was 50 minutes before the first Monday shot rang out Augusta National club's mammoth pines. The other side hadn't even put on its spiked shoes.

"Gene littler played better golf at age 19 than he does now," said Casper, the game's onetime fat boy. "Me? I get better with age."

Four holes after the two-man war began, Casper has proved his point. It was all but over. Buffalo Bill was ahead by four strokes and all a Littler did on the back nine was make it a bearable afternoon for late-tuning television customers.

Casper shot 69 and won his first Masters. He wore the famed coat of green. Littler had a 74 and wore short sleeves.

"Winning the U.S. Open is still the No. 1 accomplishment for me," admitted Casper, knowing well that proud, green-jacketed Augusta National members listened. "But this is a close second."

Casper won the Opens of 1959 and 1966, beating Arnold Palmer in a come-from-behind playoff in the latter. He was never won the PGA championship or the British Open. But has joined Palmer and Jack Nicklaus as golf's only golfing millionaires.

"A grand slam today is impossible--or next to it," said Casper. "It was something 20 or 30 years ago, but there are three times as many fine golfers now. The odds against it are astounding."

Casper will try anyway. He announced plans to play in the remainder of the Big Four, the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA.

Casper was a relaxed champion, looking as if he felt he belonged in that green coat—even though it was three sizes too big.

Bill Casper

"They must have measured it for me when I weighed 240," he said. "Hey, fellows, I'm skinnier now." Skinnier, yes, but the San Diego neighbor of Littler appears to have added back about 15 of the some 60 pounds he dropped on his famed diet a few years ago.

Despite playing Monday under sultry, 82-degree skies, Casper marched around the slopes of Augusta National in a thick sweater. "I like to keep my muscles warm," he said. "You won't catch me in short sleeves too often. I like being warm."

Casper said he seldom played defensive golf, the kind that may have cost him the 1969 Masters crown. He led for 54 holes but faded with a front nine 40 on Sunday and watched 6-foot-6 George Archer stride by to the title.

"I never three-putted a green, so that's about as well as I can stroke it," said the man who is known for his work with the blade. "My caddy, Mathew Palmer, was as important as anything to my victory. He is a master at reading the greens."

Mathew, who doffed his cap along with Casper to accept thunderous cheers at the 18th green, said he was thinking of changing his name from Palmer to Casper.

Casper was greeted by his wife, Shirley, and their son, little Billy. There are six other offspring back home in California, four of them adopted by the highly-religious Mormon family.

The Augusta National course was never supposed to be built for Casper's type of golf. It was popular to say it was best for the Palmers and Nicklauses. But Casper picked up a new, light-steel driver last week and it added more than 30 yards to his tee shots.

"I played a different golf course this week than I ever have before at Augusta National," he said. "I was hitting wedges where I once hit eight irons. It makes a new ball game."

Basketball Record Broken By Pacers

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Jay Miller's field goal with about 20 seconds to go broke the all-time professional basketball record as the Indiana Pacers obliterated the Pittsburgh Pipers 177-135, in an American Backetball Association game Sunday.

The victory by the Pacers, who have sewed up the title in the ABA's Eastern Division, eclipsed the old single game scoring record of 173 points set by the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association in February, 1959.

Former Marquette University star George Thompson scored 26 points for the losers.

WALLY MORIN of Garden, won the batting title again in the Gladstone Men's Dartball League, with a .571 average in the first half and a .604 average for the second half of the season. In the past two years of league play, Wally has an average of .599.

Atlanta Coach Promises Blood

ATLANTA (AP)—"There'll be a lot of blood spilt on that floor," said a tough-talking Atlanta Hawks Coach Richie Guerin, but National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy talked tougher—$1,000 worth.

Guerin called a press conference Monday afternoon to charge that officials deliberately protected Elgin Baylor and Jerry West Sunday afternoon as they helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 119-115 victory over the Hawks in the first game of Western Division final playoffs.

"If that's the way they're going to call the game, Baylor and West won't be around to shoot 18 or 20 fouls," Guerin said.

"It is inconceivable to me," said Kennedy, that any coach in any sport, even under the most severe emotional strain, would threaten "there will be a lot of blood spilled on that floor tomorrow night' and that 'certain players may not be around when the game is over'."

Kennedy then announced that he is fining Guerin $1,000 and holding Guerin personally responsible for the conduct of his Hawks in the second game of the best of seven series tonight in Atlanta and for the rest of the playoffs.

Guerin replied that he would appeal the fine and that his "players aren't going to be pushed around again, that's for sure."

Meanwhile, Lakers General Manager Fred Schaus refused to "dignify" Guerin's charges with a reply, but said he was going to request increased security at the coliseum in Atlanta tonight around the players bench and between the floor and the dressing room.

"You never know after a statement like that what some fan will do," Schaus said.

Alcindor Good; Knicks Better

NEW YORK (AP) — Willis Reed said he felt like "Lew Alcincor's kid brother" on the basketball court. Maybe . . . but he didn't play like his kid brother.

Reed took on Milwaukee's super rookie in a matchup of matchless centers and helped New York bounce the Bucks 112-111 Monday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The hard-earned victory propelled the Knicks into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division finals that move to Milwaukee for game No. 3 Friday night.

Los Angeles, holding a 1-0 lead in the Western fifnals, plays at Atlanta tonight.

After Reed and Alcindor played to a standoff, the 6-foot-10 New York center quipped: "Man, it must be great to be tall."

He alluded to Alcindor's height, listed as 7-1 in the programs. But on the court, the difference appears to be more than three inches.

"He's the toughest center to guard," said Reed of the Big A. "Right now, with (Wilt) Chamberlain hurting, I'd say Alcindor's No. 1 center in the NBA."

If Alcindor is No. 1, then what about Reed? All he did Monday night was score 36 points, wrestle 19 rebounds away from the Bucks and play his usual 110 per cent.

"I can't remember a game in which we played better," said Reed of his season-long wars with Alcincor. "Yes . . . this had to be one of the most satisfying games of my career."

Coach Red Holzman of New York, pointing to Alcindor's 38 points and 23 rebounds, agreed: "It's hard to imagine guys putting on a better performance . . . they did about everything you could ask of centers."

While the pair put on their eye-boggling show before 19,500 hysterical fans at Madison Square Garden, two reserves—Cazzie Russell and Mike Riordan—delivered the killing blow for New York.

Riordan, who had entered the game seconds earlier, plunked in a spectacular, reverse lay-up that gave the Knicks a 110-107 lead. And Russell, the hip-twisting forward, tossed in a key bucket and later two foul shots with 34 seconds to go that made it 112-109.

Girl Improves After Accident; Driver Dies

Kathy Fox, 18 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Fox, 123 N. 5th St., is improving from injuries received in an early Saturday morning automobile accident near Marquette, her parents said today.

Miss Fox is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital and is being treated of head injuries, facial lacerations, a fractured nose and a broken finger.

She was one of eight persons injured in a two car collision. She was sitting in the front seat of one of the cars, her mother said, and was pinned in the car after the crash.

Kathy, a freshman at Northern Michigan University, may be addressed at room 209 of the hospital.

Bryon David Nelson, 19, of Marquette, driver of the car in which Miss Fox was riding, died at St. Luke's Hospital shortly before midnight Monday. Four others remain hospitalized.

MANISTIQUE

Rose Elected Mayor Of City

Douglas Rose, 26, became Manistique's new mayor by unanimous vote of the City Council Monday night while former mayor Leo DeMars was elected mayor pro tem.

Rose tallied the highest number of votes in the April 6 election in which he and incumbent Thor Reque won four-year terms on the council.

Immediately after the gavel was passed, the new mayor extended thanks to the news media for their coverage of the election and all citizens who supported his candidacy.

Former 12-year Councilman Harold Carlson, who did not seek reelection, was in the audience for his "first look at how council looks from this side of the table."

City Manager Robert Noe said a report of a downtown building survey — conducted last week by two engineers from a Warren, Mich., firm as the first phase in the proposed urban renewal project — should be ready in four or five weeks. He also said soil test borings were taken last week on the armory site, but no report has been made as yet.

Reject Proposal

Council rejected a proposal from Eugene Fawcett of Munising who bid $36,000 for a yearly service contract to pick up garbage. Fawcett offered $2,500 for the city garbage truck. Noe pointed out that it costs the city about $20,000 annually to maintain garbage service.

Council tabled a U.S. Forest Service request for campground refuge dumping at the city dump since the city is uncertain how much refuse would be dumped and facilities are limited.

It had been proposed that the practice be approved on a one-year trial basis at a $500 fee.

The discussion on garbage ended with Noe's announcement that he has received several complaints that downtown business establishments are not using proper containers for their rubbish. Noe said he will notify the alleged offenders by letter that the city will not tolerate blowing garbage.

Bids Deferred

Council deferred acceptance on 12 bids for construction of a new Department of Public Works storage buildings and chip spreader until the next meeting. The Yacht Club's request for lease renewal for dock space at the harbor was approved for another year at a $1 fee. Also approved was purchase of 12 dozen flags for veteran's graves on Memorial Day after a request from the county All-Vets Committee.

County Equalization Director Harold Peters notified the council that his office would be doling some work in the city this year.

Wedegartner Quits Council

Councilman William Wedegartner Jr. is resigning effective May 1.

Wedegartner said Monday night he expects to be moving from the city since the business in which he has been associated with his father — The Manistique Floral Co. — has been sold.

Wedegartner has been on the council for two years and said he is resigning with regret since "I've enjoyed my time on the Council and working with my colleagues." Wedegartner's seat will be filled by an appointment from the Council. There was no indication if any candidates are being considered or when the appointment will be made.

Hiawatha Taxpayers To Challenge Board On Retirement Plan

A taxpayer's committee will petition the county allocation board to deny additional millage requested by their township board.

A spokesman for a Hiawatha Township citizens committee said the Hiawatha Township Board adopted a retirement plan for township officers at their annual meeting last week and plan to request an additional .68 mill from the allocation board. Last year, Hiawatha Township received .32 mills and the additional allocation would mean about $3,814 additional revenue for the township based on 1970 state equalized valuation.

Township boards legally may request up to one mill from the allocation board if need for the revenue is shown.

The taxpayers committee is questioning the right of the board to inaugurate a retirement plan. The benefits presumably would be paid on the basis of number of years served. Included would be the supervisor, clerk, treasurer, two trustees and cemetery custodian.

Hiawatha Supervisor Agner Dehlin said he had no knowledge of any taxpayers committee working to counter his board's request for additional millage.

The committee said it is generally dissatisfied with "lack of progress and improvements made in the past years." They cited need for lighting in certain residential areas around Indian Lake and resurfacing of certain roads.

A survey is being conducted in the township and "so far all of the citizens contacted feel they have not received value for dollars spent," the committee spokesman said.

Reportedly, the Hiawatha Board adopted a $27,000 budget for 1971.

The taxpayers committee met last Thursday night to discuss the township board's action and plan to petition the allocation board by letter once they have determined opinion in the township. The allocation board begins meeting next Monday night to consider allocation of 15 mills to local units of government.

The taxpayers committee said it also is considering a referendum for the August primary election on the question of support for a township officers pension plan.

Besides Supervisor Dehlin, the board is composed of Clerk Maynard Blanford; Treasurer Clarabelle Oberg ond Trustees Lawrence Aldrich and Nicholas Frankovich.

Obituary

MRS. J. JOSEPH HERBERT

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. from the St. Francis de Sales Church for Mrs. J. Joseph (Imogene) Herbert, 73, who died Friday afternoon in the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Msgr. F. M. Scheringer was celebrant of the Requiem Mass and was assisted by Father Arnold Grambow.

Music during the Mass was by the Children's Choir of St. Francis de Sales School under the direction of Sister Colleen.

Burial followed in the Fairview Cemetery under the direction of the Kefauver-Jackson Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Frank Hoholik, David Rood, Fred Hahne, Leonard Males, Charles Varnum and William Males.

Card of Thanks

Fraid

We wish to extend our thanks to friends, neighbors and relatives who have shown us many acts of kindness during the recent loss of our beloved husband and father, Roy Fraid. We especially wish to thank the Nurses on 2 South and 3 South at St. Francis Hospital, Drs. Olson and Gordon, Pastor Gerold Brady of the Bethel Free Church for his comforting words, the Ladies of the Missionary Society who served lunch, Skradski Funeral Home and those who sent cards and flowers and all who helped in any way. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

The Family Of
Roy Fraid

2 Youths Jailed After Car Theft

Two 16-year-old Manistique youths were arrested and jailed early Monday morning after they broke into the shop building of the Manistique High School and drove away in one of the driver training cars with some band instruments which were stored in the building in the back seat of the car.

Public Safety officers arrested the duo on W. Elk St. at 12:10 a.m. They were jailed on authority of Probate Judge John S. Faketty. Since no detention facility is available for juveniles who are charged with a crime which would be classified as a felony if they were older, under-age offenders are lodged in the Schoolcraft County Jail.

During a preliminary hearing before Judge Faketty Monday afternoon, both youths were charged with unlawful entry and the second boy with unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle.

One of the youths is being transferred to the jurisdiction of the Kent County Probate Court since his porents live in the Grand Rapids area; the court will discuss a possible change of custody with the Social Welfare Dept. for the other boy, Judge Faketty said.

Both youths were living in foster homes.

Two Delta County youths, 18-year-old Terry James Schweneman, Bark River, and 17-year-old Michael J. Thompson of Cornell, posted $50 bond and will appear in District Court Wednesday to answer charges of being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

The youths were arrested by city police at 11:15 Friday night and lodged in jail. They were driving an automobile on River St. at the time of their arrest.

Michigan State Police reported no injuries in a two-car collision which occurred at the junction of U.S. 2-Federal Highway 13 in Nahma Township at 3:45 Sunday afternoon. An auto driven by Charles W. Olsen of Gladstone pulled from the stop sign into the path of a car driven by Constance M. Quatsoe, Green Bay, who was travelling on U.S. 2. Olsen was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way and no registration proof, troopers said.

Briefly Told

Public Safety officers ticketed the following motorists for traffic offenses over the weekend: Clarence D. Salter, Detroit, non-stop; Frederick O. Jasmin, Rte. 1, speeding; Daniel J. Anderson, 220 Oak St., excessive noise and expired operator's license; and Catherine Ann Moffat, 235 Range St., excessive noise.

Michigan State Police cited Richard Skenandore, Chicago, and Jerry A. Terrian, Gulliver, both for speeding over the weekend.

The hot lunch menu for Wednesday in the Manistique Area Schools includes baked chicken, whipped sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, peanut butter, fruit and beverage.

Hospital

Discharged were Judith Osterhout, Mary LaTulip, Harriet Gentz, Dawn Russell, Robert Burton, George Dellis, Phyllis Putvin and Sonia Gehrett.

GETTING FLIP with the police seems in vogue in Chicago as this youth rolls the bluecoat right over his back. It happened at a confrontation of Contract Buyers League members and police at a site where 12 families were evicted. The league members have been withholding payments pending a rule on suit charging home buying contracts are unfair.

2,487 Michigan Traffic Deaths Rated Record

EAST LANSING (AP)— Michigan traffic deaths reached a record 2,487 in 1969, according to final State Police figures.

Some 175,400 persons were injured in 331,223 accidents, State Police said, adding all statistics set records.

The annual death rate climbed for the sixth straight year, the department said, exceeding 1968's total by 95 victims or four per cent.

In another development, meanwhile, a safety engineer told the public safety committee of the Michigan House that traffic deaths could be reduced by 30 per cent if stiffer laws on drunken driving are enacted.

Arthur Gibson, safety engineering manager of the Michigan Automobile Club, said the state should tighten its definition of drunk driving from 0.15 to 0.10 parts alcohol to blood.

Gibson also called for mandatory blood-alcohol tests of all victims of fatal accidents and at least breath tests of drivers who survive accidents in which others die.

State Police, in releasing final accident - driving statistics for 1969, said there were 4.56 million registered vehicles in the state and 5.1 million drivers. Total mileage driven was estimated as 50.9 billion miles, an increase of 5.9 per cent.

State Police said an estimated $500 million dollars were lost in all traffic accidents. They said that figure is an increase of 7.3 per cent over last year's combined loss of $465 million.

GM 'Racing Motor' To Stop Nader Plan

DETROIT (AP) — On government orders, General Motors Corp. has placed before its stockholders two proposals submitted by a group headed by consumer advocate and GM gadfly Ralph Nader.

But, in proxy statements sent to its 1,350,000 stockholders in preparation for a May 22 annual meeting, the firm's directors dismissed both the proposals and their sponsor and urged "no" votes.

Nader Singled Out

Nader was singled out by the company as the prime promoter of the proposed changes which were put forth by a group of seven individuals called The Project on Corporate Responsibility, Inc

The crusading attorney has said his role is merely as a counselor for the group, which owns 12 of GM's 285 million shares of stock.

The group is seeking support from large shareholders such as universities and municipalties.

The changes are embodied in two resolutions which stockholders will be asked to consider at the May meeting.

Obey SCC Ruling

GM at first refused to include the resolutions in the proxy but was ordered to do so by the Securities and Exchange Commission last month.

One of the proposals calls for the formation of a 15 - man "Committee for Corporate Responsibility", while the other seeks to enlarge GM's board to 26 directors, adding three representatives of "the public."

The resolution proposing the committee seeks to make GM accountable for past and present decisions affecting society in general and would give the committee access to the auto firm's files and records.

Against Proposal

In its proxy statement, GM charged that the proposal to increase the size of the board of directors would result in the election of three persons not on the basis of their interest in the success of the corporation but "rather on the basis of their sympathy with the special interests of the sponsors of the proposal."

Chairman James Roche and President Edward Cole said management was recommending a vote against both proposals because they "would restrict management's ability to meet its responsibilities to the stockholders and the public."

In criticizing the proposals GM contended that Nader had promoted them by press interview, television appearances and otherwise.

Campaigns Against GM

"For many years, he has been identified with various campaigns against General Motors and was a prominent participant in a demonstration against the corporation at the General Motors Building in New York in December 1969," the automaker said.

Nader's book, "Unsafe at Any Speed," attacked the safety of GM's Corvair and helped set in motion government action to impose auto safety standards.

Nader later filed a multimillion dollar lawsuit charging that GM hired detectives to trail and harass him after the book was published. The suit is still pending.

Plan Rapped

GM said that while creation of the proposed committee is "purportedly investigatory" it is "structured for harassment and publicity."

As for adding three directors, the company said there was no valid reason for such a move.

"Any suggestion that General Motors Corporation has been deficient in considering the interest of the public in such matters as auto safety, pollution, mass transportation and the like is entirely contrary to fact," the proxy statement said.

To back up its argument, the company enclosed a booklet with each proxy detailing what it said was its "record of progress" in the fields of safety, smog, mass transit, plant safety and social welfare.

Salaries Lower

The corporate proxy statement also disclosed that GM's top officers and directors received slightly less in individual salaries and bonuses last year than in 1968.

Total allocations, however, were higher.

Six of the company's executives received earnings of more than $600,000 each. A total of $18,165,586 was distributed among 67 executives, compared with $17,739,500 for the previous year, which was split among 63.

Topping the list was Roche, the board chairman, whose salaries and bonuses added up to $789,943, down slightly from the $794,934 he made in 1968.

Cole was paid $702,247 in salary, bonus and credits, compared with $717,940 the previous year.

Ask Housewives' Help In Battle Against Pollution

EAST LANSING (AP) — You, Mrs. Housewife, can help cut pollution, says a Michigan State graduate student.

You can refuse to buy items that come in containers which do not easily decompose, rust or otherwise break down.

You can take your own shopping bag to the market with you to save on paper bags.

You can refuse to buy the products of manufacturers who are "major polluters and who are doing little or nothing about it."

So contends Malcolm Taylor, a graduate student active in one of Michigan State University's Environmental Act Organizations—E-Qual.

"One of the key words in the environmental crisis is "consumption," the amounts and kinds of material we use and eventually dispose of," Taylor says.

"Each day in this country we discard over one billion pounds of solid wastes," he says. "That amounts to a ton per year for every man, woman and child.

"The consumer — housewife, shopkeeper, plant foreman or school teacher—can do much to alleviate the problems this waste is causing."

Fear Extinction

HONOLULU (AP) — More than half the 85 species of animal and bird life in danger of extinction are found only in Hawaii, says George Du Bois of the Hawaii Wildlife Federation.

Du Bois said one threatened island species is the Hawaiian hawk, which now lays eggs so full of accumulated pesticides they no longer hatch.

He estimates the bird will be extinct within a decade.
